Witness Declares Boston Night Club Overcrowded; Official Death List 449

Survivor Gives His Version of Tragedy Before Board on Inquest

Funerals Are Held

Boston and Worcester Become Cities of Burials

Boston, Dec. 1 (AP)—A sworn witness before a board of inquest testified today that Boston's Cocoanut Grove night club was packed—overcrowded — when a flash fire that took an officially estimated toll of 449 lives raced like lightning through ceiling draperies that "looked like gauze."

The inquest board, which earlier heard official testimony that fire prevention conditions in the club were "good," called Maurice Levy of Boston as the first of a dozen witnesses after first examining police photographs of the shambles on the scene, including a locked exit door.

Unshaven and haggard, Levy said he had lost his wife in the blaze that started from a match flame almost within reach of his table in the basement drinking lounge of the club.

"The fire (in the ceiling draperies) was 10 feet behind us when my wife and I started for the nearby stairs," Levy said. "When we reached the stairs it was 10 feet in front of us.

"A revolving door leading to the street was on my right when we came up the stairs. But the crowd seemed to be pushing to the left, toward the main ballroom. I saw a woman running around, screaming, her hair burned. I managed to get through the revolving door."

While Levy talked, Boston became a city of funerals. Eleven were held yesterday; around 30 today and scores more were arranged for tomorrow. In the nearby city of Worcester alone, a score of funerals were set for today and tomorrow.

The Boston committee on public safety announced the new death toll figure, decreasing its previous total of 484, after checking and rechecking the list of dead it has built up since the tragedy. The committee said all but five of the victims had been identified—four women and one man—and at the same time placed the number of injured at 172.

Inspector Lieutenant Frank J. Linney told an inquest yesterday of visiting the club November 20.

He testified that he had removed parts of artificial palm trees decorating the club and "struck a match to them."

"You were of the opinion they were not inflammable?" Fire Commissioner William Arthur Reilly asked the stocky inspector.

"They were treated, I'll say, treated by my satisfaction," Linney replied. He added that there were "a sufficient number of exits."

"Do you still feel in the light of what has happened that the condition of the Cocoanut Grove premises was good on November 20?" Reilly asked.

"Positively," said Linney.

Other witnesses testified to the speed with which the flames raced from one end of the club to the other, and some testified that four of the six exits were locked.

John J. Walsh, Boston civilian defense public safety director, said he was sitting with a party "about midway in the building" when the fire broke out.

"How much time elapsed before the flames were all over the building?" he was asked.

"Not over a minute or a minute and a half," declared Walsh.

Walsh said he and other men forced open a door to escape.

John W. Bradley, a bartender, said his first intimation of the fire came when he saw an artificial palm tree ablaze in the downstairs Melody Lounge.

"I pulled it down and hollered for water and tried to put water on it but it was too late; the whole ceiling was ablaze," he related.

Bradley, his head swathed in bandages, said he threw three pans of water on the fire "but the more you threw on the worse it got."

While the inquest went forward, Attorney General Robert T. Bushnell met today with State Fire Marshal Stephen C. Garrity, Suffolk county District Attorney William J. Foley, prosecuting assistants and a state police representative, for the purpose of bringing the various inquiries into the disaster into a single, unified investigation in which there would be no overlapping.

French Diplomat Tells Of Close Vote by Cabinet Against War on Allies

Laval Went to Munich, Found Ribbentrop Undecided; Hitler Gave Order

(By The Associated Press)

Pierre Laval's Vichy cabinet came within two votes of declaring war on the Allies after American troops landed in North Africa, it became known today as the melancholy story of Vichy's trials in the German occupation of all France trickled out of Europe. The vote was 8 to 6.

The story came from a French diplomat who remained in the active service of the Vichy regime until last Friday when the Germans attacked Toulon and the French home fleet—save for four submarines so far accounted for—went to the bottom of the harbor in deliberate mass suicide rather than serve the Germans.

Two submarines — the Casablanca and the Marsouin—have arrived at Algiers; another, Le Glorieux, was reported en route there and a fourth, the Iris, was held at Barcelona where her crew is interned.

The French diplomat, now somewhere in Europe, said Laval went to Munich after the Allied occupation of North Africa and found Joachim von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister, greatly perturbed by the turn of events and undecided about the proper course to follow.

The Italians were anxious to move into France and occupy Nice and the island of Corsica immediately, the diplomat said, but Ribbentrop was worried about the temper of the French people.

In the midst of these deliberations Adolf Hitler, apparently undisturbed about the reaction of the French people, bluntly ordered the occupation of all of France except Toulon and sent his personal letter to Marshal Petain, telling him why.

Petain protested immediately and the Vichy cabinet went into a 48-hour session on a German request that Vichy declare war against the Allies and join her old enemies, Germany and Italy. The proposal finally was rejected by a vote of 8 to 6.

The diplomat said the present trend among the arch collaborationists in Paris seemed to incline toward the formation of a Quisling government to force France into war against the Allies with or without the collaboration of Marshal Petain.

From French naval sources at Barcelona, it was learned that Admiral Jean De La Borde, commander of the home fleet, gave the order to scuttle after making preparations for the act months before. He personally inspected the

Roosevelt to Ask Income Be Added To Salary Limit

Inclusion of Investment Income Is Considered; F. D. R. Sticks to His Measure

By JACK BELL

Washington, Dec. 1 (AP)—President Roosevelt plans to ask the new Congress to extend the $25,000 net salary limitation to investment income, beginning in 1943.

An informed official who could not be quoted by name said today the President believed that all types of earnings should be limited for the duration but had omitted investment income from his executive order because he was informed the wage stabilization act gave him no authority in that field.

As put into effect by James F. Byrnes, economic director, the executive limitation bans the payment by any company or the receipt by any individual of a gross yearly salary of more than $67,200. After deductions for insurance, debt and federal tax payments, this is calculated to leave $25,000 net.

There was no comparable limitation, however, on the income received from investments and this was one of the points made by Chairman George (D.-Ga.) of the Senate finance committee in assailing the order as "unwise and unnecessary."

Despite this and other criticisms in Congress, the President was represented as being determined to force reductions in the higher income brackets, a move long demanded by the Congress of industrial organizations.

He was expected to recommend that the problem be handled through taxation in the next revenue bill, thus bringing the whole question squarely before Congress.

Senator Vandenberg (R.-Mich.) told reporters he was confident that if the President followed this course he would run into strong congressional opposition.

It appeared meanwhile that enforcement of the salary order was likely to be centered for practical purposes on curbing the payment of more than $67,200 gross, rather than on efforts to make the $25,000 ceiling effective in all cases.

Those in a position to know said it might be possible for some individuals, particularly those with larger than average deductions for dependents, to retain $27,000 or even more. They indicated that

Purchase and Mail Now

The large variety of useful merchandise and the values offered in the advertisements appearing in this issue of The Freeman reveals the progressive and cooperative spirit of Kingston merchants. A careful reading of this Christmas shopping guide gives shoppers an idea of how well prepared are these merchants to supply your needs.

This is a time when all of us are economy minded and the early well informed shopper will have the choice of these articles to select from before the stocks are depleted. Because of war conditions special plans for the holiday shopping were begun sometime ago by the local merchants and their foresight is evidenced in their ability to meet your demands for useful articles.

The merchants are waiting hopefully for the customers to do their Christmas shopping early. They have done their part and now it is up to the shoppers. By shopping early and carrying your packages this year, you too can display a genuine spirit of cooperation. With supplies limited together with the scarcity of experienced help and the conservation of trucks, there never was a time when shoppers had more to gain than now by early shopping.

If thousands of our men and women in the fighting forces and also our civilian friends are not to be disappointed at Christmas time, the public must cooperate by mailing earlier than ever before. Facilities of railroads and air lines are heavily taxed by movements of huge quantities of war materials and personnel. Extra trucks are almost impossible to obtain and manpower is hard to secure. About 25,000 experienced postal workers have been taken by the war services.

It is a patriotic duty to do your necessary Christmas shopping and mailing early.

And don't forget to add a few war stamps with each gift.

St. Mary's School Remembers Officer

Motorcycle Officer Elbert L. Soper today is celebrating the 25th anniversary of his becoming a member of the Kingston police department on December 1, 1917, and while working as usual on traffic duty on Broadway at McEntee street he was agreeably surprised.

While directing traffic he observed Monsignor Martin J. Drury and all of the pupils of St. Mary's Parochial School approaching his traffic post. Suddenly the procession halted and Monsignor Drury on behalf of the children presented the police officer with a box of cigars.

The gift was in recognition of the officer's courtesy and efficient work while on traffic duty on that post.

As the gift was presented the group of children burst into song, singing "Happy Anniversary to You."

The presentation of the gift was so unexpected that all Officer Soper could say in reply was, "Many thanks."

President Would Get Powers Over Nation's Tariffs

House Subcommittee Gives Approval, Agrees to Place Modified Bill in Committee

Washington, Dec. 1 (AP)—A House ways and means subcommittee agreed unanimously today to place before the full committee a new, modified war powers bill, granting President Roosevelt discretionary authority to suspend tariff laws and regulations.

The measure, as now drafted, differs in only one important feature from that previously sent to the full committee, where action was delayed until the White House pressed for action this year.

The chief difference was the elimination, voted yesterday, of the authority requested by the President to suspend also immigration regulations and restrictions when he found such a step necessary to prosecution of the war.

The fear among some lawmakers that the tariff powers could be used to bring competing commodities into this country duty-free was disclosed by the release of testimony presented last week before an executive session of the full committee.

The transcript showed that Rep. Carlson (R., Kan.) pressed Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, war shipping administrator, and Oscar B. Ryder, chairman of the United States Tariff Commission, on just how broadly the tariff section could be interpreted.

Carlson referred to the possibility that American ships carrying supplies abroad "might well bring back articles that are competitive with articles produced here."

"We cannot bring in anything that is not known as a strategic war material" under the powers requested by the President, Land replied.

"You could bring in loads of meat from South America, you could bring in meat from Argentina," said Carlson. "I am not saying you would, but you could; is that not true?"

"The possibilities exist," Land acknowledged, "but the actualities do not."

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Dec. 1 (AP)—The position of the treasury November 28: Receipts $17,375,532.22. Expenditures $191,272,967.62. Net balance $2,908,252,125.64. Working balance included $2,145,722,568.64. Customs receipts for month $21,348,072.70. Receipts fiscal year (July 1) $5,018,979,391.62. Expenditures fiscal year $28,293,082,180.58. Excess of expenditures $23,274,102,788.96. Total debt $99,932,589,166.25. Increase over previous day $285,683,715.32. Gold assets $22,742,574,774.72.

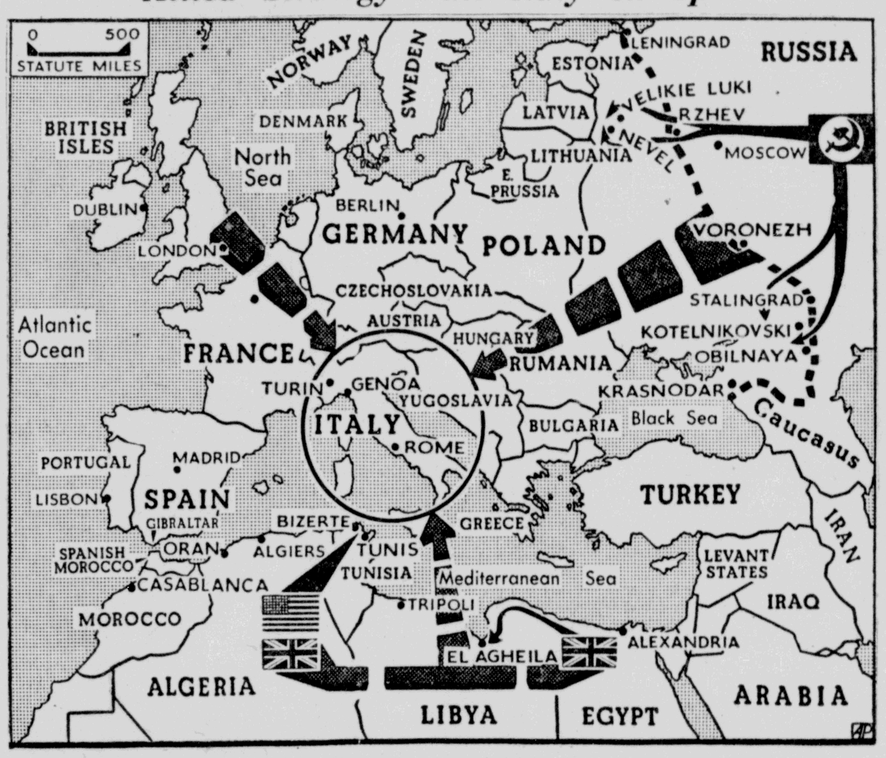

Deductions to Come

Washington, Dec. 1 (AP)—Stressing a need for meeting war crop goals, the Agriculture Department announced today that farmers who fail to achieve their production allotments next year will be penalized by stiff deductions from their federal crop subsides. The department explained 1943 agricultural adjustment agency payments would be designed to help get full production of the kind of crops needed and all crop payments would be contingent on the degree to which a farmer meets his goal.

American, Anglo Troops Meet Germans in Tank Battle in Tunisia; Wedge Is Deepened

Allied Strategy Puts Italy on Spot

Allied drives by air and land in North Africa, Russia and by the R. A. F. from England, coupled with Prime Minister Churchill's warning to the Italian people points up the apparent No. 1 objective in Allied strategy—to knock Italy out of the war. British air attacks on Italian cities, notably Turin, are expected to continue while North Africa, where the western prong of the Allied pincers has wedged between the Axis Tunisian strongholds of Tunis and Bizerte and the British Eighth Army's eastern prong is advancing in Libya, eventually will become a "springboard" into Southern Europe. Russia's two sweeping offensives also will help put Italy as well as Germany on the spot.

American-French Force Cuts Toward City Above Defense Line Along Coast

Rommel Digs In

Nazis Entrench After Long Retreat From El Alamein

By ROGER D. GREENE
(Associated Press War Editor)

Tank-led American and British troops were reported locked in heavy battle with the Germans in Tunisia today, striking to cut the last highway link between Axis-held Tunis and Bizerte as the campaign for the key North African cities neared a showdown.

Allied headquarters in North Africa said that British and American forces had deepened their wedge toward the highway and that U. S. Army and French troops had gained in a thrust to block the Axis "escape corridor" to Tripoli.

Other reports said Italian troops were guarding the coastal line of retreat between Sfax and Gabes, south of Tunis, but the American-French contingent was apparently cutting in above the Fascists.

Fighting French headquarters said French troops had entered Pont Du Fahs, a highway and rail center 30 miles south of Tunis.

French mobilization in North Africa was proceeding with great rapidity under the pro-Allied Gen. Henri Giraud, newspapers declared.

An Italian communique said that plane-supported Axis armored troops "resisted" British and American columns "on the move" in Tunisia, but again did not mention the growing threat to Tunis and Bizerte.

A United Nations headquarters spokesman, while cautioning that much bitter fighting was still expected, said the ever-growing Allied forces were throwing more planes into the battle hour by hour and beating down the German air force.

Countering Berlin assertions that the Nazi had won aerial superiority, the spokesman said the Axis was definitely on the downgrade in the North African skies.

A Berlin broadcast reported without confirmation that the Allies were already shelling the big naval base at Bizerte.

Allied tanks, artillery and motorized infantry were reported only a few miles west of the vital Nazi-defended coastal road between the two cities, while British parachute troops captured an airfield in the Tunis region without opposition.

Dispatches indicated that the Allies were probably less than 10 miles from Tunis, driving from the rail junction town of Djedeida, 12 miles northwest of the capital.

A broadcast from American-occupied Morocco, quoting a French headquarters communique, said pro-allied French troops had consolidated their positions between Djedeida and Pont Du Fahs, a town 30 miles southwest of Tunis.

At the same time, quickening activity was reported on the east flank of the giant allied "squeeze" operation, indicating that Britain's victorious 8th army was preparing for a climactic assault on Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces in Libya.

Breaking a four-day sequence of announcing "nothing to report," British Middle East Hearquarters said today:

"Yesterday our patrols were active in the neighborhood of El Agheila."

Rommel's battered Africa corps, now rested and reinforced after a disastrous 700-mile retreat across the desert from El Alamein, Egypt, was reported strongly entrenched in the narrow El Agheila corridor between quicksands and the sea.

Tempestuous Allies bombing assaults fell on the Axis on both sides of the Mediterranean as United Nations airmen again blasted the docks at Bizerte last night and pounded the coast of Sicily.

Italian headquarters acknowledged only slight damage to Palermo, Gela and Trapani, in Sicily, which serve as Axis air and supply bases for the battle of North Africa.

Huge Tank Battle

In the Russian war threatre, dispatches from Berlin quoted a German military spokesman as saying that "the greatest tank battle of the war" was raging on the central (Moscow) front, while official Soviet figures listed a staggering total of 157,000 Nazis killed or captured in the twin Stalingrad-Moscow offensives.

A Moscow broadcast said Adolf Hitler had ordered German divisions on the central front not to retreat "under any circumstances" and declared Nazi machine-gun

Nazis Pound Away At Stanlingrad in Hopeless Battle

Troops Still Fight, Apparently to Uphold Fuehrer's Prestige; Salient Is Broken

(This column, conducted as a daily feature by DeWitt Mackenzie, is written today by Glenn Babb. Mr. Mackenzie, now traveling in the Middle East war zone, is expected to resume in a day or two).

This is the 99th day of the battle of Stalingrad, the epic chapter of this war corresponding to that of Verdun in the last. It is difficult to call it the siege of Stalingrad any longer; or, if it is a siege, to identify the beleaguered army. The peril to the Nazi divisions which invested the city last August 25 now appears as great as the peril to Stalingrad itself in its darkest hour.

Nevertheless Stalingrad's streets and suburbs still are a battlefield. Only last night, the Moscow communique records, the Germans made many attacks in the southern outskirts. From a purely tactical point of view it is difficult to see why the Nazis cling so tenaciously to their slipping fingerholds around the city. The attacks may, of course, be efforts to escape but there still are indications that the German command will not admit that the siege of Stalingrad is ended in ignominious, costly failure.

Prestige seems to be the determining factor. Hitler's own boasts certainly are involved and probably Hitler's own intuitive military decisions. The British are stressing this point and rubbing it like salt into the wound. The German general staff, a British military authority says, never would have set the stage for the Stalingrad disaster if it had been free to make its own decisions. That long salient stretched vulnerably to the Volga has been for weeks a shouted invitation to the counteroffensive which Stalin delivered a fortnight ago. But Hitler, cherishing the myth of his own infallibility, seems to have been incapable of ordering the obvious tactical dispositions. Had he not, in his sportspalast speech of two months ago, told his people and his enemies that "you may rest assured that no human being will be able to oust us from there," meaning Stalingrad?

Outlines Objectives

In that speech Hitler, confident that he was showing his hand with the game already won, outlined the objectives of his 1942 campaign in Russia. It is safe to assume that he understated them. But by the fuehrer's modest statement they were: To take the last big wheat districts of the Ukraine; to take the last coal deposits; to get as near as possible to the Russian oil deposits, take them if possible, at least cut them off;

Ulster Rent Rates Drop Back to March Level

Dutchess, Orange Also Affected by Ruling of O. P. A.; Office Is Opened

Residential rents in Ulster, Dutchess and Orange counties went back today to what they were on March 1, 1942, under O.P.A. maximum rent regulations effective December 1 in the Poughkeepsie, New York, Defense-Rental Area.

"Unless the dwelling unit in which a tenant lives was built or substantially altered by a major change since March 1, 1942, the general rule for the tenant to follow in paying today's rent bill is—Do not pay more than the rent paid on March 1, 1942," according to George Chelius, regional field representative, who is in Poughkeepsie to assist in setting up an O.P.A. Area Rent Office.

"In other words," Mr. Chelius said, "if no major change materially altering the character of the living quarters has been made since March 1, the tenant pays only the amount of rent paid on March 1. The tenant does not have to get permission from his landlord to make this adjustment; the adjustment is automatic.

"In the event there has been a major change since March 1, 1942, the tenant pays the first rent charged after the alterations were completed."

Mr. Chelius said that ordinary repairs and upkeep do not constitute a major improvement.

Mr. Chelius opened the Poughkeepsie rent office this morning (Tuesday) at 331 Mill street. Lat-

Salvage Committee Releases Report

City's Salvage Campaign Netted 1,453 Tons, Gross of $1,683

The salvage drive in Kingston opened officially on September 1 with George Goodfellow, former secretary of the Y. M. C. A., as general chairman and Mrs. Edward McCaffrey and Raymond Rignall as assistants.

The first city-wide salvage day was held on September 12 and was such a success that an additional day was necessary to finish collecting the scrap.

Upon George Goodfellow's induction into the armed forces, Raymond Rignall was appointed chairman with Mrs. McCaffrey as co-chairman. It was decided to conduct the drive with the city wards as collection units. The air raid wardens took charge of the publicity for each ward, delivering a mimeographed sheet of instructions to each householder in their posts. Scrap was collected in two wards each Saturday by the trucks of the Department of Public Works, their drivers being assisted by local men and boys. This drive opened October 10 and continued through November 21.

From householders: 228 loads of scrap; netted 262 tons or 524,000 lbs.; 18.71 lbs. per capita.

U. S. Submarine Takes Heavy Toll Of Japs; Close Enough to See Race Track

By WALTER CLAUSEN

Pearl Harbor, Dec. 1 (AP)—A United States submarine that stalked its pray so close to the Japanese coastline that its crew could watch the pony races at a big city track sank eight enemy cargo ships and damaged four others.

The ships sunk totalled 70,000 tons and the four damaged aggregated 20,000 to 25,000 tons. Much of the action took place in full view of large Japanese cities. The dates were not given.

The story of the submarine's successful venture into enemy waters were told here by Lieut. Commander Thomas Burton Klakring, 37, of San Mateo, Calif. He is to receive the navy cross from Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet.

A loud speaker system gave the sub's crew a running account of each action and the men were given the chance to line up and look through the periscope as some of the vessels went down.

It was not all easy pickings, however, for enemy planes dropped depth charges about them and they were fired on by escort vessels.

"Our biggest day," said Klakring, "was the day we sank four big ships in one hour. The enemy convoy force was nine or ten ships —six big cargo ships and three or four combat escorts.

We fired at two ships and saw both of them go down. Our range was between 500 and 1,000 yards. We were lucky to hit both ships. The other four scattered in all directions while the escort came after us.

I let all members of the crew line up and look through the periscope to see the two vessels go down. We then chased two of the remaining four ships into a harbor.

By shopping early and carrying your packages this year, you too can display a genuine spirit of cooperation. With supplies limited together with the scarcity of experienced help and the conservation of trucks, there never was a time when shoppers had more to gain than now by early shopping.

If thousands of our men and women in the fighting forces and also our civilian friends are not to be disappointed at Christmas time, the public must cooperate by mailing earlier than ever before. Facilities of railroads and air lines are heavily taxed by movements of huge quantities of war materials and personnel. Extra trucks are almost impossible to obtain and manpower is hard to secure. About 25,000 experienced postal workers have been taken by the war services.

It is a patriotic duty to do your necessary Christmas shopping and mailing early.

And don't forget to add a few war stamps with each gift.

St. Mary's School Remembers Officer

Motorcycle Officer Elbert L. Soper today is celebrating the 25th anniversary of his becoming a member of the Kingston police department on December 1, 1917, and while working as usual on traffic duty on Broadway at McEntee street he was agreeably surprised.

While directing traffic he observed Monsignor Martin J. Drury and all of the pupils of St. Mary's Parochial School approaching his traffic post. Suddenly the procession halted and Monsignor Drury on behalf of the children presented the police officer with a box of cigars.

The gift was in recognition of the officer's courtesy and efficient work while on traffic duty on that post.

As the gift was presented the group of children burst into song, singing, "Happy Anniversary to You."

The presentation of the gift was so unexpected that all Officer Soper could say in reply was, "Many thanks."

President Would Get Powers Over Nation's Tariffs

House Subcommittee Gives Approval, Agrees to Place Modified Bill in Committee

Washington, Dec. 1 (AP)—A House ways and means subcommittee agreed unanimously today to place before the full committee a new, modified war powers bill, granting President Roosevelt discretionary authority to suspend tariff laws and regulations.

The measure, as now drafted, differs in only one important feature from that previously sent to the full committee, where action was delayed until the White House pressed for action this year.

The chief difference was the elimination, voted yesterday, of the authority requested by the President to suspend also immigration regulations and restrictions when he found such a step necessary to prosecution of the war.

The fear among some lawmakers that the tariff powers could be used to bring competing commodities into this country duty-free was disclosed by the release of testimony presented last week before an executive session of the full committee.

The transcript showed that Rep. Carlson (R., Kan.) pressed Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, war shipping administrator, and Oscar B. Ryder, chairman of the United States Tariff Commission, on just how broadly the tariff section could be interpreted.

Carlson referred to the possibility that American ships carrying supplies abroad "might well bring back articles that are competitive with articles produced here."

"We cannot bring in anything that is not known as a strategic war material" under the powers requested by the President, Land replied.

"You could bring in loads of meat from South America, you could bring in meat from Argentina," said Carlson. "I am not saying you would, but you could; is that not true?"

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Dec. 1 (AP)—The position of the treasury November 28: Receipts $17,375,532.22. Expenditures $191,272,967.62. Net balance $2,908,252,125.64. Working balance included $2,145,722,568.64. Customs receipts for month $21,348,072.70. Receipts fiscal year (July 1) $5,018,979,391.62. Expenditures fiscal year $25,293,082,180.58. Excess of expenditures $23,274,102,788.96. Total debt $99,932,589,166.25. Increase over previous day $285,683,715.32. Gold assets $22,742,574,774.72.

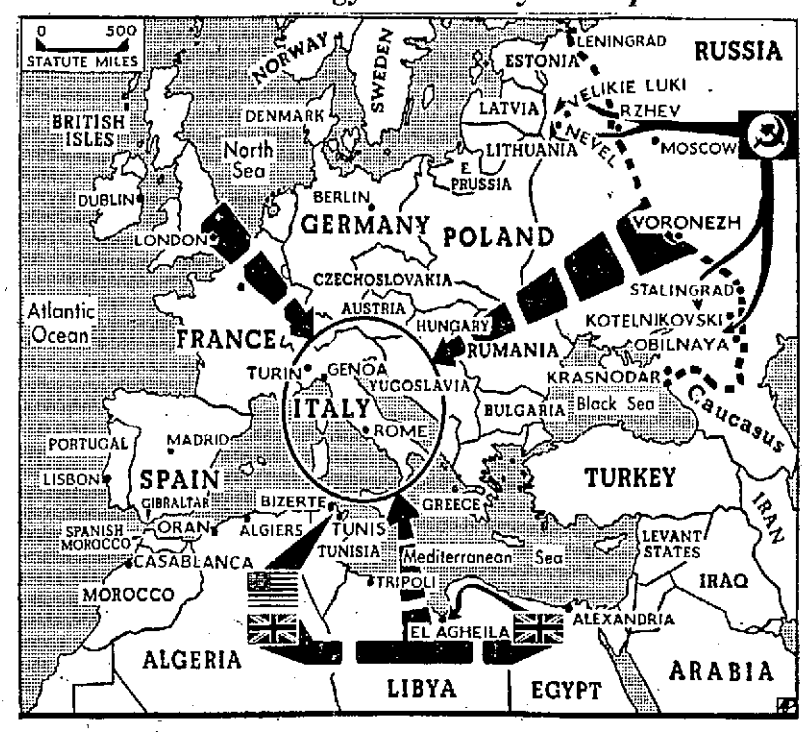

Deductions to Come

Washington, Dec. 1 (AP)—Stressing a need for meeting war crop goals, the Agriculture Department announced today that farmers who fail to achieve their production allotments next year will be penalized by stiff deductions from their federal crop subsidies. The department explained 1943 agricultural adjustment agency payments would be designed to help get full production of the kind of crops needed and all crop payments would be contingent on the degree to which a farmer meets his goal.

American, Anglo Troops Meet Germans in Tank Battle in Tunisia; Wedge Is Deepened

Allied Strategy Puts Italy on Spot

Allied drives by air and land in North Africa, Russia and by the R. A. F. from England, coupled with Prime Minister Churchill's warning to the Italian people points up the apparent No. 1 objective in Allied strategy—to knock Italy out of the war. British air attacks on Italian cities, notably Turin, are expected to continue while North Africa, where the western prong of the Allied pincers has wedged between the Axis Tunisian strongholds of Tunis and Bizerte and the British Eighth Army's eastern prong is advancing in Libya, eventually will become a "springboard" into Southern Europe. Russia's two sweeping offensives also will help put Italy as well as Germany on the spot.

Nazis Pound Away At Stalingrad in Hopeless Battle

Troops Still Fight, Apparently to Uphold Fuehrer's Prestige; Salient Is Broken

(This column, conducted as a daily feature by DeWitt Mackenzie, is written today by Glenn Babb. Mr. MacKenzie, now traveling in the Middle East war zone, is expected to resume in a day or two).

This is the 99th day of the battle of Stalingrad, the epic chapter of this war corresponding to that of Verdun in the last. It is difficult to call it the siege of Stalingrad any longer; or, if it is a siege, to identify the beleaguered army. The peril to the Nazi divisions which invested the city last August 25 now appears as great as the peril to Stalingrad itself in its darkest hour.

Nevertheless Stalingrad's streets and suburbs still are a battlefield. Only last night, the Moscow communiqué records, the Germans made many attacks in the southern outskirts. From a purely tactical point of view it is difficult to see why the Nazis cling so tenaciously to their slipping fingerholds around the city. The attacks may, of course, be efforts to escape but there still are indications that the German command will not admit that the siege of Stalingrad is ended in ignominious, costly failure.

Prestige seems to be the determining factor. Hitler's own boasts certainly are involved and probably Hitler's own intuitive military decisions. The British are stressing this point and rubbing it like salt into the wound. The German general staff, a British military authority says, never would have set the stage for the Stalingrad disaster if it had been free to make its own decisions. That long salient stretched vulnerably to the Volga has been for weeks a shouted invitation to the counteroffensive which Stalin delivered a fortnight ago. But Hitler, cherishing the myth of his own infallibility, seems to have been incapable of ordering the obvious tactical dispositions. Had he not, in his sportspalast speech of two months ago, told his people and his enemies that "you may rest assured that no human being will be able to oust us from there," meaning Stalingrad?

Outlines Objectives

In that speech Hitler, confident that he was showing his hand with the game already won, outlined the objectives of his 1942 campaign in Russia. It is safe to assume that he understated them. But by the fuehrer's modest statement they were: To take the last big wheat districts of the Ukraine; to take the last coal deposits; to get as near as possible to the Russian oil deposits, take them if possible, at least cut them off;

Ulster Rent Rates Drop Back to March Level

Dutchess, Orange Also Affected by Ruling of O. P. A.; Office Is Opened

Residential rents in Ulster, Dutchess and Orange counties went back today to what they were on March 1, 1942, under O.P.A. maximum rent regulations effective December 1 in the Poughkeepsie, New York, Defense-Rental Area.

"Unless the dwelling unit in which a tenant lives was built or substantially altered by a major change since March 1, 1942, the general rule for the tenant to follow in paying today's rent bill is—Do not pay more than the rent paid on March 1, 1942," according to George Chelius, regional field representative, who is in Poughkeepsie to assist in setting up an O.P.A. Area Rent Office.

"In other words," Mr. Chelius said, "if no major change materially altering the character of the living quarters has been made since March 1, the tenant pays only the amount of rent paid on March 1. The tenant does not have to get permission from his landlord to make this adjustment; the adjustment is automatic.

"In the event there has been a major change since March 1, 1942, the tenant pays the first rent charged after the alterations were completed."

Mr. Chelius said that ordinary repairs and upkeep do not constitute a major improvement.

Mr. Chelius opened the Poughkeepsie rent office this morning (Tuesday) at 331 Mill street. Lat-

Salvage Committee Releases Report

City's Salvage Campaign Netted 1,453 Tons, Gross of $1,683

The salvage drive in Kingston opened officially on September 1 with George Goodfellow, former secretary of the Y. M. C. A., as general chairman and Mrs. Edward McCaffrey and Raymond Rignall as assistants.

The first city-wide salvage day was held on September 12 and was such a success that an additional day was necessary to finish collecting the scrap.

Upon George Goodfellow's induction into the armed forces, Raymond Rignall was appointed chairman with Mrs. McCaffrey as co-chairman. It was decided to conduct the drive with the city wards as collection units. The air raid wardens took charge of the publicity for each ward, delivering a mimeographed sheet of instructions to each householder in their posts. Scrap was collected in two wards each Saturday by the trucks of the Department of Public Works, their drivers being assisted by local men and boys. This drive opened October 10 and continued through November 21.

From householders: 228 loads of scrap; netted 262 tons or 524,000 lbs.: 18.71 lbs. per capita.

From industries and individual

By WALTER CLAUSEN

Pearl Harbor, Dec. 1 (AP)—A United States submarine that stalked its prey so close to the Japanese coastline that its crew could watch the pony races at a big city track sank eight enemy cargo ships and damaged four others.

The ships sunk totalled 70,000 tons and the four damaged aggregated 20,000 to 25,000 tons. Much of the action took place in full view of large Japanese cities. The dates were not given.

The story of the submarine's successful venture into enemy waters were told here by Lieut. Commander Thomas Burton Klakring, 37, of San Mateo, Calif. He is to receive the navy cross from Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet.

A loud speaker system gave the sub's crew a running account of each action and the men were given the chance to line up and look through the periscope as some of the vessels went down.

It was not all easy pickings, however, for enemy planes dropped depth charges about them and they were fired on by escort vessels.

"Our biggest day," said Klakring, "was the day we sank four big ships in one hour. The enemy convoy force was nine or ten ships—six big cargo ships and three or four combat escorts.

We fired at two ships and saw both of them go down. Our range was between 500 and 1000 yards. We were lucky to hit both ships. The other four scattered in all directions while the escort came after us.

I let all members of the crew line up and look through the periscope to see the two vessels go down. We then chased two of the remaining four ships into a harbor.

Nazis Entrench After Long Retreat From El Alamein

By ROGER D. GREENE
(Associated Press War Editor)

Tank-led American and British troops were reported locked in heavy battle with the Germans in Tunisia today, striking to cut the last highway link between Axis-held Tunis and Bizerte as the campaign for the key North African cities neared a showdown.

Allied headquarters in North Africa said that British and American forces had deepened their wedge toward the highway and that U. S. Army and French troops had gained in a thrust to block the Axis "escape corridor" to Tripoli.

Other reports said Italian troops were guarding the coastal line of retreat between Sfax and Gabes, south of Tunis, but the American-French contingent was apparently cutting in above the Fascists.

Fighting French headquarters said French troops had entered Pont Du Fahs, a highway and rail center 30 miles south of Tunis.

French mobilization in North Africa was proceeding with great rapidity under the pro-Allied Gen. Henri Giraud, newspapers declared.

An Italian communique said that plane-supported Axis armored troops "resisted" British and American columns "on the move" in Tunisia, but again did not mention the growing threat to Tunis and Bizerte.

A United Nations headquarters spokesman, while cautioning that much bitter fighting was still expected, said the ever-growing Allied forces were throwing more planes into the battle hour by hour and beating down the German air force.

Countering Berlin assertions that the Nazi had won aerial superiority, the spokesman said the Axis was definitely on the downgrade in the North African skies.

A Berlin broadcast reported without confirmation that the Allies were already shelling the big naval base at Bizerte.

Allied tanks, artillery and motorized infantry were reported only a few miles west of the vital Nazi-defended coastal road between the two cities, while British parachute troops captured an airfield in the Tunis region without opposition.

Dispatches indicated that the Allies were probably less than 10 miles from Tunis, driving from the rail junction town of Djedeida, 12 miles northwest of the capital.

A broadcast from American-occupied Morocco, quoting a French headquarters communique, said pro-allied French troops had consolidated their positions between Djedeida and Pont Du Fahs, a town 30 miles southwest of Tunis.

At the same time, quickening activity was reported on the east flank of the giant allied "squeeze" operation, indicating that Britain's victorious 8th army was preparing for a climactic assault on Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces in Libya.

Breaking a four-day sequence of announcing "nothing to report," British Middle East Hearquarters said today:

"Yesterday our patrols were active in the neighborhood of El Agheila."

Rommel's battered Africa corps, now rested and reinforced after a disastrous 700-mile retreat across the desert from El Alamein, Egypt, was reported strongly entrenched in the narrow El Agheila corridor between quicksands and the sea.

Tempestuous Allied bombing assaults fell on the Axis on both sides of the Mediterranean as United Nations airmen again blasted the docks at Bizerte last night and pounded the coast of Sicily.

Italian headquarters acknowledged only slight damage to Palermo, Gela and Trapani, in Sicily, which serve as Axis air and supply bases for the battle of North Africa.

Huge Tank Battle

In the Russian war threatre, dispatches from Berlin quoted a German military spokesman as saying that "the greatest tank battle of the war" was raging on the central (Moscow) front, while official Soviet figures listed a staggering total of 157,000 Nazis killed or captured in the twin Stalingrad-Moscow offensives.

A Moscow broadcast said Adolf Hitler had ordered German divisions on the central front not to retreat "under any circumstances" and declared Nazi machine-gun

Ernest Downer's Brother, Sister-in-Law Died in Fire

The disastrous fire which swept through the Cocoanut Grove night club in Boston Saturday night and claimed approximately 477 lives, reached "home" when it was learned that Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Downer, of Beverly, Mass., son and daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Downer of Arlington, were victims.

Gerald Downer was the brother of Ernest Downer, popular Kingston Recreation outfielder who has been a member of the local semi-pro baseball team for two seasons.

Another death was averted, it was learned, when Miss Marie M. McCormack, an assistant supervisor of physical education in the Poughkeepsie schools, who, in the company of a Brookline, Mass., friend, made plans to go to the Cocoanut Grove night club Saturday night. However, a traffic tie-up before they reached that ill-fated club, prompted them to go to the Latin Quarters, a block away from the Cocoanut Grove.

Although no official word was available as to how Mr. and Mrs. Downer met their death in one of the most serious fires ever to sweep through in this country, word concerning their death was communicated rapidly among friends in Poughkeepsie where the entire family was well-known.

Was 26 Years Old

Gerald Downer was 26 years of age and was one of the two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Downer of Arlington. He married Miss Virginia Marie Murphy in Beverly, Mass., November 1, 1941. He was valedictorian of his class at Arlington High School, and was on the Dean's list at Harvard and had majored in science and mathematics.

Prior to his untimely death Mr. Downer was an employe of the U. S. Shoe Machine Company of Beverly. He was in charge of a designing department of the war-work industry. His wife was a graduate of Radcliffe College in 1939 and received a Bachelor of Arts degree from the Massachusetts institution.

Mr. Downer was active in sports at Arlington, having played baseball and basketball. His brother, Ernest, also is an outstanding athlete, having been a star baseball player at Cornell. Gerald Downer also was considered an excellent scholar both at Arlington and at Harvard University.

Miss MacCormack, who escaped the frantic incident at the Boston club Saturday night, has returned to Poughkeepsie. Her description of the fire included, "It was, of course, the most awful sight I have ever witnessed and the horror of the thing will always remain in my memory. There were more than 100 ambulances lined up at the point where we saw the heroic people taking the bodies out of the club. At least 50 bodies were brought out at one time amid the frantic scenes and the cries of those who were caught in the burning building."

Selecting Jurors For Nuzzo Trial

Arrest Followed Probe of Financial Affairs

Newburgh, N. Y., Dec. 1 (AP)—Selection of jurors began today for the trial of Samuel Nuzzo, 46, former business agent of Local 17, International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers Union (A.F.L.) on 89 counts of grand larceny and forgery involving union funds.

No jurors had been accepted by either side up until the noon recess. Assistant Attorney General Edward G. O'Neill, assigned as a special prosecutor by Governor Lehman said he hoped to begin introduction of evidence tomorrow.

Nuzzo was indicted by a special Orange county grand jury as the result of an investigation of the union's financial affairs ordered by the governor. Supreme Court Justice Riley H. Heath of Ithaca is hearing the case.

Three indictments accuse the former Newburgh night club operator of misappropriating $35,000 in union funds between 1937 and 1941. Union members have claimed that between $400,000 and $600,000 are missing.

The union has a membership of about 1,200, most of them employed on the $3,000,000 New York city water supply project in the lower Hudson valley.

Rifton Ladies' Aid

The next regular meeting of the Rifton Ladies' Aid Society will take place next Thursday evening, December 3, at the home of Miss Lillian Shepstone. As final details concerning the anniversary service to be held at the church, Sunday, December 6, will be made at this meeting, the president urges every member who can possibly do so to attend.

Advent Services Are Held

The Advent season as a time of preparation for Christmas, will be observed in Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church on Livingston street, through a series of mid-week Advent services. The first service will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. E. L. Witte will preach on the theme, "Jesus and the Prophets of Old."

Hurley Gun Club

The Hurley Gun Club will hold its December meeting at the town hall, Hurley, Friday night at 7:30. Joseph Armater, president, asks for a full attendance and requests that all members bring bond books with them. There will be reports on game taken during the season and other important business.

Population Gains

Washington, Dec. 1 (AP)—The Census Bureau estimated today that war-busy Detroit gained 336,000 in population between April 1, 1940 and May 1, 1942. During that same period, the bureau estimated on a basis of a survey which covered 137 selected metropolitan areas, there was a population loss of 365,000 in the New York-Northeastern New Jersey area.

Hudson Bay was discovered by the Cabots in 1498; first explored by Henry Hudson in 1610.

System Is in Operation

The "skip stop system" of operation was placed in effect on the city's three bus lines this morning, and from reports received from the Kingston City Transportation Corp., the new plan of operating the bus lines is working well. The system was inaugurated in order to conserve gas and tires. Street corners where buses stop have been marked in white letters on the pavement, and in addition the drivers of the buses are distributing leaflets to passengers which contain the list of corners where the buses stop.

All-Day Meeting

The Ashokan Willing Workers of the Methodist Church will have an all-day meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Fred Gulnac. A covered dish lunch will be served at noon.

Settlement Made In Oneida Case

Jesse C. Coddington Is Plaintiff Against Freight Mover

Jesse C. Coddington brought an action in negligence against Oneida Motor Freight, Inc., and another in Supreme Court. The action came up for trial this morning but a settlement was made and court recessed until this afternoon. Rusk & Rusk appeared for the plaintiff and David Leppo was attorney of record for the defendant.

Settlement of the negligence action moved No. 219 to the head of the trial calendar and that action was announced as ready for trial when court convened after the noon recess. This action is one under contract, the plaintiff, Mary S. Green seeks to recover from four insurance companies for loss of her premises near Accord on May 30, 1941. The Green premises were located on the Kingston-Ellenville road in the town of Rochester near Accord. Mrs. Green insured the premises through the Terwilliger Agency at Ellenville, $4,000 being placed on the house and $1,000 on the personal property. The action is brought against the Queen Insurance Company of America and three other companies between which the insurance was equally divided, and John C. DePuy. Peter H. Harp appears for the plaintiff and Affeld, Sowers & Herrick for the defendants.

Mrs. Green claims that the premises which were destroyed by fire were valued at over $6,500 and the furnishings were valued at over $1,209.90. At the time of the fire Mrs. Green was not living in the house but with her son who lived but a couple of hundred feet away. At times she lived with him or with a daughter, who lived within a few hundred feet of the Green property.

The defense is that the premises were not occupied and that no absentee permit had been granted, also that the loss of proof was not filed within the prescribed time.

Mrs. Green contends that while she was not staying in the house at all times, that she was living nearby and almost daily went to the premises and inspected it.

Metropolitan Ins. in Payroll Savings Plan

John Morrison, district manager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., today called The Freeman's attention to the fact that the local office of that company is participating in the U. S. Treasury Department's "Payroll Savings Plan for regular and systematic purchases of War Bonds," and that 33 employes of the local office are contributing regularly each week in the plan. "Better than 8 per cent of the weekly payroll of the local office is being used for the purchase of War Bonds," said Mr. Morrison.

Rifton Will Hold Service

Instead of the usual morning service next Sunday, December 6, there will be a special service at 3 o'clock in the afternoon to commemorate the fifieth anniversary of the Rifton M. E. Church. Several former ministers of the church will be present and an interesting program has been arranged. The pastor, the Rev. Mr. Spofford extends a cordial invitation to all.

Small Cargo Plane Crashes

Late Sunday afternoon a small cargo plane crashed on a routine flight near Pleasant Valley, Dutchess county. Four men aboard parachuted to safety, the Eastern Defense Command and First Army announced. The plane had sought to land at the New Hackensack field in an emergency landing but failed to make it in the bad weather and crashed after the occupants had bailed oout.

GRANGE NEWS

New Paltz, Dec. 1 — Huguenot Grange met for the regular session Saturday night. During the business session it was decided an auction would be held on December 5. Each Granger is to bring some article that can be auctioned off. A Thanksgiving program was held after the business meeting, including: song by the Grange, "Hail the Harvest." Litany of Thanksgiving by chaplain and officers; tableau of harvest by Dan DuBois, Mrs. Charles Mertz, Jr., and Alfred Schreiber; "Bringing in the Sheaves" by Grange; "Old Fashioned Thanksgiving" by Mrs. Boettiger and Mary Deyo; apple contest by Grange members. Mr. and Mrs. V. T. Pine, hosts, with their committee, served refreshments.

COMMANDOS EAT GRASS

James R. Branson, who regularly eats grass and bemoans his extravagance if his food bill tops 40 cents a week, is lecturing to Commandos in Britain, at the behest of the War Office, on how to live on the countryside. Although 70 years old this November he pedaled from London to Scotland recently on a bicycle. He traveled 81 miles the first day on a diet of grass, sugar, dates, and a pint of vinegar. "I supplemented these by eating leaves, clover, turnip tops, groundsel, seaweed and other greenstuffs," he said.

New York, Dec. 1 (AP)—The gap between war and peace stocks narrowed in today's market although irregularity persisted in most departments.

Battle bulletins continued on the side of selected issues but talk of a near-by victory seemed to have waned as a trend motivator. Tax selling, while comparatively light, still was viewed as a recovery handicap.

The direction was cloudy at the opening. Bids then were forthcoming for air transports and specialties. Unevenness was the rule near the fourth hour. Activity was small except for blocks of 1,000 to 18,000 shares of "penny" stocks as well as certain blue chips.

Bonds were mixed and commodities steady.

Among stocks United Air Lines and American Airlines went into new high ground for the year. On the upside were Douglas Aircraft, Dow Chemical, Allied Chemical, N. Y. Central, Twentieth Century-Fox, U. S. Rubber Common and Preferred, General Motors and American Telephone. Laggards included U. S. Steel, Western Union, Anaconda, Texas Co., Westinghouse, Chrysler, General Electric and Glenn Martin.

In the curb advances were posted for Pennsylvania-Central Airlines, Pittsburgh Plate Glass, Gulf Oil and International Petroleum. Support was scant for American Gas, Aluminum of America and American Cyanamid "B".

Knox Has No Word On French Fleet

Official Confirmation Has Not Been Received but Considers Fleet Sunk

Washington, Dec. 1 (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Knox said today that he had no official confirmation of the destruction of the French fleet last week "but if it were not true, certainly the facts would have come out by now—apparently the fleet was scuttled."

Knox had been asked at his press conference for his latest information on the Axis and Vichy French announcement that the fleet was destroyed at Toulon when Axis troops occupied the naval base.

He called attention to reports published today that four submarines had escaped from Toulon, suggesting a belief on his part that those may be the only craft which did get away.

Answering other questions, Knox said that the navy's first anniversary report on Pearl Harbor would come out of the Office of War Information along with other anniversary data and that some information which might be of value to the enemy would still be withheld. He did not disclose the nature of this information.

Asked about Sunday's disclosure in a navy communique that the Japanese have reopened a base on Attu, western-most island in the Aleutian chain, Knox said he was unaware of the size of the enemy force there. A questioner wanted to know whether the Japanese occupied Attu to reinforce their position on Kiska Island, their main base, or whether the move to Attu was in the nature of a retreat from Kiska, which has been heavily pounded by army bombers from the near Andreanof Islands. Knox said he did not know the answer to that question. The secretary declared in response to another question that the navy's goal of aerial strength was still 27,000 planes of all types.

American, Anglo Troops Engage Nazis in Battle

detachments had been posted to open fire on any Axis troops attempting to fall back.

Simultaneously, German military quarters said the resurgent Red armies were massing for still another offensive in the Voronezh sector, midway along the 600-mile stretch between Moscow and Stalingrad.

The Voronezh region was the target of the first great Nazi break-through from Kharkov before the Germans turned south to begin their ill-fated siege of Stalingrad 99 days ago.

Just two months have passed since Hitler boasted in the Berlin sportspalast that Stalingrad's fall was certain.

Today the remnants of the German siege armies, originally estimated at 300,000 troops, were being relentlessly ground to pieces in the jaws of a Red army trap.

Soviet Headquarters said the Nazis were launching bitter counterattacks both north and south of the Volga Metropolis, but declared that every assault failed as the offensive "continued in the same directions as before."

The Russian command listed 68,250 Germans killed and 66,000 captured in the 12-day-old drive on the Stalingrad front, and 23,300 killed and 400 captured before Moscow.

Sweeping back on the German rear, Soviet troops were officially reported to have captured the town of Vertychy, on the east bank of the Don river bend, 30 miles northwest of Stalingrad, while other Red army columns advanced toward the key rail point of Kotelnikovski, 135 miles southwest of Stalingrad.

Soviet reports said fighting continued in the factory district of Stalingrad, with the beleaguered Nazis attempting to hold a line behind minefields nodthwest of the city.

On the Moscow front, a Nazi military spokesman was quoted as admitting that the situation was very grave, with "a compact wall of Russian tanks pressing against our (German) lines."

Mrs. Millard Davis, chairman of the program committee, has announced that Frederic Snyder, world traveler and lecturer, will speak at the regular P.T.A. meeting Wednesday evening, in the high school auditorium, at 8 o'clock. Anyone may come, whether or not he is a member of the association.

Clothing Training School

Mrs. Emma Nevin, 4-H clothing specialist from the State College at Ithaca, will hold a victory clothing training school on Wednesday, starting at ten a. m., for all Ulster county 4-H club local leaders. The school will be held in the assembly room in the county building, and all stress remodeling and restyling of clothes and patching garments.

Machinery Is 'Unfrozen'

Harry J. Beatty, chairman of the Ulster County Farm Machinery Rationing Committee, received word today that farm machinery in the hands of local dealers, which had been frozen during November, can now be released by the local rationing board. Authority to release the machinery came from the U.S.D.A. War Board in Ithaca.

Cottages in Eire are to be repaired with lime and sand until cement is again available.

Armater Is President Of Supervisors' Association

Joseph Armater of Hurley was elected president of the Ulster County Supervisors Association Monday evening. Mr. Armater succeeded Herbert C. Myers, who presided at the annual session which was held at the close of the business session of the Board of Supervisors. Auley C. Roosa of the town of Ulster placed the name of Mr. Armater in nomination and Luther Dusinbere seconded the nomination. There were no other nominations and Mr. Armater was unanimously elected and escorted to the chair by Messrs. Roosa and Dusinbere.

The name of Francis Kaley of Milton was presented by Mr. Dusinbere and since no other name was presented the election was by ballot cast by the clerk. Charles R. O'Connor, who has held the office of treasurer for several years, was again unanimously elected. James A. Simpson, clerk of the board is the clerk of the Association. Mr. O'Connor was nominated by Jay W. Rifenbary and seconded by Samuel Williams.

President Armater announced that he would appoint a committee later to arrange for the annual banquet of the association.

The names of three members who have died since the last meeting were read and the members stood in silence for a moment out of respect to the memory of their departed members. Those who have died since the last session are Jacob V. Merrihew, Herman S. Wells and Carl Laicher.

Before adjourning Supervisor Francis J. O'Neill of the Thirteenth ward objected to the "partisan" policy of selection of the officers. He said he believed the policy of advancing the vice-president to the presidency would make for a stronger association and he suggested that the members of the minority party be considered He said Morton Finch had been vice president but his name had not been presented for advancement to the presidency. He suggested that in the future to keep the association non-partisan, that the vice president be recognized.

Auley C. Roosa who nominated Mr. Armater, said he had not precluded the others present from nominating any one they might select and before the vote had been taken the clerk had called for "any other nominations." He said none were made and the clerk cast the unanimous ballot for Mr. Armater.

Mr. O'Neill replied that he had not sought to create any contest for the office but believed that the policy of advancing the vice president should be adopted. Supervisor Raymond Schuler agreed with Mr. O'Neill.

The meeting adjourned.

Coffee Ration Reduced

Jersey City, N. J., Dec. 1 (AP)—The quartermaster's depot revealed today that the army coffee ration has been reduced since 1941 from 7 pounds a meal for each 100 men to 4 pounds, and shortly may even go as low as 3 pounds. The army has reduced its allowance from 60 cups every 30 days to 40 cups every 30 days. This economy, the depot said, not only has made more coffee available for civilian consumption, but has saved shipping space from South America.

All These Years

Imperial, Calif., Dec. 1 (AP)—They'd been kicking it around the house for a decade—and now it has kicked back. C. M. Allister, 27, was in the hospital today with a badly lacerated left foot after a World War I anti-aircraft shell, for 10 years thought a dud and used as a doorstep, among other things, exploded. It dropped while McAllister was cleaning a shelf.

Ban Is Placed On Boston Hotels, Cafes and Clubs

Boston, Dec. 1 (AP)—The Boston license commission today imposed a complete ban on all entertainment in Boston Hotels, restaurants, cafes, taverns and night clubs as an aftermath of the Cocoanut Grove fire that cost 449 lives and injured 172.

The ban will stand until such time as inspections are completed and the building and fire departments have given assurance that no dangerous conditions exist, the commission said.

It was explained that the emergency edict means there will be no dancing by the public in places where liquor and food are served, as well as no floor shows or other similar entertainment. Affected were 35 hotels, 682 restaurants and 293 taverns.

HOME BUREAU

A special feature of the annual meeting of the Ulster County County Farm and Home Bureau Association Thursday night, will be an address and demonstration by Dr. Larry Livingston of Wilmington, Del. Dr. Livingston represents the Research Department of the Dupont Corporation.

He appeared in Kingston in December of 1940, when he addressed the annual convention of the New York State Grange. He will make an address at a special meeting of the Kingston Kiwanis Club at noon, Thursday.

C. C. DuMond of Ulster Park, president of the Ulster County Association, stated that this is a new feature of the annual meeting program. Usually the program has been limited to reports, election of officers and other routine business. He invites all members of the Farm Bureau and Home Bureau, as well as their wives and husbands to attend. The meeting will take place in the County Building at 74 John street in Kingston, Thursday evening, December 3 at 8 o'clock.

The dircetors of all three departments of the association, Home Bureau and 4-H Clubs, will hold their regular monthly meetings in the afternoon of December 3, before the annual meeting in the evening.

Hurley Unit Course

The Hurley Home Bureau will sponsor a state nutrition course and talk by Mrs. William Singer of Hurley, beginning Thursday, December 3, at 2 p. m., in the Hurley school.

Job Printer Invents Valuable Instrument

Albany—A job printer, who joined a shop course to learn a mechanical trade so he could assist in the war effort, has invented an instrument which will cut 90 per cent from one operation on a milling machine. He is Francis L. Tyler, the publisher of a small magazine in Penn Yan.

Mr. Tyler was taught machining and milling by Hugh Meldrum at Penn Yan Academy. During this time the trainee, with no previous machine experience, became convinced there should be an easier, quicker and more accurate method of adjusting materials to the center on a milling machine. He evolved a small steel arrangement built on a V-bloc base with a supporting leg, an adjustable slide and an upright bar carrying a dial center. This instrument centers material in a minute and a half less, without chance of inaccuracy, thereby cutting the previous time of 15 minutes by 90 per cent. The inventor has filed a patent application and meanwhile the Luitweiler Machine Plant in Penn Yan is using the device.

Oakley Furney, state director of Vocational Education for National Defense, declared this is just one instance of the type of work the program of Vocational Training for War Production Workers is doing throughout the state with the cooperation of 131 local boards of education.

Levine Returns For Brief Stay

Uncle Sam's 'Shortest' Has Furlough; Attends Radio School

"Shorty" came to town this morning.

In other words Sergeant Lawrence Levine, son of Mrs. Ray Levine of 66 Pine Grove avenue, arrived in this city early today and while Uncle Sam's four-foot, nine-inch soldier was drinking some coffee at a Strand restaurant, a Freeman representative managed to collect a few interesting notes.

Sergeant Levine, who is reported as the shortest soldier in the present army, came back to his home town this morning after a long train ride from Salt Lake City, Utah, where he is now stationed. Prior to his western camp, he was at Fort Myers, Fla. He entered the Army last August and since then has made remarkable gains.

"Shorty" will spend about eight days here of a 15-day furlough. "It takes quite a bit of time to travel from here to Utah," said the sergeant, "so although our furlough is for 15 days, it isn't that long when you have to make plans for traveling."

While Sergeant Levine was drinking his coffee this morning it was very evident that he was tired after the long journey from the western state but he was obliging in answering questions put to him. He is now attending radio school at Salt Lake. Previous to that he had been graduated as a full-fledged gunner from the Florida school.

The Kingston soldier, when asked out about army life was very much in praise of it. "I think the army life is great," he replied. "I advise all young fellows to get in now. It's a thrill you'll never forget."

He continued by saying "army life is something like going to school every day. It's just something that the soldier must realize he has to keep on his toes. Your professors are your soldier officers. If you go in with the idea of doing good and also to make something of yourself, a prospective soldier will do all right." Sergeant Levine then illustrated a few incidents of army life where various men he knew didn't have the right attitude about taking tests. "They figured they couldn't pass those tests," he said, "but when a few of the other soldiers took them in hand, the fellows came through with flying colors."

The sergeant also was much in praise of the western scenes of beauty. "You know," he said, "lots of people go traveling to Europe and other foreign lands to see beauty. But they must fail to realize what grand scenes of beauty we have right here in the United States. Out in Utah we're surrounded by mountains, snow-capped mountains at that. What a thrill it is when you get up in the morning to look out and see those peaks covered with snow."

At about this time Sergeant Levine was through with his coffee and mentioned that he hadn't been home yet, so he took his leave.

Elks Will Hold Memorial Service

Mendelssohn Club Will Participate in Program

The annual memorial services in memory of departed Elks will be held by Kingston Lodge, No. 550, B. P. O. E., Sunday evening at 8 o'clock at the Elks' Home, Fair street, when services in memory of local Elks, who have died during the past year will be held on the eve of Pearl Harbor. Exalted Ruler Louis G. Bruhn extends a welcome to the public as well as all Elks to attend this service.

Members of the Mendelssohn Club of this city will participate in the program with vocal selections. The eulogy will be by the Rev. Frank L. Gollnick, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church of this city. The invocation will be by the Rev. Father Hughes of Sawkill, and the benediction by Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom.

Among the members of Kingston Lodge, No. 550, who have died since the last memorial services held last year on the night of Pearl Harbor, are Lewis S. Chandler, former lieutenant governor of New York state; the Hon. G. D. B. Hasbrouck of this city, and several other local members.

LEARN HOW TO FORAGE

Melbourne (AP)—Australian troops will be taught how to forage for food in the bush country just as the black aborigines of Australia do. A new instruction course, designed to make troops self-sustaining if they are cut off from supplies, was announced today. The troops will learn that: Roots of certain trees contain water; four teaspoonsful of water are obtainable from a frog dug out of dried mud; certain spruces, surhs, lucerne nettles, and salibush are usable substitutes for spinach; big white and pink witchetty or pellatie grubs are a native delicacy; ant eggs toasted on a hot stone taste like bread.

A Brindisi is a drinking song, the name being derived from the Italian word meaning toast.

Keating Is Honored

setting of explosives on the 60 odd ships in the harbor.

These sources said that none of the captains went down with their ships as earlier reported but that "everything was scuttled—even the harbor tugboats."

They reported Admiral De La Borde was interned as a civilian at Aix En Provence.

French crewmen at Toulon were put on the alert immediately when the Allies landed in North Africa, it was said, and when the Germans sent to occupy south France reached the Toulon defenses November 12 and sent delegates demanding surrender of the base, the answer was:

"Withdraw or we fire."

The Germans withdrew and while Hitler was sending larger forces to overcome the French marines, Berlin issued a statement "congratulating" the French commander on his decisions to defend Toulon "against aggression."

When the Germans returned in force, it was declared, the seacocks of the mighty fleet were opened and the charges exploded. Most of the ships heeled over on reaching bottom, although the superstructures of some of the larger ships are still showing.

The captain of the submarine Casblanca, safe in Algiers, said the first warning he and his crew had of the German attack was the firing of a shore battery on German ground troops. Later planes appeared, he said.

The captain said he waited all day Friday for "orders to fight," but they "never came" and when night came his submarine slipped through the mines out of the harbor.

The Vichy radio reported today that gates of Toulon naval arsenal were ordered closed until further notice yesterday when rioting broke out over an order to resume work there.

Salvage Committee Releases Report

contributors: 856 tons or 1,712,000 lbs.

From city of Kingston (car rails): 335 tons or 670,000 lbs.

A total of 1,453 tons or 2,906,000 lbs.; 103.8 lbs. per capita.

The quota assigned was 100 lbs. per person.

The committee's thanks are due the Lions Club which supplied men and trucks for moving heavy scrap; to local men, school boys and Boy Scouts who worked on the trucks; to the Girl Scouts for distributing leaflets; to Arthur Morrill, chief air raid warden, and all wardens working with him on whom the success of contacting householders depended. The committee also wishes to express appreciation to the management of the Kingston Theatre whose "Scrap Matinee" netted three tons of salvage; to the Department of Public Works whose trucks made the drive possible, and whose drivers under the leadership of Max Oppenheimer were unfailingly courteous and helpful; to the city Engineering Department which supplied maps of each ward and to Mrs. McCaffrey for routing the trucks on these maps; to the Office of Civilian Defense for receiving and relaying telephone calls; to the Y. M. C. A. for the use of a room for committee meetings and for acting as dispatch depot for trucks and workers each Saturday. The press of Kingston has actively cooperated with us and made many helpful suggestions; and both R. F. Buck and B. Millens and Sons have been fine people with whom to do business.

The fact that Kingston went over the top and more than made its quota is the result of the cooperation of all our citizens and our wholehearted thanks goes to all of them.

From the moneys realized from the sale of scrap metal, we have allocated $500 to the local service committee and $250 to the Red Cross Kit Campaign.

Respectfully submitted,
RAYMOND RIGNALL,
Chairman.

Clark Decorated By Eisenhower

Medal of Distinguished Service Is Presented

By WES GALLAGHER

Allied Healquarters in North Africa, Dec. 1 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today personally decorated Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark with the distinguished service medal for his "outstanding characteristics of leadership, sound judgment, and soldierly qualities" in carrying out a hazardous secret mission to Africa before the allied invasion.

Eisenhower, a West Point companion of Clark, decorated the tall, youngest lieutenant general in the U. S. army in a simple ceremony.

The citation said:

"General Clark, as deputy commander in chief of the allied North African force, rendered distinguished service to the United States army in connection with planning the organization for operations in Africa.

"As deputy commander, he carried out a vitally important and hazardous mission to Algiers by submarine, and conducted it with conspicuous success important to negotiations with the French official staff. In all these duties he displayed outstanding characteristics of leadership, sound judgment, and soldierly qualities to honor the army of the United States."

When Clark was decorated, he was flanked by the greatest collection of top-ranking generals and gold braid thus far assembled at headquarters here—and by Negro Sergeant William Chaney of Washington, D. C.

Chaney was the proudest man in the American army here today, for he has been Clark's orderly for many years. He stood with Admiral Sir Andrew Browne Cunningham of the British navy, Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle, and a dozen other British and American generals while his chief was decorated.

In 18 months nearly 238,000,000 pounds of dried eggs have been shipped from the United States to British, Russian and other Allied destinations.

Wounded Sailors Show Traditional Bravery of Navy

By CHARLES McMURTRY

With the U. S. Fleet in the Pacific, Dec. 1, (AP).—A seventeen-year-old kid named Russell lay on the deck of our crippled carrier trying hard to smile. His fists were clenched, but tears just would leak out the corners of his eyes and trickle down his smoke-begrimed face.

Russell was badly burned and suffering intensely. But sailors don't complain. And Russell's a sailor, a wounded war veteran—at an age for a boy to be in school and timidly asking a girl for a date, or playing baseball and football.

But Russell's fighting to win this war—fighting alongside men old enough to be his father. As a doctor applied soothing ointment, the boy tried to smile, and asked: "Doctor, am I brace enough?"

A private first class from New York city stuck with his gun after shrapnel tore away his upper front teeth and gums. He had to be ordered away. With his mouth almost hidden in bandages he tried to give everyone a friendly smile. Complain? Sure and why not—but only about one thing:

"Soup, nothing but soup. They had steak for breakfast and all I could do was smell it."

Then tere was Lieut. Comdr. E. L. Calhoun, a medical officer, of Hoquiam, Wash., who underwent an appendectomy complicated by peritonitis just eight days before the battle. On the morning of the engagement, he fell and ripped open a corner of his incision.

Commander Calhoun was in a cruiser to which 98 injured men were taken. He worked with them for 16 hours until ship's officers put him to bed, and then worked 12 hours more daily for another five days and undoubtedly saved many lives.

Many men can thank the middle-aged unassuming Calhoun for recovering without scars. I can vouch for that. Many days later I am still typing with one finger, but evidently will have no scars and my burned hands are healing surprisingly fast.

John J. Costello Named Supervisor

Fills Vacancy Caused by Death of Carl Laicher of Sixth Ward

John J. Costello of 71 Ann street has been appointed supervisor of the Sixth Ward to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Supervisor Carl Laicher. The appointment was made Monday by Mayor William F. Edelmuth and became effective today.

Supervisor Costello has been active in Democratic politics in the city for many years. He served as city marshal for two terms during the administration of Judge Bernard A. Culloton as city judge. For a number of years he was employed by the state highway department on the Rondout Creek Bridge, and for the past year has been employed as a rodman in the city engineer's office.

The new supervisor is well known to the older boxing fans of Kingston and during the 1920's he promoted many boxing bouts in the city.

Home Defense

There will be an important meeting for all Air Raid Wardens, Auxiliary Police, and Auxiliary Firemen in the Emma Weygant school, East Kingston at 8 p. m. Wednesday, December 2. All those in election district No. 3 and adjoining district No. 2, town of Ulster, who are interested are cordially invited to attend.

It is imperative that details be perfected for the protection of East Kingston and the surrounding territory in case of an emergency.

THE MOST IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT EVER MADE BY THE U. S. TREASURY DEPARTMENT

The 9 Billion Dollar Victory Loan Drive Is On!

This week the United States Government begins the task of borrowing nine billion dollars within the next several weeks as an essential part of winning the war more quickly and more completely.

During these critical weeks you probably will be visited by a representative of one of the securities firms or banks which are contributing their time and effort — without compensation of any kind — to the Victory Fund Committee. He will explain to you, for instance, the benefits that you can obtain from the new Victory 2½'s —available for the first time. Welcome him as a war worker when he calls. If you miss him, ask your banker or securities dealer for full particulars. There is no limit to the amount that you can purchase.

Today many American families are torn apart. Millions have left their homes or their jobs; thousands have given their lives and many more are prepared to do so.

But the government, your government, is not asking you to give anything to this Nine Billion Dollar Drive. It is asking you to lend it all of the money you can possibly invest in what is the safest investment in the world—at a good rate of interest.

When the victory Fund representative calls, please remember this: it is in your own interest, as well as that of your country, to listen to him—and to invest.

BUY THESE VICTORY 2½'s NOW

Twenty-six year 2½ per cent bonds due December 15, 1968, callable December 15, 1963. Issued in coupon or registered form at the option of the buyer. Commercial banks will not be permitted to hold these bonds until ten years after the date of issue. There is no limit on the amount any eligible investor may purchase. Interest is paid semi-annually, June 15 and Dec. 15. The bonds will be sold in denominations from $500 to $100,000. In the event of the death of a holder, the bonds may be redeemed at 100% and accrued interest for the purpose of satisfying federal estate taxes.

Two series of shorter term obligations: (a) 1¼ per cent bonds due June 15, 1948, and (b) ⅞ per cent certificates of indebtedness due one year after issuance. These securities are open for subscription by banks, and also by all other classes of investors, whether private, corporate or institutional.

Other Treasury Securities offered to investors through the Victory Fund Committee are Treasury Tax Savings Notes A and C, and U. S. Savings Bonds, Series F and G.

Ernest Downer's Brother, Sister-in-Law Died in Fire

The disastrous fire which swept through the Cocoanut Grove night club in Boston Saturday night and claimed approximately 477 lives, reached "home" when it was learned that Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Downer, of Beverly, Mass., son and daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Downer of Arlington, were victims.

Gerald Downer was the brother of Ernest Downer, popular Kingston Recreation outfielder who has been a member of the local semi-pro baseball team for two seasons.

Another death was averted, it was learned, when Miss Marie M. McCormack, an assistant supervisor of physical education in the Poughkeepsie schools, who, in the company of a Brookline, Mass., friend, made plans to go to the Cocoanut Grove night club Saturday night. However, a traffic tie-up before they reached that ill-fated club, prompted them to go to the Latin Quarters, a block away from the Cocoanut Grove.

Although no official word was available as to how Mr. and Mrs. Downer met their death in one of the most serious fires ever to sweep through in this country, word concerning their death was communicated rapidly among friends in Poughkeepsie where the entire family was well-known.

Was 26 Years Old

Gerald Downer was 26 years of age and was one of the two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Downer of Arlington. He married Miss Virginia Marie Murphy in Beverly, Mass., November 1, 1941. He was valedictorian of his class at Arlington High School, and was on the Dean's list at Harvard and had majored in science and mathematics.

Prior to his untimely death Mr. Downer was an employe of the U. S. Shoe Machine Company of Beverly. He was in charge of a designing department of the war-work industry. His wife was a graduate of Radcliffe College in 1939 and received a Bachelor of Arts degree from the Massachusetts institution.

Mr. Downer was active in sports at Arlington, having played baseball and basketball. His brother, Ernest, also is an outstanding athlete, having been a star baseball player at Cornell. Gerald Downer also was considered an excellent scholar both at Arlington and at Harvard University.

Miss MacCormack, who escaped the frantic incident at the Boston club Saturday night, has returned to Poughkeepsie. Her description of the fire included, "It was, of course, the most awful sight I have ever witnessed and the horror of the thing will always remain in my memory. There were more than 100 ambulances lined up at the point where we saw the heroic people taking the bodies out of the club. At least 50 bodies were brought out at one time amid the frantic scenes and the cries of those who were caught in the burning building."

Selecting Jurors For Nuzzo Trial

Arrest Followed Probe of Financial Affairs

Newburgh, N. Y., Dec. 1 (AP)—Selection of jurors began today for the trial of Samuel Nuzzo, 46, former business agent of Local 17, International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers Union (A.F.L.) on 89 counts of grand larceny and forgery involving union funds.

No jurors had been accepted by either side up until the noon recess. Assistant Attorney General Edward G. O'Neill, assigned as a special prosecutor by Governor Lehman said he hoped to begin introduction of evidence tomorrow.

Nuzzo was indicted by a special Orange county grand jury as the result of an investigation of the union's financial affairs ordered by the governor. Supreme Court Justice Riley H. Heath of Ithaca is hearing the case.

Three indictments accuse the former Newburgh night club operator of misappropriating $35,000 in union funds between 1937 and 1941. Union members have claimed that between $400,000 and $600,000 are missing.

The union has a membership of about 1,200, most of them employed on the $3,000,000 New York city water supply project in the lower Hudson valley.

Rifton Ladies' Aid

The next regular meeting of the Rifton Ladies' Aid Society will take place next Thursday evening, December 3, at the home of Miss Lillian Shepstone. As final details concerning the anniversary service to be held at the church, Sunday, December 6, will be made at this meeting, the president urges every member who can possibly do so to attend.

Advent Services Are Held

The Advent season as a time of preparation for Christmas, will be observed in Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church on Livingston street, through a series of mid-week Advent services. The first service will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. E. L. Witte will preach on the theme, "Jesus and the Prophets of Old."

Hurley Gun Club

The Hurley Gun Club will hold its December meeting at the town hall, Hurley, Friday night at 7:30. Joseph Armater, president, asks for a full attendance and requests that all members bring bond books with them. There will be reports on game taken during the season and other important business.

Population Gains

Washington, Dec. 1 (AP)—The Census Bureau estimated today that war-busy Detroit gained 336,000 in population between April 1, 1940 and May 1, 1942. During that same period, the bureau estimated on a basis of a survey which covered 137 selected metropolitan areas, there was a population loss of 365,000 in the New York-Northeastern New Jersey area.

Hudson Bay was discovered by the Cabots in 1498; first explored by Henry Hudson in 1610.

Settlement Made In Oneida Case

Jesse C. Coddington Is Plaintiff Against Freight Mover

Jesse C. Coddington brought an action in negligence against Oneida Motor Freight, Inc., and another in Supreme Court. The action came up for trial this morning but a settlement was made and court recessed until this afternoon. Rusk & Rusk appeared for the plaintiff and David Leppo was attorney of record for the defendant.

Settlement of the negligence action moved No. 219 to the head of the trial calendar and that action was announced as ready for trial when court convened after the noon recess. This action is one under contract, the plaintiff, Mary S. Green seeks to recover from four insurance companies for loss of her premises near Accord on May 30, 1941. The Green premises were located on the Kingston-Ellenville road in the town of Rochester near Accord. Mrs. Green insured the premises through the Terwilliger Agency at Ellenville, $4,000 being placed on the house and $1,000 on the personal property. The action is brought against the Queen Insurance Company of America and three other companies between which the insurance was equally divided, and John C. DePuy. Peter H. Harp appears for the plaintiff and Affeld, Sowers & Herrick for the defendants.

Mrs. Green claims that the premises which were destroyed by fire were valued at over $6,500 and the furnishings were valued at over $1,209.90. At the time of the fire Mrs. Green was not living in the house but with her son who lived but a couple of hundred feet away. At times she lived with him or with a daughter, who lived within a few hundred feet of the Green property.

The defense is that the premises were not occupied and that no absentee permit had been granted, also that the loss of proof was not filed within the prescribed time.

Mrs. Green contends that while she was not staying in the house at all times, that she was living nearby and almost daily went to the premises and inspected it.

Metropolitan Ins. in Payroll Savings Plan

John Morrison, district manager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., today called The Freeman's attention to the fact that the local office of that company is participating in the U. S. Treasury Department's "Payroll Savings Plan for regular and systematic purchases of War Bonds," and that 33 employes of the local office are contributing regularly each week in the plan. "Better than 8 per cent of the weekly payroll of the local office is being used for the purchase of War Bonds," said Mr. Morrison.

System Is in Operation

The "skip stop system" of operation was placed in effect on the city's three bus lines this morning, and from reports received from the Kingston City Transportation Corp., the new plan of operating the bus lines is working well. The system was inaugurated in order to conserve gas and tires. Street corners where buses stop have been marked in white letters on the pavement, and in addition the drivers of the buses are distributing leaflets to passengers which contain the list of corners where the buses stop.

All-Day Meeting

The Ashokan Willing Workers of the Methodist Church will have an all-day meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Fred Gulnac. A covered dish lunch will be served at noon.

Rifton Will Hold Service

Instead of the usual morning service next Sunday, December 6, there will be a special service at 3 o'clock in the afternoon to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the Rifton M. E. Church. Several former ministers of the church will be present and an interesting program has been arranged. The pastor, the Rev. Mr. Spofford extends a cordial invitation to all.

Small Cargo Plane Crashes

Late Sunday afternoon a small cargo plane crashed on a routine flight near Pleasant Valley, Dutchess county. Four men aboard parachuted to safety, the Eastern Defense Command and First Army announced. The plane had sought to land at the New Hackensack field in an emergency landing but failed to make it in the bad weather and crashed after the occupants had bailed out.

GRANGE NEWS

New Paltz, Dec. 1 — Huguenot Grange met for the regular session Saturday night. During the business session it was decided an auction would be held on December 5. Each Granger is to bring some article that can be auctioned off. A Thanksgiving program was held after the business meeting, including: song by the Grange, "Hail the Harvest." Litany of Thanksgiving by chaplain and officers; tableau of harvest by Dan DuBois, Mrs. Charles Mertz, Jr., and Alfred Schreiber; "Bringing in the Sheaves" by Grange; "Old Fashioned Thanksgiving" by Mrs. Boettiger and Mary Deyo; apple contest by Grange members. Mr. and Mrs. V. T. Pine, hosts, with their committee, served refreshments.

COMMANDOS EAT GRASS

James R. Branson, who regularly eats grass and bemoans his extravagance if his food bill tops 40 cents a week, is lecturing to Commandos in Britain, at the behest of the War Office, on how to live on the countryside. Although 70 years old this November he pedaled from London to Scotland recently on a bicycle. He traveled 81 miles the first day on a diet of grass, sugar, dates, and a pint of vinegar. "I supplemented these by eating leaves, clover, turnip tops, groundsel, seaweed and other greenstuffs," he said.

New York, Dec. 1 (AP)—The gap between war and peace stocks narrowed in today's market although irregularity persisted in most departments.

Battle bulletins continued on the side of selected issues but talk of a near-by victory seemed to have waned as a trend motivator. Tax selling, while comparatively light, still was viewed as a recovery handicap.

The direction was cloudy at the opening. Bids then were forthcoming for air transports and specialties. Unevenness was the rule near the fourth hour. Activity was small except for blocks of 1,000 to 18,000 shares of "penny" stocks as well as certain blue chips.

Bonds were mixed and commodities steady.

Among stocks United Air Lines and American Airlines went into new high ground for the year. On the upside were Douglas Aircraft, Dow Chemical, Allied Chemical, N. Y. Central, Twentieth Century-Fox, U. S. Rubber Common and Preferred, General Motors and American Telephone. Laggards included U. S. Steel, Western Union, Anaconda, Texas Co., Westinghouse, Chrysler, General Electric and Glenn Martin.

In the curb advances were posted for Pennsylvania-Central Airlines, Pittsburgh Plate Glass, Gulf Oil and International Petroleum. Support was scant for American Gas, Aluminum of America and American Cyanamid "B".

Knox Has No Word On French Fleet

Official Confirmation Has Not Been Received but Considers Fleet Sunk

Washington, Dec. 1 (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Knox said today that he had no official confirmation of the destruction of the French fleet last week "but if it were not true, certainly the facts would have come out by now—apparently the fleet was scuttled."

Knox had been asked at his press conference for his latest information on the Axis and Vichy French announcement that the fleet was destroyed at Toulon when Axis troops occupied the naval base.

He called attention to reports published today that four submarines had escaped from Toulon, suggesting a belief on his part that those may be the only craft which did get away.

Answering other questions; Knox said that the navy's first anniversary report on Pearl Harbor would come out of the Office of War Information along with other anniversary data and that some information which might be of value to the enemy would still be withheld. He did not disclose the nature of this information.

Asked about Sunday's disclosure in a navy communique that the Japanese have reopened a base on Attu, western-most island in the Aleutian chain, Knox said he was unaware of the size of the enemy force there. A questioner wanted to know whether the Japanese occupied Attu to reinforce their position on Kiska Island, their main base, or whether the move to Attu was in the nature of a retreat from Kiska, which has been heavily pounded by army bombers from the near Andreanof Islands. Knox said he did not know the answer to that question. The secretary declared in response to another question that the navy's goal of aerial strength was still 27,000 planes of all types.

detachments had been posted to open fire on any Axis troops attempting to fall back.

Simultaneously, German military quarters said the resurgent Red armies were massing for still another offensive in the Voronezh sector, midway along the 600-mile stretch between Moscow and Stalingrad.

The Voronezh region was the target of the first great Nazi break-through from Kharkov before the Germans turned south to begin their ill-fated siege of Stalingrad 99 days ago.

Just two months have passed since Hitler boasted in the Berlin sportspalast that Stalingrad's fall was certain.

Today the remnants of the German siege armies, originally estimated at 300,000 troops, were being relentlessly ground to pieces in the jaws of a Red army trap.

Soviet Headquarters said the Nazis were launching bitter counterattacks both north and south of the Volga Metropolis, but declared that every assault failed as the offensive "continued in the same directions as before."

The Russian command listed 68,250 Germans killed and 66,000 captured in the 12-day-old drive on the Stalingrad front, and 23,300 killed and 400 captured before Moscow.

Sweeping back on the German rear, Soviet troops were officially reported to have captured the town of Vertychy, on the east bank of the Don river bend, 30 miles northwest of Stalingrad, while other Red army columns advanced toward the key rail point of Kotelnikovski, 135 miles southwest of Stalingrad.

Soviet reports said fighting continued in the factory district of Stalingrad, with the beleaguered Nazis attempting to hold a line behind minefields northwest of the city.

On the Moscow front, a Nazi military spokesman was quoted as admitting that the situation was very grave, with "a compact wall of Russian tanks pressing against our (German) lines."

P.-T. A. NEWS

Rerhonkson

Mrs. Millard Davis, chairman of the program committee, has announced that Frederic Snyder, world traveler and lecturer, will speak at the regular P.T.A. meeting Wednesday evening in the high school auditorium, at 8 o'clock. Anyone may come, whether or not he is a member of the association.

Clothing Training School

Mrs. Emma Nevin, 4-H clothing specialist from the State College at Ithaca, will hold a victory clothing training school on Wednesday, starting at ten a. m., for all Ulster county 4-H club local leaders. The school will be held in the assembly room in the county building, and all stress remodeling and restyling of clothes and patching garments.

Machinery Is 'Unfrozen'

Harry J. Beatty, chairman of the Ulster County Farm Machinery Rationing Committee, received word today that farm machinery in the hands of local dealers, which had been frozen during November, can now be released by the local rationing board. Authority to release the machinery came from the U.S.D.A. War Board in Ithaca.

Cottages in Eire are to be repaired with lime and sand until cement is again available.

Armater Is President Of Supervisors' Association

Joseph Armater of Hurley was elected president of the Ulster County Supervisors Association Monday evening. Mr. Armater succeeded Herbert C. Myers, who presided at the annual session which was held at the close of the business session of the Board of Supervisors. Auley C. Roosa of the town of Ulster placed the name of Mr. Armater in nomination and Luther Dusinbere seconded the nomination. There were no other nominations and Mr. Armater was unanimously elected and escorted to the chair by Messrs. Roosa and Dusinbere.

The name of Francis Kaley of Milton was presented by Mr. Dusinbere and since no other name was presented the election was by ballot cast by the clerk. Charles R. O'Connor, who has held the office of treasurer for several years, was again unanimously elected. James A. Simpson, clerk of the board is the clerk of the Association. Mr. O'Connor was nominated by Jay W. Rifenbary and seconded by Samuel Williams.

President Armater announced that he would appoint a committee later to arrange for the annual banquet of the association.

The names of three members who have died since the last meeting were read and the members stood in silence for a moment out of respect to the memory of their departed members. Those who have died since the last session are Jacob V. Merrihew, Herman S. Wells and Carl Laicher.

Before adjourning Supervisor Francis J. O'Neill of the Thirteenth ward objected to the "partisan" policy of selection of the officers. He said he believed the policy of advancing the vice-president to the presidency would make for a stronger association and he suggested that the members of the minority party be considered. He said Morton Finch had been vice president but his name had not been presented for advancement to the presidency. He suggested that in the future to keep the association non-partisan, that the vice president be recognized.

Auley C. Roosa who nominated Mr. Armater, said he had not precluded the others present from nominating any one they might select and before the vote had been taken the clerk had called for "any other nominations." He said none were made and the clerk cast the unanimous ballot for Mr. Armater.

Mr. O'Neill replied that he had not sought to create any contest for the office but believed that the policy of advancing the vice president should be adopted. Supervisor Raymond Schuler agreed with Mr. O'Neill.

The meeting adjourned.

Coffee Ration Reduced

Jersey City, N. J., Dec. 1 (AP)—The quartermaster's depot revealed today that the army coffee ration has been reduced since 1941 from 7 pounds a meal for each 100 men to 4 pounds, and shortly may even go as low as 3 pounds. The army has reduced its allowance from 60 cups every 30 days to 40 cups every 30 days. This economy, the depot said, not only has made more coffee available for civilian consumption, but has saved shipping space from South America.

All These Years

Imperial, Calif., Dec. 1 (AP)—They'd been kicking it around the house for a decade—and now it has kicked back. C. M. Allister, 27, was in the hospital today with a badly lacerated left foot after a World War I anti-aircraft shell, for 10 years thought a dud, and used as a doorstop, among other things, exploded. It dropped while McAllister was cleaning a shelf.

Local Death Record

Funeral services for Lester Finley, who died suddenly Monday in his home, 16 Van Gaasbeck street, will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Trinity Methodist Church, of which he had been an active member for years. Burial will be in Montrepose cemetery. Besides his wife and two sons, Mr. Finley is survived by a brother, Edmond G. Finley of Highland.

Ban Is Placed On Boston Hotels, Cafes and Clubs

Boston, Dec. 1 (AP)—The Boston license commission today imposed a complete ban on all entertainment in Boston Hotels, restaurants, cafes, taverns and night clubs as an aftermath of the Cocoanut Grove fire that cost 449 lives and injured 172.

The ban will stand until such time as inspections are completed and the building and fire departments have given assurance that no dangerous conditions exist, the commission said.

It was explained that the emergency edict means there will be no dancing by the public in places where liquor and food are served, as well as no floor shows or other similar entertainment. Affected were 35 hotels, 682 restaurants and 293 taverns.

HOME BUREAU

A special feature of the annual meeting of the Ulster County County Farm and Home Bureau Association Thursday night, will be an address and demonstration by Dr. Larry Livingston of Wilmington, Del. Dr. Livingston represents the Research Department of the Dupont Corporation.

He appeared in Kingston in December of 1940, when he addressed the annual convention of the New York State Grange. He will make an address at a special meeting of the Kingston Kiwanis Club at noon, Thursday.

C. C. DuMond of Ulster Park, president of the Ulster County Association, stated that this is a new feature of the annual meeting program. Usually the program has been limited to reports, election of officers and other routine business. He invites all members of the Farm Bureau and Home Bureau, as well as their wives and husbands to attend. The meeting will take place in the County Building at 74 John street in Kingston, Thursday evening, December 3 at 8 o'clock.

The directors of all three departments of the association, Home Bureau and 4-H Clubs, will hold their regular monthly meetings in the afternoon of December 3, before the annual meeting in the evening.

Hurley Unit Course

The Hurley Home Bureau will sponsor a state nutrition course and talk by Mrs. William Singer of Hurley, beginning Thursday, December 3, at 2 p. m., in the Hurley school.

Job Printer Invents Valuable Instrument

Albany—A job printer, who joined a shop course to learn a mechanical trade so he could assist in the war effort, has invented an instrument which will cut 90 per cent from one operation on a milling machine. He is Francis L. Tyler, the publisher of a small magazine in Penn Yan.

Mr. Tyler was taught machining and milling by Hugh Meldrum at Penn Yan Academy. During this time the trainee, with no previous machine experience, became convinced there should be an easier, quicker and more accurate method of adjusting materials to the center on a milling machine. He evolved a small steel arrangement built on a V-bloc base with a supporting leg, an adjustable slide and an upright bar carrying a dial center. This instrument centers material in a minute and a half less, without chance of inaccuracy, thereby cutting the previous time of 15 minutes by 90 per cent. The inventor has filed a patent application and meanwhile the Luitweiler Machine Plant in Penn Yan is using the device.

Oakley Furney, state director of Vocational Education for National Defense, declared this is just one instance of the type of work the program of Vocational Training for War Production Workers is doing throughout the state with the cooperation of 131 local boards of education.

Boy Is Killed

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 1 (AP)—For many days 11-year-old Charles E. Wilson sought his father's permission to deliver newspapers to earn Christmas money. Finally receiving consent, Charles dashed across a street today to pick up his paper bundle, was struck and fatally injured by an automobile.

PARSNIP POETRY

A newspaper man made some experiments with coffee made of roasted parsnips and was not really happy over the result—but he did not like parsnips to start with. A reader writes to tell him his "article on parsnip coffee and insults against that king of vegetables are, to say the least, tiresome."

Parsnips are a boon to victory gardens, she says, needing only to be planted and watered occasionally, left in the ground to be dug as needed, for freezing only improves an already delicious flavor. She then waxes lyrical:

"Were I describing parsnips I would compare their color to mellow old ivory, call their flavor sweet as honey, their taste divine. I would never mess around trying to make coffee out of something Someone very much wiser than you intended to grow, be eaten and taste as parsnips. Drink water if necessary instead of coffee, but please let parsnips be parsnips."

It is wonderful to find the often despised parsnip acquiring so stout a defender. And indeed, have the parsnip-despisers ever tried them properly cooked? Take a cold night, with pork chops. Parboil the parsnips, then fry in butter or with the chops to a beautiful brown-and-ivory. Gifts of the gods!

Let those carp who will. Some folks can be poetical about parsnips.

WAR IN SPAIN?

Every so often it is reported that Hitler's next move will be against Spain, and always the rumor proves false. If Hitler did not adequately consider Napoleon's unhappy experience when he attacked Russia, he seems to have given it some thought in the case of Spain.

Well he might, for Spain was as much responsible for Napoleon's downfall as the Moscow campaign itself. Realizing this, he said during the captivity at St. Helena: "The unfortunate war in Spain ruined me. All my defeats came from this source. The Spanish war destroyed my reputation in Europe, increased my embarrassments, and provided the best training ground for the English soldiers. I myself trained the English army in the Peninsula."

Two proverbs explain this. "Spain is a country where small armies are beaten and large armies starve. And as the Spaniards themselves put it, "The swallow flying across Spain must carry his own grain."

Hitler may yet invade Spain, but he will sign his own death warrant when he does.

FEWER SPECTATORS

The annual Harvard-Yale football game generally has little bearing on the national championship, but great importance for the followers of both universities. So great has been the desire to see this struggle, which goes back to 1875, that for an outsider to get a ticket has been all but impossible. This is true even when the game is in the Yale Bowl, which holds 80,000, twice as many as the Harvard stadium. This year the game was at Yale, but had only 21,000 spectators. Gasoline restrictions and war absences presumably afford the answer.

How Harvard's Percy Haughton and Yale's Walter Camp, who year after year directed victorious teams for their colleges and are now perhaps working out superplays in some athletic Valhalla, would have sat up and taken notice at hearing of a Harvard-Yale football game with three out of every four seats empty!

DAWN OF CIVILIZATION

The great Nazi crime wave has passed its peak and is rapidly declining. Hitler and his diabolical system may be expected to go out in a wave of terror, but that may be the end of organized terror in Europe for at least a generation. And a new generation may be wise enough not to let such perils to civilization get another start.

The job now is to continue the war against the destroyers implacably until they themselves are destroyed, root and branch. First the European destroyers, then the Asiatic. And not in a mere spirit of revenge, but as a cleansing operation, conducted as impersonally as the hunting down of mad dogs. For Hitler and his kind have been indeed the mad dogs of this generation that must be remorselessly destroyed. Then may arise a clean and sane civilization.

GONE GRANDEUR

That's a nice story told by a columnist about the wife who couldn't decide whether to wear the slightly soiled but elegant kid gloves or the shining white cotton ones. She didn't know whether to be grand or clean. Her husband advised the cotton ones, "since cleanliness is next to godliness, whereas grandeur is next to impossible."

Scarcities, rationing and war consciences are beginning to give a great many formerly elegant people the same realization that grandeur has to go out of the window. It's a little tough, sometimes, for never lived man or woman who did not have moments of wanting to press hard upon grandeur. But take it by and large, if no matter how hard you try you cannot be elegant anyhow, isn't it rather restful to abandon magnificence? Being, in the grandmotherly phrase, "neat'n respectable," and letting it go at that, certainly has its points.

GOAL KICK?

Warnings are given now of a probable "peace offensive" by Hitler. He holds vast territories in spite of recent losses, and might consider himself well off if he could arrange to keep what he has won. It would give him respite to consolidate his gains and assemble fresh resources for another assault.

Something like this happens often at football games. A strong team goes plunging down the field until it is near the goal line, and is then held by the defenders. In imminent danger of losing the ball, the captain decides on a kick for goal.

The Allied defenders must now block that kick.

The to-do about the Ecuador president's visit to Washington may seem exaggerated, but these are times when the Americas have to get together.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

EXERCISE

Some months ago articles appeared in the medical journals in which two prominent physicians warned those over forty of the dangers of exercise. They pointed out that after forty, we are on the way down hill and that exercise would be dangerous to heart and bloodvessels. Neither the heart nor the bloodvessels should be asked to do any unnecessary work, not even "lift a finger."

Most physicians reading the above will agree with the idea behind it and that is that strenuous exercise in those at and past middle age is not necessary to maintain health and can do more harm than good.

Unfortunately, this advice "not to take exercise" was published in the daily papers, sometimes in a humorous way, and can do more harm to the individuals past forty than the exercise many have been taking.

What is a middle aged man or woman who walks to his or her employment instead of riding, does the housework, or plays a round of golf a couple of times a week, or takes five minutes' exercise every morning, going to think about this business of "not lifting a finger unnecessarily"?

He or she is going to lift the finger, the arm, the feet, bend the body, walk some hundreds of yards daily because they know that as far as they are concerned the exercise they take is necessary work.

We all have sense enough to know what would happen to our heart muscle, our lungs, our muscles, our blood vessels, our digestion, our skin, if we loafed or sat down all the time. Every physician knows that he must not let the middle aged or the elderly loaf or take to bed. They would soon become bedridden.

Simple everyday exercise such as walking, housework, non-competitive golf, or swimming, stimulates heart action, keeps blood vessels elastic, stimulates flow of blood through all the organs and working processes, maintains the appetite and prevents constipation.

What these physicians who advised "no exercise" are really telling us is that, as we grow older, we must get rid of the idea that we "need" regular strenuous exercise to keep ourselves healthy. This strenuous exercise may lessen our reserve strength.

The ordinary exercise obtained by walking or light employment, to which most middle aged can add walking and swimming (if they swim naturally without effort) will fulfill the old saying of Roberts of the Boston Y. M. C. A. It is safe, easy, beneficial and pleasing.

Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Wynkoop entertained the immediate family at a "delayed" Thanksgiving dinner. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Asa Wynkoop, and his two brothers; William and Levi Terwilliger, William Wilkenson, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Wynkoop and children, James and Margaret Jane, and Mrs. Cora Burgher.

Mr. and Mrs. Merwin Deyo and son, Stanley, Mrs. Jean Denman and daughters, Jean and Shirley, were Thanksgiving dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Dowell and family.

When the three main divisions of a person's body: head, chest, and hips, are balanced directly over one another, the body is in its best posture.

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

Col. Theodore Roosevelt was the guest speaker at the annual Father and Son banquet held on Friday evening, May 4, 1928, at the local Y. M. C. A., and gave a most interesting talk of his boyhood days with his father, President Theodore Roosevelt, known as the man with the big stick.

During the many years that President Roosevelt was active in Republican politics the cartoonists always featured him as carrying a big stick. His son told many interesting reminiscences of the Roosevelt family life.

It is also interesting to recall that on May 2, 1928, the Business Girls Club of the Y. W. C. A. at its annual meeting elected Mildred Messinger as president; Ruth Bell as vice president; Eva Rand as secretary, and Eva Shook as treasurer.

One of the most active members of the Ulster county Democratic party in the years at the turn of the century was Judge James A. Betts who died in his home on Pearl street on May 7, 1928, aged 75 years.

Judge Betts when he first located in Kingston served two years as principal of the then School No. 11, now School No. 7, on Crown street, and then he entered the law office of Schoonmaker & Linson to take up the study of law. He was admitted to the bar in 1880.

He never lost interest, however, in educational matters in Kingston and served as a member of the former Board of Education from 1885 through 1898.

Judge Betts was a former surrogate of Ulster county, and also served as Supreme Court judge. In addition to his legal affairs he found time to devote himself to the Kingston Hospital, serving for years as a member of the Board of Managers of the hospital, and also as president of the board.

Judge Betts maintained his law office on John street, and was one of the best known members of the Ulster county bar.

Many of the lawyers who were active in Kingston and Ulster county affairs during the years that Judge Betts was active include Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck, Judge A. T. Clearwater, Judge Frederick G. Traver, Frank W. Brooks, Philip Elting, Howard Chipp, Senator Linson, Augustus H. Van Buren, former Mayor William D. Brinnier, former Mayor Palmer Canfield, Judge Frederick Stephan, Jr., and a host of others.

Growing, marketing, and production problems of potato, grain, forage crop and vegetable seeds are considered in the 4th annual seed growers school at the New York State College of Agriculture, at Ithaca, N. Y., Monday and Tuesday, November 23 and 24.

Democrats Themselves Are Starting Movement to Oust Radicals in Party and Prevent Disastrous Defeat

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 1—A movement to reorganize the Democratic party to get rid of the radicals and thus save the party from a disastrous defeat in 1944 has been discussed lately by prominent Democrats, among them some who were defeated in the November elections and among them some who came through successfully but who feel the administration imperilled their seats in Congress.

The movement has gained impetus this week with the knowledge that President Roosevelt is preparing to reshuffle his cabinet and ignore again some of the prominent men in the party who have served in the ranks. It is being asserted that one of the reasons why the administration was blamed at the polls for arbitrary handling of the citizenry on war restrictions is that the men in high New Deal offices do not understand public psychology.

It is a truism of politics that a man who runs for office usually knows how to handle the public when he enters administrative office. With some exceptions, the President's cabinet and some of the higher executives in important war agencies are men who have never held elective office. They have come into prominence solely through the power of appointment, and that is believed to be why they misunderstand or do not have the capacity to understand the trends of public reaction to restrictive measures.

Thus, it is contended by members of Congress on the Democratic side that, while the people do not like restrictions, they accept them and voluntarily obey them when the reasons are properly explained. Much of the irritation manifested at the polls grew out of a doubt as to the real necessity of rationing, for example. The administration's spokesmen were simply not men who could carry conviction with the public.

The dissatisfaction with the President's leadership of the Democratic party goes deeper, however, than his insistence on keeping in high positions the New Dealers. It relates to the fact that in New York state, and in other states, he and his New Deal lieutenants have attempted to take sides against the Democratic party veterans. It is insisted that the party's strength cannot be maintained if the administration undertakes to break down—as it did in New York state—so outstanding a veteran of Democratic state politics as Attorney General Bennett. The behavior of the so-called American Labor party, aided and abetted by New Dealers, was a contributing factor to the defeat of Mr. Bennett, and the incident has not been overlooked by Democrats in other parts of the country.

It is a well-known fact in politics that parties build up their organizations by recognizing those who have toiled for the success of the party. While this does not mean putting incompetents in office, it does mean that, all things being equal, the party leaders get a chance for appointment when they have the proper training and qualifications.

In the present administration, the party men have been thrust aside and the tendency has been to take brain-trusters or radicals whose main achievement thus far has been to help destroy the Democratic party at the polls. Surely in the decade that the Democrats have been triumphant in national elections, somebody else might be found for the cabinet posts. Under previous administrations, nobody expected to serve continuously in the incumbent administration was reelected. Now, with a service of three terms, the veteran Democrats are beginning to wonder if Mr. Roosevelt is concerning himself with the future of the party or with the future of his reform movement.

Some leading Democrats are saying that the President stands a good chance not only of seeing the whole New Deal reform movement, with many of its worthwhile measures, repudiated but he may see his international program wrecked, too, if he fails to keep the Democratic party united behind him.

A good deal of talk is heard often about "winning the war and losing the peace." One way to lose the peace is to enable isolationist Republicans to join with isolationist Democrats at the polls in 1944 in electing a Congress that will be hostile to the President's peace program. Such an adverse happening can be prevented, but the tide is running strongly against the administration because of its insistence on keeping radicals and left-wingers in positions of power during the war. If this trend is not reversed, a landslide in 1944 against the Democratic party would seem to be inevitable—and that's why many friends of the President in the Democratic party are hoping to convince him that a reorganization to rid the party of radicals is a move in the right direction.

Literary Guide

"THE ARMY LIFE," by Private E. J. Kahn, Jr.

Any writer who has had the bad luck to bring out a book under the wings of a fly-away best seller of the same general type will understand the feeling that must lie in Private E. J. Kahn's breast, heavy like lead. Private Kahn's book is called "The Army Life," and Private (now corporal or perhaps sergeant) Hargrove's is, of course, "See Here, Private Hargrove." And this last book has sold well over 200,000 and is kicking up a dust like Margaret Mitchell's one and only literary effort.

For Private Kahn's book is amusing. It is not more amusing than Private Hargrove's book, but there is plenty of fun all the same. By chance, Kahn was at Camp Croft in South Carolina and later at Fort Bragg in the state to the north. And Hargrove was also at Bragg. By another chance, Hargrove's copy was originally written as a column for the Charlotte Observer, and Kahn's was published bit by bit in the New Yorker.

But there the resemblance ends. Kahn is a New Yorker, and his attitude toward the army is one of good humored tolerance. You get the feeling that Private Kahn would be more at home camped in Central Park than in Carolina. Whereas Hargrove approaches the Army with a kind of wide-eyed innocence that is a more nearly universal attitude, and infinitely more charming. His prose is rougher, but stronger, and its mannerisms are the result of inexperience rather than of the chiseling process by which the editors of the New Yorker make every writer's copy sound like every other writer's copy, after publication.

The upshot of this last monkey business is that Kahn's pieces are as alike as the Gold Dust Twins. They are all underwritten, a little sly as to humor, and they rely chiefly on the smug attitude of the professional New Yorker for their effect. Each ends with the New Yorker magazine snap-snap, and when read one after another, the effect is like eating innumerable pieces of the same excellent kind of candy—pleasant, but somewhat monotonous. This is not Private Kahn's fault, nor his publishers. It is just the result of the New Yorker's editorial policy.

It would be helpful all around if you were to rest a week between each chapter of "The Army Life."

Many farm machines wear out faster from rust than from use. Cornell has a War Emergency bulletin that describes lubrication for stored farm machinery, as well as for machinery in use. Single copies are available to New York State residents who write to the Office of Publication at the New York State College of Agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y.

Cash crop farmers who take to their dealer now a list of their needs for treating seeds and for spraying and dusting the crops of 1943, will have the materials when they need them, and will also reduce the number of substitutes they will have to use.

With training at each milking, a cow will give all its milk in 3 to 5 minutes, with the proper use of a milking machine.

Washington In Wartime

By Jack Stinnett

(Second of Two Articles on enemy propaganda in the U. S.)

Washington—Among those persons whose business it is to examine and worry over enemy propaganda that floats into the United States, one of the chief concerns lately is with the "let's-relax-it's-all-over" school of talk.

This is hardly a thought that the Axis could foster openly while still making dire threats about what they are going to do to our troops. Yet it is Axis propaganda.

The reasoning in this school is: We'll take Africa, knock Italy out of the war in a few weeks, open a second front in the south, maybe another in the west, and it will all be over.

* * *

That doesn't take much time in telling, but Army and Navy strategists shoot it as full of holes as the box kite caught in ack-ack. In the first place the Battle of Africa isn't over yet and after that will have to come the Battle of the Mediterranean. Give a thought to how long tough little Malta has held out in this war. Give another to the fact that Hitler, with all his might, didn't dare cross the narrow Channel to invade an England that had almost no army and no air power after Dunkerque.

Remember also that bombing alone has never won a battle and that Genoa, Turin, even Rome could be reduced to rubble without our gaining a foot of ground in Italy.

As for Italy making a separate peace, that's pretty well scouted. There's no government in sight in Italy with which a peace could be made. Before there is, there must be a revolution that will not only have to deal with the Fascists but with the hordes of Nazis now overrunning that land.

Opening of a Western Front will be a task that will take time and planning and a vast concentration of ships and men. Even when all those hurdles are cleared, there still is Japan in the Pacific—a matter which can't be ignored unless we want to expose our own mainland to attack.

* * *

The Axis in Europe has several ways to meet the present threat.

The best guess now, however, is that it probably will dig in for a long war of attrition and in the end a negotiated peace that will leave the Nazis in power. Our job will be to see that even that strategy fails, but it might take more than "lightning war" which is already three years old.

Apples

Springfield, Ill. — President Roosevelt acknowledged receipt of a basket of Illinois "victory" apples—marked with V's—sent from Calhoun county orchard, Supt. of Markets A. Ekstrom, State Department of Agriculture, said.

Each apple had a marking resulting from the V position of small stems and shading of the fruit during the ripening period. They were packed with the V's uppermost.

Here's How I Licked Wartime Constipation!

It was easy after I was told it's often due to lack of "bulk"

"Seems like I was always 'dosing' up on account of constipation. That sort of stuff gets a fellow down.

"Then a friend pointed out that these war days were upsetting our whole way of living. Particularly in how we eat. Said I ought to take care my meals were properly balanced—and make sure I got plenty of 'bulk.' Because lack of 'bulk' is one of the common causes of wartime constipation. Those medicinal laxatives gave me only temporary relief; they didn't get at the cause.

"But, KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN really fixed me up. It corrects this kind of constipation by supplying 'bulk.' And it tastes swell, too. Just eat it regularly and drink plenty of water. ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek."

LEIBHARDT

Liebhardt, Nov. 30—Joan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Crawford, is reported to be improving at the Memorial Hospital in Ellenville. She was badly burned at her home last Sunday when her clothing caught fire.

Mrs. A. H. Davis and children, of Whitfield, with Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Fredd and family were the guests Thanksgiving of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Brown.

Miss Roberta Osterhoudt of Rochester Center visited her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Crawford Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Markle called Sunday morning on her aunt, Mrs. Lillian Brown and son, Wilber, of Samsonville, and on her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Locke.

The district school was closed for the holidays last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brown of Samsonville spent the week-end with relatives in New Jersey.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Pollack and daughter, Barbara Gail, of Ellenville, called on friends here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Quick and daughter, Rose of Rochester Center, are now occupying part of the home of Richard Churchwell.

Elephants Help Removal

Washington, D. C. (AP)—Circus elephants were enlisted in the Norfolk, Va., scrap drive. The Office of War Information reports they helped move junked jalopies and other materials to assembly points for shipment to the steel mills.

Victory Loan of Nine Billions of U. S. Securities

The staff of approximately 160 banks and trust companies of about 40 investment dealers and brokers, and many other volunteer workers are organized and ready today to put the seven counties in this district solidly behind the Victory Loan Drive to sell $9,000,000,000 of U. S. Treasury securities during December, according to a statement issued last night by Joseph E. Hughes, president of the Washington Irving Trust Company of Port Chester and Regional Chairman for Region No. 6 of the Victory Fund Committee of the Second Federal Reserve District.

Expressing confidence that each city and county in Region No. 6 would support the drive wholeheartedly, Dr. Hughes said:

"The Secretary of the Treasury has asked the Victory Fund Committees to do the most important job that they have yet undertaken and we must succeed in that job completely. The nation is now spending for war purposes more than a billion and a half dollars each week, and to win the war it must and will spend any amount necessary. To raise this money, and put the resources of the country behind our armed forces, every individual and every corporation with available cash should lend to the Government by purchasing its securities.

"For the Victory Loan Drive, the Treasury is offering three new issues. One is a 2½ per cent Victory bond, in coupon or registered form, maturing in 26 years and redeemable after 21 years, which is especially suitable for insurance and savings institutions, estates and trust funds, and individual investors. Commercial banks are not permitted to purchase this issue until December 1, 1952.

"The two other new issues are particularly suitable for commercial banks, for individuals desiring shorter term investments, and for corporations having a temporary surplus of funds. They are a 1¾ per cent 5½ year Treasury bond, and a 7/8 per cent one-year certificate of indebtedness. Commercial bank subscriptions to these two issues will be limited to about $2,000,000,000 each, but other subscriptions will be allotted in full. This is with the wise purpose of limiting the inflationary influence of financing through the commercial banks. The public should realize that when the Treasury borrows from banks an expansion of credit occurs which increases the purchasing power of the country. At a time when the supply of goods for civilian use is diminishing, this is inflationary. On the other hand, when Treasury issues are purchased out of accumulated idle funds, no increase in bank credit results.

"In addition to offering the three new issues, the continuous effort to sell Tax Savings Notes and War Savings Bonds will be intensified. The Victory Fund Committee offers Series A and C Tax Notes, which are especially adapted to individuals and corporations accumulating cash for the payment of Federal income, estate or gift taxes, and for investment of temporarily idle funds of individuals, corporations and public bodies. It also offers for the investment of accumulated savings and idle funds, the familiar Series F and G Savings Bonds, which are designated for varying needs of individuals.

"Somewhere in this list every investor will find a security suited to his particular needs. If a U. S. bond today is not the best investment in the world, there is only one that is—a Jap bond. Or a German bond."

KRUMVILLE

Krumville, Dec. 1—John A. Barringer, Mrs. Florence N. Christiana, Lester Barringer and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Smith were dinner guests Thanksgiving Day of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Hover.

Thanksgiving day guests of Mrs. Simon Merrihew and Henry Merrihew were: Mr. and Mrs. Clement Jones of Ellenville, and Mrs. Clarence Eckert.

A wedding anniversary dinner was served in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Hover last Sunday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Smith. Those present were: John A. Barringer, Lester Barringer, and Mrs. Florence N. Christiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenford Davis and daughter, Janet, were guests Sunday of Ernest Christiana, and Mrs. Esther Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Clemont Jones of Ellenville visited last week at the home of Mrs. Jones's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Eckert.

Next Sunday morning, church school will meet at 10 o'clock. Morning divine worship service will meet at 11 o'clock with sermon by the pastor. Subject of sermon will be "A Beautiful Work."

Regents Exams Not To Be Abolished

Says Proposal Would Do More Harm Than Good

Albany — Regents examinations will not be abolished for the duration of the war, an assistant state commissioner of Education declared today. Commenting on recent suggestions that New York state drop its world-famed state examinations, Dr. Edwin R. Van Kleeck, assistant commissioner for instructional supervision, said that the proposal "would do more harm than good." This opinion, he said, is shared by Dr. George M. Wiley, associate commissioner, who, with Doctor Van Kleeck, has supervision of the Divisions of Elementary and Secondary Education and of Examinations and Testing.

"We don't burn down a house to get rid of the rats," Doctor Van Kleeck said. "The faults that may have been present in Regents examinations years ago have been largely eliminated. The values of these examinations have been preserved and new values added. Regents examinations no longer stress the memorization of unrelated factual material. They are tests of scope, of grasp and of the ability to put together related facts and to apply and use information. They are supplemented now by tests of progress worked out by the state education department. They no longer restrict teachers or schools to a narrow, inflexible course of study. On the contrary, they encourage and demand a rich program, adaptable by each teacher to the needs of the individual pupils in each of his classes.

"Schools are not required to use Regents examinations for those pupils whose needs they do not serve. Pupils who will not benefit from Regents subjects, Regent courses, Regents examinations and Regents diplomas need not use them. This has been the case for some years."

Doctor Van Kleeck said that all Regents examinations are prepared by committees of classroom teachers from various parts of the state and from schools of all types.

"These examinations are written by practical teachers out on the 'firing line,'" he said.

"The State Education Department specialists do not write them and, of course, the Board of Regents does not prepare them. Many of the questions are 'tried out.' When a new type of question is contemplated, advance notification is given the schools."

Doctor Van Kleeck said that those who criticized the Regents examinations should first obtain sets of them and read the questions and notice the provision in every examination for a choice among questions. Questions nowadays are closely related to the war, he said.

"Tests and examinations of varied and varying types are needed now more than ever. It is the use rather than the abuse of any system of tests which should determine its value," according to Doctor Wiley.

Pastries Bow To War

Washington (AP)—Gourmets of New Orleans are beginning to discover that tasty French rolls, poppy seed rolls, "pistolets," "frogs" and other fascinating breadstuffs are practically off the menu.

More than 100 New Orleans bakers are in the armed services, according to the Office of War Information, and many more are in war industries. Fancy breads and pastries are mostly out for the duration, their places taken by long French bread and "poor boy" buns.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Spelling Bee

Bethlehem, Pa.—In five years, Chemistry Professor Harold Anderson complained, Lehigh University test papers carried exactly 62 different spellings of the word "nucleus."

Professor Anderson reported his count to Brown and White, student newspaper.

Gasoline by the Ounce

Pittsburgh—Ray R. Smith, perspiring attendant at a suburban Avalon gasoline station crowded with motorists filling up tanks a few hours before gas rationing went into effect at midnight, asked a pretty young girl driver how much she wanted.

"Fill her up," said the Miss.

"And her tank would take only four cents worth, 2/11 of a gallon," Smith declared.

Triple-Threat

Gilt-Edged Livestock

Murphy, Idaho—This little pig went to market—and with the aid of some barnyard friends — netted the U. S. War Bond campaign more than $5,000. The pig, a calf, some chickens, eight cakes, a blanket and a sack of potatoes were auctioned off for that amount at a bond social.

Easy on the Cook

Nuts

Los Angeles—Because of a peanut, State Rationer Paul Barksdale is limping today. The peanut lodged in his windpipe. He stood on his head and his wife whacked him on the back. Out popped the goober. But as Barksdale lowered his feet he struck and bruised his toe on an iron smoking stand.

False Alarm

Boise, Idaho—Mayor Austin W. Walker retired for the night after setting his alarm for 7:30 a. m.

He awakened a few hours later and found the alarm set at 2:30. He re-set it. Another hour passed and he awoke again. This time the alarm was set at 11 o'clock. He re-set it again and spent the rest of the night trying to catch the clock in the act.

He didn't.

Over Enthusiastic

Springfield, Ill.—O. G. Chapman, divisional special agent for an Illinois railroad received orders to "go to Mattoon, and don't leave until you find out who removed those spikes from the track."

Instead of finding a saboteur Chapman found three youths who, he said, had removed 57 spikes and several tie plates from the tracks and turned the equipment in to the scrap drive.

Name Didn't Help

San Francisco—Safer Safer was brought into Municipal Court yesterday on a charge of having unsafe brakes on his automobile.

LISTEN—that sound you hear tonight—it's a nation at war!

From the chattering machine shops of Syracuse to the roaring airplane plants of Detroit . . . from the thundering furnaces of Pittsburgh to the pounding, clanging forges of St. Louis . . .

Millions of men are shaping the weapons of war.

The American Railroads are at war.

Twenty years ago they began preparing for whatever emergency might come.

Since then . . . tracks . . . bridges . . . signals . . . yards . . . shops . . . terminals . . . have been greatly improved.

More powerful locomotives and better cars have been put into service.

Shippers have cooperated in a great voluntary movement to make better, more efficient use of railroad facilities.

These are some of the reasons why America's railroads have been able to meet the heavy demands of the greatest emergency in their history—why this year they have been able to carry just about double the volume of freight and passenger traffic that they moved in 1939, when Hitler invaded Poland.

But there is a limit. As seen by Joseph B. Eastman, Director, Office of Defense Transportation, there is "a clear and definite need for new locomotives and new freight cars . . . and if we are to attain and maintain maximum utilization of existing facilities, they must be kept in prime order and repair."

Facing still greater demands upon their facilities in the coming crucial year, railroad men are steeling themselves to meet whatever lies ahead. Given the tools—the steel—to work with, they mean to see to it that the lights guiding vital railroad transport remain green from coast to coast.

Levine Returns For Brief Stay

Uncle Sam's 'Shortest' Has Furlough; Attends Radio School

"Shorty" came to town this morning.

In other words Sergeant Lawrence Levine, son of Mrs. Ray Levine of 66 Pine Grove avenue, arrived in this city early today and while Uncle Sam's four-foot, nine-inch soldier was drinking some coffee at a Strand restaurant, a Freeman representative managed to collect a few interesting notes.

Sergeant Levine, who is reported as the shortest soldier in the present army, came back to his home town this morning after a long train ride from Salt Lake City, Utah, where he is now stationed. Prior to his western camp, he was at Fort Myers, Fla. He entered the Army last August and since then has made remarkable gains.

"Shorty" will spend about eight days here of a 15-day furlough. "It takes quite a bit of time to travel from here to Utah," said the sergeant, "so although our furlough is for 15 days, it isn't that long when you have to make plans for traveling."

While Sergeant Levine was drinking his coffee this morning it was very evident that he was tired after the long journey from the western state but he was obliging in answering questions put to him. He is now attending radio school at Salt Lake. Previous to that he had been graduated as a full-fledged gunner from the Florida school.

The Kingston soldier, when asked out about army life was very much in praise of it. "I think the army life is great," he replied. "I advise all young fellows to get in now. It's a thrill you'll never forget."

He continued by saying "army life is something like going to school every day. It's just something that the soldier must realize he has to keep on his toes. Your professors are your soldier officers. If you go in with the idea of doing good and also to make something of yourself, a prospective soldier will do all right." Sergeant Levine then illustrated a few incidents of army life where various men he knew didn't have the right attitude about taking tests. "They figured they couldn't pass those tests," he said, "but when a few of the other soldiers took them in hand, the fellows came through with flying colors."

The sergeant also was much in praise of the western scenes of beauty. "You know," he said, "lots of people go traveling to Europe and other foreign lands to see beauty. But they must fail to realize what grand scenes of beauty we have right here in the United States. Out in Utah we're surrounded by mountains, snow-capped mountains at that. What a thrill it is when you get up in the morning to look out and see those peaks covered with snow."

At about this time Sergeant Levine was through with his coffee and mentioned that he hadn't been home yet, so he took his leave.

Elks Will Hold Memorial Service

Mendelssohn Club Will Participate in Program

The annual memorial services in memory of departed Elks will be held by Kingston Lodge, No. 550, B. P. O. E., Sunday evening at 8 o'clock at the Elks' Home, Fair street, when services in memory of local Elks, who have died during the past year will be held on the eve of Pearl Harbor. Exalted Ruler Louis G. Bruhn extends a welcome to the public as well as all Elks to attend this service.

Members of the Mendelssohn Club of this city will participate in the program with vocal selections. The eulogy will be by the Rev. Frank L. Gollnick, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church of this city. The invocation will be by the Rev. Father Hughes of Sawkill, and the benediction by Rabbi Herbert L. Bloom.

Among the members of Kingston Lodge, No. 550, who have died since the last memorial services held last year on the night of Pearl Harbor, are Lewis S. Chandler, former lieutenant governor of New York state; the Hon. G. D. B. Hasbrouck of this city, and several other local members.

LEARN HOW TO FORAGE

Melbourne (AP)—Australian troops will be taught how to forage for food in the bush country just as the black aborigines of Australia do. A new instruction course, designed to make troops self-sustaining if they are cut off from supplies, was announced today. The troops will learn that roots of certain trees contain water; four teaspoonsful of water are obtainable from a frog dug out of dried mud; certain spruces, yams, cycene nettles, and saltbush are edible substitutes for spinach; big white and pink witchetty or pellah grubs are a native delicacy that tastes toasted on a hot stone like bread.

setting of explosives on the 60 odd ships in the harbor.

These sources said that none of the captains went down with their ships as earlier reported but that "everything was scuttled—even the harbor tugboats."

They reported Admiral De La Borde was interned as a civilian at Aix En Provence.

French crewmen at Toulon were put on the alert immediately when the Allies landed in North Africa, it was said, and when the Germans sent to occupy south France reached the Toulon defenses November 12 and sent delegates demanding surrender of the base, the answer was:

"Withdraw or we fire."

The Germans withdrew and while Hitler was sending larger forces to overcome the French marines, Berlin issued a statement "congratulating" the French commander on his decisions to defend Toulon "against aggression."

When the Germans returned in force, it was declared, the seacocks of the mighty fleet were opened and the charges exploded. Most of the ships heeled over on reaching bottom, although the superstructures of some of the larger ships are still showing.

The captain of the submarine Casblanca, safe in Algiers, said the first warning he and his crew had of the German attack was the firing of a shore battery on German ground troops. Later planes appeared, he said.

The captain said he waited all day Friday for "orders to fight," but they "never came" and when night came his submarine slipped through the mines out of the harbor.

The Vichy radio reported today that gates of Toulon naval arsenal were ordered closed until further notice yesterday when rioting broke out over an order to resume work there.

Salvage Committee Releases Report

contributors: 856 tons or 1,712,000 lbs.

From city of Kingston (car rails): 335 tons or 670,000 lbs.

The quota assigned was 100 lbs. per person.

The committee's thanks are due the Lions Club which supplied men and trucks for moving heavy scrap; to local men, school boys and Boy Scouts who worked on the trucks; to the Girl Scouts for distributing leaflets; to Arthur Morrill, chief air raid warden, and all wardens working with him on whom the success of contacting householders depended. The committee also wishes to express appreciation to the management of the Kingston Theatre whose "Scrap Matinee" netted three tons of salvage; to the Department of Public Works whose trucks made the drive possible, and whose drivers under the leadership of Max Oppenheimer were unfailingly courteous and helpful; to the city Engineering Department which supplied maps of each ward and to Mrs. McCaffrey for routing the trucks on these maps; to the Office of Civilian Defense for receiving and relaying telephone calls; to the Y. M. C. A. for the use of a room for committee meetings and for acting as dispatch depot for trucks and workers each Saturday. The press of Kingston has actively cooperated with us and made many helpful suggestions; and both R. F. Buck and B. Millens and Sons have been fine people with whom to do business.

The fact that Kingston went over the top and more than made its quota is the result of the cooperation of all our citizens and our wholehearted thanks goes to all of them.

From the moneys realized from the sale of scrap metal, we have allocated $500 to the local service committee and $250 to the Red Cross Kit Campaign.

Dawson Given Two Weeks' Adjournment to Pay Bills

An adjournment for two weeks was granted Herman Dawson, a negro of 7 West Strand, who was arrested on November 22, charged with third degree assault. Dawson is alleged to have beaten Vitema Jackson with a shoe so badly that she required hospital and medical attendance. Judge Matthew V. Cahill in police court today, said that he was granting the adjournment to afford Dawson an opportunity to pay the woman's hospital and doctor bills.

Edward Bradford of Connelly, charged with public intoxication on Hasbrouck avenue, Monday, was fined $5 by Judge Cahill today.

Clark Decorated By Eisenhower

By WES GALLAGHER

Allied Healquarters in North Africa, Dec. 1 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today personally decorated Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark with the distinguished service medal for his "outstanding characteristics of leadership, sound judgment, and soldierly qualities" in carrying out a hazardous secret mission to Africa before the allied invasion.

Eisenhower, a West Point companion of Clark, decorated the tall, youngest lieutenant general in the U. S. army in a simple ceremony.

The citation said:

"General Clark, as deputy commander in chief of the allied North African force, rendered distinguished service to the United States army in connection with planning the organization for operations in Africa.

"As deputy commander, he carried out a vitally important and hazardous mission to Algiers by submarine, and conducted it with conspicuous success important to negotiations with the French official staff. In all these duties he displayed outstanding characteristics of leadership, sound judgment, and soldierly qualities to honor the army of the United States."

When Clark was decorated, he was flanked by the greatest collection of top-ranking generals and gold braid thus far assembled at headquarters here—and by Negro Sergeant William Chaney of Washington, D. C.

Chaney was the proudest man in the American army here today, for he has been Clark's orderly for many years. He stood with Admiral Sir Andrew Browne Cunningham of the British navy, Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle, and a dozen other British and American generals while his chief was decorated.

In 18 months nearly 238,000,000 pounds of dried eggs have been shipped from the United States to British, Russian and other Allied destinations.

Wounded Sailors Show Traditional Bravery of Navy

By CHARLES McMURTRY

With the U. S. Fleet in the Pacific, Dec. 1, (AP).—A seventeen-year-old kid named Russell lay on the deck of our crippled carrier trying hard to smile. His fists were clenched, but tears just would leak out the corners of his eyes and trickle down his smoke-begrimed face.

Russell was badly burned and suffering intensely. But sailors don't complain. And Russell's a sailor, a wounded war veteran—at an age for a boy to be in school and timidly asking a girl for a date, or playing baseball and football.

But Russell's fighting to win this war—fighting alongside men old enough to be his father. As a doctor applied soothing ointment, the boy tried to smile, and asked:

"Doctor, am I brace enough?"

A private first class from New York city stuck with his gun after shrapnel tore away his upper front teeth and gums. He had to be ordered away. With his mouth almost hidden in bandages he tried to give everyone a friendly smile. Complain? Sure and why not—but only about one thing:

"Soup, nothing but soup. They had steak for breakfast and all I could do was smell it."

Then tere was Lieut. Comdr. E. L. Calhoun, a medical officer, of Hoquiam, Wash., who underwent an appendectomy complicated by peritonitis just eight days before the battle. On the morning of the engagement, he fell and ripped open a corner of his incision.

Commander Calhoun was in a cruiser to which 98 injured men were taken. He worked with them for 16 hours until ship's officers put him to bed, and then worked 12 hours more daily for another five days and undoubtedly saved many lives.

Many men can thank the middle-aged unassuming Calhoun for recovering without scars. I can vouch for that. Many days later I am still lying with one finger, but evidently will have no scars and my burned hands are healing surprisingly fast.

John J. Costello Named Supervisor

Fills Vacancy Caused by Death of Carl Laicher of Sixth Ward

John J. Costello of 71 Ann street has been appointed supervisor of the Sixth Ward to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Supervisor Carl Laicher. The appointment was made Monday by Mayor William F. Edelmuth and became effective today.

Supervisor Costello has been active in Democratic politics in the city for many years. He served as city marshal for two terms during the administration of Judge Bernard A. Culloton as city judge. For a number of years he was employed by the state highway department on the Rondout Creek Bridge, and for the past year has been employed as a rodman in the city engineer's office.

Home Defense

There will be an important meeting for all Air Raid Wardens, Auxiliary Police, and Auxiliary Firemen in the Emma Weygant school, East Kingston at 8 p. m. Wednesday, December 2. All those in election district No. 3 and adjoining district No. 2, town of Ulster, who are interested are cordially invited to attend.

It is imperative that details be perfected for the protection of East Kingston and the surrounding territory in case of an emergency.

THE MOST IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT EVER MADE BY THE U. S. TREASURY DEPARTMENT

The 9 Billion Dollar Victory Loan Drive Is On!

This week the United States Government begins the task of borrowing nine billion dollars within the next several weeks as an essential part of winning the war more quickly and more completely.

During these critical weeks you probably will be visited by a representative of one of the securities firms or banks which are contributing their time and effort — without compensation of any kind — to the Victory Fund Committee. He will explain to you, for instance, the benefits that you can obtain from the new Victory 2½'s —available for the first time. Welcome him as a war worker when he calls. If you miss him, ask your banker or securities dealer for full particulars. There is no limit to the amount that you can purchase.

Today many American families are torn apart. Millions have left their homes or their jobs; thousands have given their lives and many more are prepared to do so.

But the government, your government, is not asking you to give anything to this Nine Billion Dollar Drive. It is asking you to lend it all of the money you can possibly invest in what is the safest investment in the world—at a good rate of interest.

When the victory Fund representative calls, please remember this: it is in your own interest, as well as that of your country, to listen to him—and to invest.

BUY THESE VICTORY 2½'s NOW

Twenty-six year 2½ per cent bonds due December 15, 1969, callable December 15, 1965. Issued in coupon or registered form at the option of the buyer. Commercial banks will not be permitted to hold these bonds until ten years after the date of issue. There is no limit on the amount any eligible investor may purchase. Interest is paid semi-annually, June 15 and Dec. 15. The bonds will be sold in denominations from $500 to $100,000. In the event of the death of a holder, the bonds may be redeemed at 100% and accrued interest for the purpose of satisfying federal estate taxes.

Two series of shorter term obligations: (a) 1¾ per cent bonds due June 15, 1948, and (b) ¾ per cent certificates of indebtedness due one year after issuance. These securities are open for subscription by banks, and also by all other classes of investors, whether private, corporate or institutional.

Other Treasury Securities offered to investors through the Victory Fund Committee are Treasury Tax Savings Notes A and C, and U. S. Savings Bonds, Series F and G.

HIGH FALLS

High Falls, Nov. 30 — A dance for the benefit of the High Falls Civic Association will be held at the Firemen's Hall on Saturday, December 5, at 8:30 p. m. Music for modern and old-fashioned dancing will be furnished by Jones' Orchestra. The proceeds will go toward erecting a service tablet in honor of the boys from High Falls who are now in the service. Refreshments will be served. Everyone is invited.

The first meeting of the Public Health Committee of the town of Marbletown will be held at the Episcopal Parish Hall in Stone Ridge, Tuesday evening, December 1, at 8 p. m. A guest speaker will be present to talk on nutrition and well balanced meals. Everyone interested in keeping the community strong during war time is welcome.

Corp. Harold Bush is spending a 10-day furlough with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ayers and family spent Thanksgiving Day with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gray of Kerhonkson.

TRADE MARK REG.

By Junius

When writing letters during these war times, we suggest you end your letters with something of a patriotic note, such as:
Yours for America
Yours for Victory . . . —
Yours for Free Peoples
Yours for Our Glorious Flag
Yours for America and Democracy
Yours for Uncle Sam and all his Nephews and Nieces
Many other similar wordings you no doubt can evolve yourself, but the idea is a good one, and we suggest it in all sincerity.

It was before rationing had been adopted, and Mrs. Murphey asked the price of a pound of coffee, and the grocer replied, "58c".

Mrs. Murphey—Why, isn't that high?

Grocer—Well, due to the shortage the price has gone up.

Mrs. Murphey—What about your ceiling price? Why I can buy the same brand down at the corner grocery for only 34c.

Grocer—Well, why don't you buy it there?

Mrs. Murphey—Because he is out of coffee.

Definitions

Eternal Triangle—Any love affair that isn't on the square.

Mother—Did you mail the letter for me, Junior?

Junior—Yes, Mother Dear, and here's your three cents back.

Mother—How in the world did you mail a letter without a stamp?

Junior—Oh, it was easy. I just slipped it in the box when no one was looking.

Mother—Junior, if you are always kind and polite to all of your playmates, what will they think of you?

Junior—Some of them would think they could lick me.

Keep the home fires burning and the fires from burning the home.

Groom—That's the umpire, dear.

Groom—To keep from biting the players, precious.

SUDDEN THOUGHT: The icy walks are hard to stand up on and equally hard to sit down on.

Mother—Why are you going to all that trouble to open that letter so carefully?

Daughter—Oh, I had a quarrel with George, and I intend to send his letter back unopened. I thought I would just see what he said before I returned it.

Do you remember when they used to say:

. . . "it isn't the original cost, its the upkeep?"

. . . "it isn't the money, its the principle of the thing?"

. . . "I don't see how they can afford it?"

. . . "what do you know that I don't know?"

. . . "you and who else?"

. . . "I'll bet you tell that to all the girls?"

. . . "is it cold enough for you?"

Churches Described At Club Meeting

The Men's Club of the First Baptist Church had as their guest speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the club Monday evening, November 30, the Rev. C. Henry Atkinson of the Building Council Department of the American Baptist Home Mission Society.

Following a shrimp chow mein supper with which the club began the evening's activities, the Rev. Mr. Atkinson showed a series of slides on the exteriors and interiors of churches throughout the world. Among the churches shown were Indian Missions, English country type churches, Spanish churches on the Pacific coast, New England colonial type church, log cabin churches in Maine, the Riverside Church in New York city, Phillips Brooks church in Boston, and the Puerto Rican Baptist Church. The latter is constructed of reinforced steel because of earthquakes and is considered a tremendous engineering feat as well as a master work of architecture.

The Rev. Mr. Atkinson discussed the importance architecturally and spiritually of the parts of the church such as lighting, pulpits, church furniture, church grounds, children's rooms, kitchens, recreation rooms, windows, doorways and Sunday school rooms. He concluded that churches should be planned and built to meet the spiritual needs of the community and not just as architectural masterpieces alone.

Following this excellent presentation, President William S. Jackson opened the regular business meeting of the club by paying tribute to Arthur Jones, secretary of the club, who enlisted in the Engineering Corps of the U. S. Army and is now stationed at Camp Breckenridge, Ky.

The club voted to accept the invitation of the Men's Club of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer to attend a party of games, motion pictures, and dartball at the latter church, December 15. Such informal gatherings are encouraged by the Federation of Men's Clubs to take the place of regularly scheduled dartball games and other activities which have been curtailed due to the war.

The club voted to donate a sum of money to the Thanksgiving offering of the church. The meeting was then adjourned.

The next meeting of the First Baptist Men's Club will be held on Monday evening, December 28.

Mrs. Murphy Is Hostess For Olympian Club Meeting

Mrs. James J. Murphy, Jr., was hostess last evening to the regular meeting of the Olympian Club at her home, 255 Pearl street. The discussion of the evening was on Robert Burns. Miss Anna McCullough gave a sketch of his life and also read a few of his poems.

Plans were made for the annual Christmas party to be held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Cragin, 5 Ponckhockie street, on the next meeting night, December 14. Mrs. George Dingee will assist Mrs. Cragin with the arrangements.

Century Club Arranges For Stocking Drive

The drive for old silk stockings is being conducted in the city by the Twentieth Century Club as part of their war service program. Any silk, nylon or rayon stockings or the combinations of any of these are acceptable but the stockings must be thoroughly washed before being contributed.

Twelve merchants have been contacted for the placing of containers in the various stores and a list of these will be published in a few days. In the meantime, women are urged to gather all of their old stockings for this drive. Mrs. C. B. Dickinson is chairman of the drive.

Immigrant Groups Are Discussed By Sorosis

"On the Trail of the Immigrant" was the topic of the paper given by Mrs. Lorraine Wood at the meeting of Sorosis yesterday afternoon. The club met with Mrs. Grover Lasher at her home, 75 Lucas avenue.

Mrs. Wood divided the classes of immigrants according to nationalities and told of the work which each group has done in America. She spoke of the Scandanavian and German people who have become substantial citizens and who are most easily absorbed in the country; of the working class groups of Slavs and Poles; the Bohemians who have worked in the cigar industry; the Hungarian steel workers; Italian farming groups; Greek confectioners; and the Orientals who are found in almost all of the industries. Mrs. Wood told of the characteristics of each group and how they have brought assets to America.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Theron Culver, 83 Washington avenue, December 7. Mrs. A. Noble Graham, will give the paper on "Original Festivals."

Celebrate 20th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Fuoco of 60 Hanratty street celebrated their 20th wedding anniversary, Saturday, November 28. A party was held in their honor at their home.

Concert Pianist to Appear

WITOLD MALCUZYNSKI

Witold Malcuzynski, last pupil of Paderewski, and winner of honors and awards in his brief but brilliant career abroad, will be the artist presented by the Cooperative Concert Association, Monday evening, December 7, in the Kingston High School Auditorium. He made his American debut in April at Carnegie Hall, under the patronage of Jan Ciechanowski, Polish ambassador to the United States.

At the outbreak of the war, Mr. Malcuzynski was concertizing in the Balkans. He canceled his tour and returned to Poland. Soon after he and his wife went to Paris. The day the Nazis entered the French capital, the Malcuzynskis fled just ahead of the invaders. Through the influence of a South American music lover whom he met in Lisbon, a concert tour was arranged in South America. At this time Yehudit Menuhin, passing through Montevideo, heard one of Malcuzynski's concerts and urged him to come to America.

Witold Malcuzynski is the second in the series of four Community Concerts held this season. He replaces Dalies Frantz, American pianist, who enlisted in the Air Corps. The concert begins at 8:30 o'clock and as usual no one will be seated during the first group, once the concert has begun.

Personal Notes

Mr. and Mrs. James J. O'Connor, Jr., of 15 Foxhurst Lane, Manhasset, L. I., announce the birth of their second daughter, Susan Catherine O'Connor, born November 23. Mr. O'Connor is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. O'Connor of 19 Johnston avenue.

Stanley E. Cahill, second class petty officer, U. S. Coast Guard, has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Cahill of 129 Pine Grove avenue, during the holiday week-end.

Eugene Mentnech, senior of Clarkson College, has returned after spending the Thanksgiving vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. Mentnech of Albany avenue extension.

Miss Berit Arnold of Hempstead, L. I., was the Thanksgiving week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Baker of 156 Smith avenue. She returned to her home yesterday.

Miss Angela Goffredi, a student at the New York School of Interior Decoration, spent the Thanksgiving holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Goffredi of Clinton avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rick of Albany avenue spent the week-end at Bethel, Conn.

HOBBY GIFTS

Think of his oh her hobby when selecting Christmas gifts. The music enthusiast will always enjoy a new record for his collection. The amateur photographer never has all of his snapshots in an album. The bookworm will welcome the latest best-seller, or name-plates for the books he has already collected.

JINGE BELLS

Births Recorded

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Cuff of 29 North Wilbur avenue, a son, William Michael, in Kingston Hospital.

HOW BEST TO SERVE LIQUEURS AFTER DINNER

A tray with several bottles of liqueurs on it and numerous little glasses would be rather awkward to pass from hand to hand at a dinner table—at least so it seems to me! The answer therefore to one who asks, "How is it best to serve after dinner cordials and coffee at the dinner table and in the living room, without a maid? Also, are they correctly called cordials or liqueurs?" is this:

Without a maid (and very often with one—or more) the hostess sits at a low coffee table, with coffee equipment on it and makes as well as pours the coffee, a cup at a time for each guest. The tray of liqueurs is put on another table and people help themselves or else are served by the host. Or it may be that the tray is placed at one side of the coffee table and liqueurs poured by the hostess as soon as she has poured the coffee. To the second question: Liqueurs is the usual name used but cordials is not incorrect.

No Furlough Wedding

Dear Mrs. Post: I will have to travel 1500 miles to where my fiance is stationed, to be married there instead of here at home. It is doubtful if our parents will even be present. Do you think it better to send invitations to such a wedding, or announcements afterward?

Answer: While it is perfectly proper to send engraved invitations to a wedding even though you know your friends can not possibly go to it, I think under these particular circumstances of a ceremony rather than a wedding it might be better to write notes to your really intimate friends and members of your family, telling them that you are going to the coast to be married on such a day; that you wish they could be with you but you know they will be thinking of you and sending you their good wishes. After your marriage send announcements to your own and the other family's visiting lists.

When in Doubt, Ask

Dear Mrs. Post: Several years ago I met a man who came here to town to work. We were very good friends—absolutely nothing more. He used to talk to me about this girl he was in love with, and hoped to marry, back home. Then he left here and married his sweetheart. Now I've just heard from a mutual friend that he is stationed at a camp on the edge of this town and that his wife is staying alone at the hotel in town and that she is not able to see very much of him. I know if the tables were turned I would appreciate someone looking me up, but I hesitate to make any advances because it is possible she may never have heard of me. And if I say I'm an old friend she may get to wondering why he didn't talk of me. And yet, excepting as an old friend I wouldn't be going to see her!

Answer: I think exactly as you do and if I were you I should write him, tell him I hear his wife is at the hotel and that I would love to get to see her if he and his wife would like me to do so.

Great American Rudeness

The outstanding rudeness in America is that of the hostess who helps herself when there is a woman guest at the table. Mrs. Post discusses this fault in serving, and others, in her booklet, "The Etiquette of Service," No. 503, which can be obtained by writing her in care of The Freeman, P. O. Box 75, Station O., New York, N. Y., enclosing 10 cents in coins and a 3-cent stamp to cover costs.

Teachers' College News

New Paltz, Dec. 1 — Sorority rushing parties were held at the sorority houses last week in the following form: The freshman girls were entertained at the various sorority houses on Tuesday and Wednesday. Luncheon, tea, dinner and evening invitations were received. Bids were given out on Thursday and the conflict parties to honor these pledges were held November 21. The Agonian Sorority served a formal dinner with Mrs. Taylor the faculty advisor, present. Arethusa served a formal dinner at which the faculty advisor Miss Dorothy Giddings was guest. A buffet dinner was given at the Artemis House with Miss Gertrude Nichols and Dr. and Mrs. Howard Mosher as guests. This was followed by a fashion show and dancing. Clionian Sorority served a buffet dinner which was attended by the faculty advisor, Miss Mary J. Muffly and by a past member living in town, Mrs. Bertha Denniston. Theta Phi and Phi Sigma Lambda also served formal dinners. Formal pledging took place on Monday evening, November 23. Among the New Paltz residents were: Helen Bleecker to Agonian; Gloria Gardner, Mary Jane Hasbrouck and Betty Langwick to Arethusa; Mary Glancy to Artemis; Lillian DePuy and Frances Barnhart to Clionian.

CHRISTMAS HINT

If you're knitting Christmas gifts, don't forget sister who loves to read in bed. She'll adore a cuddly bed jacket to keep her warm when the heat is turned off.

CHILL CHASER

A bright red or green quilted vest is an attractive gift for the girl who shivers and freezes around the house when the temperatures is below 70. She'll probably wear it under her winter coat too.

Proclamation

Mayor William F. Edelmuth today issued the following proclamation urging all to contribute generously to the annual Christmas Seal sale in Kinggston:

WHEREAS, The United States, for the first time since 1917, is facing a wartime rise in tuberculosis, and

WHEREAS, Tuberculosis, the greatest disease enemy of persons between 15 and 45 years of age, is one of the greatest saboteurs in this country, and

WHEREAS, It is imperative that every individual in Kingston learn and practice self-protection, and

WHEREAS, The Christmas Seal is one of our most valued and far-reaching traditions—a tradition that saves life, and

WHEREAS, The Ulster County Tuberculosis Association, in order to carry on its expanded program, must have the full support of the citizens of Kingston,

THEREFORE, I, WILLIAM F. EDELMUTH, MAYOR OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON do hereby call upon every man, woman and child to contribute as generously as possible to the Christmas Seal Sale to the end that the so-far victorious campaign against tuberculosis may continue unabated throughout this City of Kingston, New York.

19 Whooping Cough Cases Here in November

There were 19 cases of whooping cough reported in Kingston during November, according to the records in the office of the Board of Health at the city hall, while in October there were 27 cases of the disease reported.

It is interesting to note that of the 19 cases last month five were among children of school age, while the other cases were those of children of pre-school age, and several adults.

During November there were 13 cases of pneumonia reported in Kingston.

The health board records show that no cases of scarlet fever have been reported in Kingston since last June, when one case was recorded that month.

Shopping by taxi has spurted in London since the rationing of gasoline.

Strip Teaser May Perform in Court

Judge Gives Description of Margie Hart's Act for Jurors on Case

New York, Dec. 1 (AP) — There was some doubt today whether the judge would permit strip-tease Margie Hart and other stars of "Wine, Women and Song" to perform in court, but jurors had mental picture of the show bumps and grinds, supplied by city magistrate who saw it three times.

Easily the sensation of the first act in the trial of three officials of the show on charges of giving an indecent performance was Justice Stephen S. Jackson, who described in detail in General Sessions yesterday what a strip-tease artist does to send her audience into uproarious applause.

He pictures one "priority" scene in which Miss Hart removes her clothes, including hat and muff while three actors help her along.

Justice Jackson said that Miss Hart held each article of clothing a moment, then dropped it, saying "Take it off for Mr. Ickes, take it off for Donald Nelson."

The justice, whose attendance at performances of the show was in line of duty as a reviewer for the Catholic Theatre Movement, said Miss Noel Toy, another performer, in one act wore only one small article of apparel.

Justice Jackson drew a "V" which started at his shoulders and ended at his abdomen to describe a low-necked dress worn by Miss Hart in another scene.

He said that Jimmy Savo, comedian, "Gazed down at her with what seemed to be a magnifying glass and smirked."

Defense counsel for I. H. Herlihy, producer; Samuel Funt, company manager, and Herman Shapiro, stage manager, have offered to bring the performers into court or to take the court and jury of five women and seven men to see the show.

PARSNIP POETRY

A newspaper man made some experiments with coffee made of roasted parsnips and was not really happy over the result—but he did not like parsnips to start with. A reader writes to tell him his "article on parsnip coffee and insults against that king of vegetables are, to say the least, tiresome."

Parsnips are a boon to victory gardens, she says, needing only to be planted and watered occasionally, left in the ground to be dug as needed, for freezing only improves an already delicious flavor. She then waxes lyrical:

"Were I describing parsnips I would compare their color to mellow old ivory, call their flavor sweet as honey, their taste divine. I would never mess around trying to make coffee out of something Someone very much wiser than you intended to grow, be eaten and taste as parsnips. Drink water if necessary instead of coffee, but please let parsnips be parsnips."

It is wonderful to find the often despised parsnip acquiring so stout a defender. And indeed, have the parsnip-despisers ever tried them properly cooked? Take a cold night, with pork chops. Parboil the parsnips, then fry in butter or with the chops to a beautiful brown-and-ivory. Gifts of the gods!

Let those carp who will. Some folks can be poetical about parsnips.

WAR IN SPAIN?

Every so often it is reported that Hitler's next move will be against Spain, and always the rumor proves false. If Hitler did not adequately consider Napoleon's unhappy experience when he attacked Russia, he seems to have given it some thought in the case of Spain.

Well he might, for Spain was as much responsible for Napoleon's downfall as the Moscow campaign itself. Realizing this, he said during the captivity at St. Helena: "The unfortunate war in Spain ruined me. All my defeats came from this source. The Spanish war destroyed my reputation in Europe, increased my embarrassments, and provided the best training ground for the English soldiers. I myself trained the English army in the Peninsula."

Two proverbs explain this. "Spain is a country where small armies are beaten and large armies starve. And as the Spaniards themselves put it, "The swallow flying across Spain must carry his own grain."

Hitler may yet invade Spain, but he will sign his own death warrant when he does.

FEWER SPECTATORS

The annual Harvard-Yale football game generally has little bearing on the national championship, but great importance for the followers of both universities. So great has been the desire to see this struggle, which goes back to 1875, that for an outsider to get a ticket has been all but impossible. This is true even when the game is in the Yale Bowl, which holds 80,000, twice as many as the Harvard stadium. This year the game was at Yale, but had only 21,000 spectators. Gasoline restrictions and war absences presumably afford the answer.

How Harvard's Percy Haughton and Yale's Walter Camp, who year after year directed victorious teams for their colleges and are now perhaps working out superplays in some athletic Valhalla, would have sat up and taken notice at hearing of a Harvard-Yale football game with three out of every four seats empty!

DAWN OF CIVILIZATION

The great Nazi crime wave has passed its peak and is rapidly declining. Hitler and his diabolical system may be expected to go out in a wave of terror, but that may be the end of organized terror in Europe for at least a generation. And a new generation may be wise enough not to let such perils to civilization get another start.

The job now is to continue the war against the destroyers implacably until they themselves are destroyed, root and branch. First the European destroyers, then the Asiatic. And not in a mere spirit of revenge, but as a cleansing operation, conducted as impersonally as the hunting down of mad dogs. For Hitler and his kind have been indeed the mad dogs of this generation that must be remorselessly destroyed. Then may arise a clean and sane civilization.

GONE GRANDEUR

That's a nice story told by a columnist about the wife who couldn't decide whether to wear the slightly soiled but elegant kid gloves or the shining white cotton ones. She didn't know whether to be grand or clean. Her husband advised the cotton ones, "since cleanliness is next to godliness, whereas grandeur is next to impossible."

Scarcities, rationing and war consciences are beginning to give a great many formerly elegant people the same realization that grandeur has to go out of the window. It's a little tough, sometimes, for never lived man or woman who did not have moments of wanting to press hard upon grandeur. But take it by and large, if no matter how hard you try you cannot be elegant anyhow, isn't it rather restful to abandon magnificence? Being, in the grandmotherly phrase, "neat'n respectable," and letting it go at that, certainly has its points.

GOAL KICK?

Warnings are given now of a probable "peace offensive" by Hitler. He holds vast territories in spite of recent losses, and might consider himself well off if he could arrange to keep what he has won. It would give him respite to consolidate his gains and assemble fresh resources for another assault.

Something like this happens often at football games. A strong team goes plunging down the field until it is near the goal line, and is then held by the defenders. In imminent danger of losing the ball, the captain decides on a kick for goal.

The to-do about the Ecuador president's visit to Washington may seem exaggerated, but these are times when the Americas have to get together.

EXERCISE

Some months ago articles appeared in the medical journals in which two prominent physicians warned those over forty of the dangers of exercise. They pointed out that after forty, we are on the way down hill and that exercise would be dangerous to heart and bloodvessels. Neither the heart nor the bloodvessels should be asked to do any unnecessary work, not even "lift a finger."

Most physicians reading the above will agree with the idea behind it and that is that strenuous exercise in those at and past middle age is not necessary to maintain health and can do more harm than good.

Unfortunately, this advice "not to take exercise" was published in the daily papers, sometimes in a humorous way, and can do more harm to the individuals past forty than the exercise many have been taking.

What is a middle aged man or woman who walks to his or her employment instead of riding, does the housework, or plays a round of golf a couple of times a week, or takes five minutes' exercise every morning, going to think about this business of "not lifting a finger unnecessarily"?

He or she is going to lift the finger, the arm, the feet, bend the body, walk some hundreds of yards daily because they know that as far as they are concerned the exercise they take is necessary work.

We all have sense enough to know what would happen to our heart muscle, our lungs, our muscles, our blood vessels, our digestion, our skin, if we loafed or sat down all the time. Every physician knows that he must not let the middle aged or the elderly loaf or take to bed. They would soon become bedridden.

Simple everyday exercise such as walking, housework, non-competitive golf, or swimming, stimulates heart action. Keeps blood vessels elastic, stimulates flow of blood through all the organs and working processes, maintains the appetite and prevents constipation.

What these physicians who advised "no exercise" are really telling us is that, as we grow older, we must get rid of the idea that we "need" regular strenuous exercise to keep ourselves healthy. This strenuous exercise may lessen our reserve strength.

The ordinary exercise obtained by walking or light employment, to which most middle aged can add walking and swimming (if they swim naturally without effort) will fulfill the old saying of Roberts of the Boston Y. M. C. A. It is safe, easy, beneficial and pleasing.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cutillo recently became the parents of a daughter, Glenda Louise born in St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh. Mrs. Cutillo is the former Viola Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Scott.

PATAUKUNK

Pataukunk, Dec. 1—The Pataukunk District School announces that it has arranged to have the annual Christmas entertainment on December 18 at 8 p. m. in Mombaccus church. The program this year will be unusual and will be divided in two distinct parts. The first will be the entertainment by the student body under the supervision of the teacher, Clara Margaret Wynkeep; the second part will be a novel program by two cowboys who are appearing weekly over the radio. Last but not least will be the unloading of the tree by Santa Claus.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Asa Wynkoop and his two brothers: William and Levi Terwilliger, William Wilkenson, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Wynkoop and children, James and Margaret Jane, and Mrs. Cora Burgher.

Mr. and Mrs. Merwin Deyo and son, Stanley, Mrs. Jean Denman and daughters, Jean and Shirley, were Thanksgiving dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Dowell and family.

When the three main divisions of a person's body: head, chest, and hips, are balanced directly over one another, the body is in its best posture.

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

Col. Theodore Roosevelt was the guest speaker at the annual Father and Son banquet held on Friday evening, May 4, 1928, at the local Y. M. C. A., and gave a most interesting talk of his boyhood days with his father, President Theodore Roosevelt, known as the man with the big stick.

During the many years that President Roosevelt was active in Republican politics the cartoonists always featured him as carrying a big stick. His son told many interesting reminiscences of the Roosevelt family life.

It is also interesting to recall that on May 2, 1928, the Business Girls Club of the Y. W. C. A. at its annual meeting elected Mildred Messinger as president; Ruth Bell as vice president; Eva Rand as secretary, and Eva Shook as treasurer.

One of the most active members of the Ulster county Democratic party in the years at the turn of the century was Judge James A. Betts who died in his home on Pearl street on May 7, 1928, aged 75 years.

Judge Betts when he first located in Kingston served two years as principal of the then School No. 11, now School No. 7, on Crown street, and then he entered the law office of Schoonmaker & Linson to take up the study of law. He was admitted to the bar in 1880.

He never lost interest, however, in educational matters in Kingston and served as a member of the former Board of Education from 1885 through 1898.

Judge Betts was a former surrogate of Ulster county, and also served as Supreme Court judge. In addition to his legal affairs he found time to devote himself to the Kingston Hospital, serving for years as a member of the Board of Managers of the hospital, and also as president of the board.

Many of the lawyers who were active in Kingston and Ulster county affairs during the years that Judge Betts was active include Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck, Judge A. T. Clearwater, Judge Frederick G. Traver, Frank W. Brooks, Philip Elting, Howard Chipp, Senator Linson, Augustus H. Van Buren, former Mayor William D. Brinnier, former Mayor Palmer Canfield, Judge Frederick Stephan, Jr., and a host of others.

Growing, marketing, and production problems of potato, grain, forage crop and vegetable seeds are considered in the 4th annual seed growers school at the New York State College of Agriculture, at Ithaca, N. Y., Monday and Tuesday, November 23 and 24.

Democrats Themselves Are Starting Movement to Oust Radicals in Party and Prevent Disastrous Defeat

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 1—A movement to reorganize the Democratic party to get rid of the radicals and thus save the party from a disastrous defeat in 1944 has been discussed lately by prominent Democrats, among them some who were defeated in the November elections and among them some who came through successfully but who feel the administration imperilled their seats in Congress.

The movement has gained impetus this week with the knowledge that President Roosevelt is preparing to reshuffle his cabinet and ignore, again some of the prominent men in the party who have served in the ranks. It is being asserted that one of the reasons why the administration was blamed at the polls for arbitrary handling of the citizenry on war restrictions is that the men in high New Deal offices do not understand public psychology.

It is a truism of politics that a man who runs for office usually knows how to handle the public when he enters administrative office. With some exceptions, the President's cabinet and some of the higher executives in important war agencies are men who have never held elective office. They have come into prominence solely through the power of appointment, and that is believed to be why they misunderstand or do not have the capacity to understand the trends of public reaction to restrictive measures.

Thus, it is contended by members of Congress on the Democratic side that, while the people do not like restrictions, they accept them and voluntarily obey them when the reasons are properly explained. Much of the irritation manifested at the polls grew out of a doubt as to the real necessity of rationing, for example. The administration's spokesmen were simply not men who could carry conviction with the public.

The dissatisfaction with the President's leadership of the Democratic party goes deeper, however, than his insistence on keeping in high positions the New Dealers. It relates to the fact that in New York state, and in other states, he and his New Deal lieutenants have attempted to take sides against the Democratic party veterans. It is insisted that the party's strength cannot be maintained if the administration undertakes to break down—as it did in New York state—so outstanding a veteran of Democratic state politics as Attorney General Bennett. The behavior of the so-called American Labor party, aided and abetted by New Dealers, was a contributing factor to the defeat of Mr. Bennett, and the incident has not been overlooked by Democrats in other parts of the country.

It is a well-known fact in politics that parties build up their organizations by recognizing those who have toiled for the success of the party. While this does not mean putting incompetents in office, it does mean that, all things being equal, the party leaders get a chance for appointment when they have the proper training and qualifications.

In the present administration, the party men have been thrust aside and the tendency has been to take brain-trusters or radicals whose main achievement thus far has been to help destroy the Democratic party at the polls. Surely in the decade that the Democrats have been triumphant in national elections, somebody else might be found for the cabinet posts. Under previous administrations, nobody expected to serve continuously in the incumbent administration was reelected. Now, with a service of three terms, the veteran Democrats are beginning to wonder if Mr. Roosevelt is concerning himself with the future of the party or with the future of his reform movement.

Some leading Democrats are saying that the President stands a good chance not only of seeing the whole New Deal reform movement, with many of its worthwhile measures, repudiated but he may see his international program wrecked, too, if he fails to keep the Democratic party united behind him.

A good deal of talk is heard often about "winning the war and losing the peace." One way to lose the peace is to enable isolationist Republicans to join with isolationist Democrats at the polls in 1944 in electing a Congress that will be hostile to the President's peace program. Such an adverse happening can be prevented, but the tide is running strongly against the administration because of its insistence on keeping radicals and left-wingers in positions of power during the war. If this trend is not reversed, a landslide in 1944 against the Democratic party would seem to be inevitable—and that's why many friends of the President in the Democratic party are hoping to convince him that a reorganization to rid the party of radicals is a move in the right direction.

Literary Guide

"THE ARMY LIFE," by Private E. J. Kahn, Jr.

Any writer who has had the bad luck to bring out a book under the wings of a fly-away best seller of the same general type will understand the feeling that must lie in Private E. J. Kahn's breast, heavy like lead. Private Kahn's book is called "The Army Life," and Private (now corporal or perhaps sergeant) Hargrove's is, of course, "See Here, Private Hargrove." And this last book has sold well over 200,000 and is kicking up a dust like Margaret Mitchell's one and only literary effort.

For Private Kahn's book is amusing. It is not more amusing than Private Hargrove's book, but there is plenty of fun all the same. By chance, Kahn was at Camp Croft in South Carolina and later at Fort Bragg in the state to the north. And Hargrove was also at Bragg. By another chance, Hargrove's copy was originally written as a column for the Charlotte Observer, and Kahn's was published bit by bit in the New Yorker.

But there the resemblance ends. Kahn is a New Yorker, and his attitude toward the army is one of good humored tolerance. You get the feeling that Private Kahn would be more at home camped in Central Park than in Carolina. Whereas Hargrove approaches the Army with a kind of wide-eyed innocence that is a more nearly universal attitude, and infinitely more charming. His prose is rougher, but stronger, and its mannerisms are the result of inexperience rather than of the chiseling process by which the editors of the New Yorker make every writer's copy sound like every other writer's copy, after publication.

The upshot of this last monkey business is that Kahn's pieces are as alike as the Cold Dust Twins. They are all underwritten, a little sly as to humor, and they rely chiefly on the smug attitude of the professional New Yorker for their effect. Each ends with the New Yorker magazine snap-snap, and when read one after another, the effect is like eating innumerable pieces of the same excellent kind of candy—pleasant, but somewhat monotonous. This is not Private Kahn's fault, nor his publishers. It is just the result of the New Yorker's editorial policy.

It would be helpful all around if you were to rest a week between each chapter of "The Army Life."

Many farm machines wear out faster from rust than from use. Cornell has a War Emergency bulletin that describes lubrication for stored farm machinery, as well as for machinery in use. Single copies are available to New York State residents who write to the Office of Publication at the New York State College of Agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y.

Cash crop farmers who take to their dealer now a list of their needs for treating seeds and for spraying and dusting the crops of 1943, will have the materials when they need them, and will also reduce the number of substitutes they will have to use.

Washington In Wartime

By Jack Stinnett

(Second of Two Articles on enemy propaganda in the U. S.)

Washington—Among those persons whose business it is to examine and worry over enemy propaganda that floats into the United States, one of the chief concerns lately is with the "let's-relax-it's-all-over" school of talk.

This is hardly a thought that the Axis could foster openly while still making dire threats about what they are going to do to our troops. Yet it is Axis propaganda.

The reasoning in this school is: We'll take Africa, knock Italy out of the war in a few weeks, open a second front in the south maybe another in the west, and it will all be over.

* * *

That doesn't take much time in telling, but Army and Navy strategists shoot it as full of holes as the box kite caught in ack-ack. In the first place the Battle of Africa isn't over yet and after that will have to come the Battle of the Mediterranean. Give a thought to how long tough little Malta has held out in this war. Give another to the fact that Hitler, with all his might, didn't dare cross the narrow Channel to invade an England that had almost no army and no air power after Dunkerque.

Remember also that bombing alone has never won a battle and that Genoa, Turin, even Rome could be reduced to rubble without our gaining a foot of ground in Italy.

As for Italy making a separate peace, that's pretty well scotched. There's no government in sight in Italy with which a peace could be made. Before there is, there must be a revolution that will not only have to deal with the Fascists but with the hordes of Nazis now overrunning that land.

Opening of a Western Front will be a task that will take time and planning and a vast concentration of ships and men. Even when all those hurdles are cleared, there still is Japan in the Pacific—a matter which can't be ignored unless we want to expose our own mainland to attack.

The Axis in Europe has several ways to meet the present threat.

The best guess now, however, is that it probably will die in for a long war of attrition and in the end a negotiated peace that will leave the Nazis in power. Our job will be to see that even that strategy fails, but it might take more than "lightning war" which is already three years old.

Recreations Engage Harlem Yankees Wednesday Night

Hard Game Ahead For Local Cagers; Harlem Is Strong

Johnny Isaacs and Other Familiar Yank Players Appear Here; Good Attendance Anticipated

Although no replacement has been announced for Nick Shaback, popular scoring ace of the Kingston Recreation basketball team, it was believed that Manager "Turk" Karam has a number of prospects in the offing. Karam is expected to bring at least one of the new players to the municipal auditorium Wednesday night when the Recs battle the strong Harlem Yankees.

When the Kingston manager was informed of Shaback's status yesterday he replied, "sure, we'll miss Nick because he was a fine player and a good team helper. However, our boys did okay without him last Thursday night which proves that they can go to the limit even when shorthanded. Still, I hope to pick up another player before the next contest in order to have at least two substitutes."

Karam Praises Club

Karam was all smiles when questions were put to him concerning the play of Hagen Anderson, Ace Goldstein, Jim Naughton and Howie Bollerman. "They played very good ball against the Jewels and deserved to win. As I said before, watch Bollerman this year. He'll be a big help to us from the first game on to the finisher."

While Kingston has displayed good power to winning the first two games from the Hartford Gems and the New York Jewels, the local club must hit new heights Wednesday night when the famous and always troublesome Yankees invade the Broadway court. A near riot earmarked last year's battle between these two quintets and although the same thing may not occur tomorrow night, the clubs are set for a good old-fashioned brawl.

With some of the finest Negro basketball players in the lineup of the Harlem Yankees, the club is considered one of the best in basketball today. Some experts have tabbed the Harlem cagers on the par with the Renaissance and other great Negro outfits.

Sonny Woods Plays

This year the Yankees will take the floor with such outstanding stars as "Moonbeam" Isles, "Bobo" White, Sonny Woods, Bob Garrett and Bill Chaffey. The club also lists Johnny Isaacs, who was the big "show" for the Yanks last year when he started that brawl with Larry Dodick, then a member of the Recreations. With this lineup ready to operate against Kingston, the local basketeers, will, in all probability, have their biggest task of the young season.

Another banner turnout is expected to jam the auditorium boards for this three-star attraction. Last Thursday's throng was encouraging to the Recreation board but similar turnouts must be had if professional basketball is to continue in this city.

The department of recreation announced this morning that Wednesday's preliminary game would feature the Worfs and Matthews in a game starting at 8:15 o'clock. The main attraction is slated for 9:15 o'clock.

Giants vs. Dodgers

New York, Dec. 1 (AP) — Although Sunday's National Football League game between the New York Giants and the Brooklyn Dodgers will have no bearing on the final standings, the Giants are preparing for it with all the earnestness of mid-season. The reason: They have been beaten by their rivals from across the river in their last four meetings.

Shock to Coach

Philadelphia, Dec. 1 (AP)—Holy Cross' 55 to 12 upset victory over vaunted Boston College wasn't just a surprise—it was a downright shock—to Ank Scanlon, Holy Cross' head football coach.

Scanlon, at his Philadelphia home, commented:

"It was just like sending 11 condemned men to the electric chair. It wasn't until I saw two of our spotters coming down from the press box that I realized we could win. And that was when the game was about over."

Warms Up Too Much

Columbus, Ga., Dec. 1 (AP)—Told to warm up, James Whatley, a guard on Spencer High School's negro team, raced up and down the sidelines, doing flips and prancing.

Waved into the game, he zigzagged around nearly every man on the field before reporting to the referee.

There he collapsed with a trick knee out of place, and was carried from the field.

Eastman Suggests Majors Cut Down Travel in Spring

Harridge and Frick Say That 1943 Travel Cut by Nearly 23,000 Miles in Leagues

Chicago, Dec. 1 (AP)—Major league baseball executives, encouraged by a message from Joseph B. Eastman, defense transportation director, today formally opened their most important meeting in history.

A statement by Eastman that he felt other types of travel by individuals and groups "have possibly a lesser justification than baseball team travel," reacted like a tonic. Magnates were quick to term it "splendid recognition."

Although the O. D. T. director emphasized that his letter could not be taken as a guarantee of the future, the mere fact that a government official had given first intimation that there would be a 1943 season spiked the meetings with cheer.

With some of the gloom thus dispelled, the major leagues met in separate sessions today to study suggestions by Eastman for curtailing travel.

Presidents William Harridge and Ford Frick of the American and National Leagues, respectively, and club owners agreed that "it's good to know the government has given an indication that so far as can be seen at this time the game will be continued."

Travel Be Shortened

Eastman suggested among other things that travel to spring training be minimized, that long duplicate trips during the regular season be avoided, and that schedules provide for ample traveling time between cities to avoid possible game cancellations in case of delays.

Harridge and Frick said that next season's schedules had been arranged to cut travel nearly 23,000 miles in each league. There will be more four-game series instead of the two and three games, three intersectional swings rather than four, and possible elimination of other trips by shifting more week-day games into Sunday doubleheaders.

"Schedules are so flexible," explained Harridge, "that clubs can easily arrange to double up in any series to provide one day for coach travel during home and home games and two days for intersectional travel.

"Spring training travel is entirely up to the clubs, but I know they will cooperate in every way possible."

Eastman's suggestion to condition the players as close to home as possible was particularly pertinent for the St. Louis Browns, Pittsburgh Pirates, Chicago Cubs and Chicago White Sox who have selected California training grounds. They may discuss alternate plans today. Hot springs, Ark., was mentioned as a likely spot, particularly for western teams.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

Baltimore—Billy White, 149½, Baltimore, knocked out Al Tribuiani, 147, Wilmington, Del., (8).

Chicago—Joe Muscato, 194, Buffalo, N. Y., knocked out Frank Greene, 184, Chicago, (1).

Holyoke, Mass.—Richie Lemos, 137, New York, outpointed Kelley Jessup, 136, Springfield, Mass., (10).

BILL TERRY

After being connected with the New York Giants since 1922, Memphis Bill Terry, former manager and last year's general manager of the organization, informed the press at the initial meeting of the major and minor leagues in Chicago that he had terminated his contract with the Polo Grounders. The lack of farm teams for which Terry received about a $50,000 contract, was believed to have been his reason for quitting the club. Both Terry and Horace Stoneham, owner of the Giants, agreed that the parting was done in complete friendliness. Although nothing official has been declared as yet, Terry may have something to do with the Philadelphia Phils before the present session concludes.

Alabama Tide Will Play Eagles in Orange Bowl

B. C. Coach Says Boys Deserve Bid; Hopes Redemption Is in Order for Club

Miami, Fla., Dec. 1 (AP)—Alabama will send its football team into a New Year's Day game—against Boston College in the Orange Bowl—for the seventh time, January 1, thus approaching Stanford's mark of eight post-season appearances.

The feeling here, after Orange Bowl President Oscar E. Dooly, Jr., announced the signing of the teams last night, was that the Crimson Tide will have to raise above its regular season level to maintain Alabama's record of having lost only one bowl game.

Boston's high-flying Eagles, losers only to Holy Cross in one of the season's greatest upsets, immediately were established as slight favorites.

Both players and coaches at Boston College greeted the post season game as an opportunity to square themselves with followers who were disappointed by the Eagles' 55-12 defeat by Holy Cross.

"The boys certainly deserve a bowl game," said Coach Denny Myers, "it probably will be the last chance they'll have to play and they were unanimous in their desire to go. It will give them a chance to redeem themselves."

Alabama's brilliant bowl record weighed heavily in the decision of Orange Bowl officials to bring a three-times-beaten team here, although the Tide was the best remaining choice after other bowls had grabbed Georgia, Georgia Tech and Tennessee.

At present, Alabama and Southern California are tied at six bowl games each. In five trips to the Rose Bowl, Alabama won three games, lost one and tied one. Coach Frank Thomas' eleven downed Texas A. and M. in the Cotton Bowl last January 1. The lone Tide defeat came in 1938 at the hands of California.

Boston has appeared in two previous New York shows, losing to Clemson in the 1940 Cotton Bowl battle and upsetting Tennessee in the 1941 Sugar Bowl engagement.

In regular season games, Boston counted 261 points to 75 in defeating West Virginia, Clemson, North Carolina Pre-Flight, Wake Forest, Georgetown, Temple, Fordham and Boston University, while losing to Holy Cross.

Alabama, in winning six and losing to Georgia, Georgia Tech and Georgia Pre-Flight, outscored opponents, 209 to 76.

December Entry Frosty

December was ushered in this morning with freezing temperatures, a heavy white frost and dark, overcast skies that threatened snow. Temperatures on Monday, the last day of November, ranged from 30 to 46 degrees at the city hall, according to the records in the city engineer's office. The records show that the warmest day of November was the 20th when a low of 51 degrees and a high of 75 degrees was recorded. The total precipitation during November in the city was 4.38 inches of rain and snow.

Stisi Is in Kentucky

Private Phil Stisi, former popular John street barber, writes to friends in this city that he is at Camp Breckenridge, Ky., and is enjoying army life. One of the most popular pastimes at the camp is reading The Freeman, Phil reports.

New York — George (Sonny) Horne, 156, Niles, O., outpointed Pete Geno, 151, New York (6).

Providence, R. I.—Sal Bartolo, 128, Boston, outpointed Larry Bolvin, 127, Providence (10).

Former Giant Manager Ends Services With Polo Grounders; Says He's Happy

By JUDSON BAILEY

Chicago, Dec. 1 (AP)—William Harold Terry, who became famous as a baseball grouch, was a happy man today and out of a job.

This didn't make sense to anybody and it was widely believed by all the baseball clan gathered here for the major-minor league meetings that Terry had a new connection tentatively arranged when he announced yesterday that he was quitting as farm director of the New York Giants, with whom he had been associated for 20 years as player, manager and executive.

May Head Phils

Although other possibilities were suggested, most observers believed the 42-year-old Memphis oil man, baseball brain and one-time star first baseman was ready to take control of the Philadelphia franchise of the National League, possibly financed by the league itself if no purchaser is located for the distressed property before the season opens.

Terry, beaming broadly and telling his friends "I'm out of baseball and haven't a care in the world," said such an arrangement would suit him perfectly and that he hoped that he might accomplish a new connection with a major league club before the meeting ends this week.

The board of directors of the league delved into the problem by club President Gerald Nugent and his attorney, Robert Irwin, which would permit the Phils to continue under the guidance of Nugent.

However, the directors had decided previously that the league would advance no more money to Nugent, who was loaned upward of $100,000 last year, and that if he were not able to show sufficient capital to start the season the franchise would either be sold or operated by the league.

Had $50,000 Salary

This was where Terry fitted into the picture. The severance of his relations with the Giants was decided upon three or four weeks ago, it was learned today. Terry, reportedly paid $30,000 a year, said he did not believe he could earn his salary as farm director for New York next year because the Giants may have no more than two or three minor league affiliates.

The decision, made some time ago, was announced in perfect timing with the National League consideration of the Phil's problem and persons close to all the parties involved indicated this was no coincidence.

Ohio State Picked For Top Berth in Grid Poll Voting

Boston College Drops to Eighth Place; Georgia Claims Second and Wisconsin Third

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

New York, Dec. 1 (AP) — Ohio State, big ten champion and winner in nine of 10 games, is the best college football team of 1942 in the opinion of 156 sports experts polled by the Associated Press.

The Buckeyes, ranked No. 1 in the first three tabulations of the season, skidded to tenth in the middle of the campaign but were third a week ago following their defeat of Michigan. This week, on the strength of their 41-12 victory over Iowa Pre-flight, Coach Paul Brown's Athletes returned to the throne.

Georgia, which took over the front position when Ohio State abdicated late in October, finished 93 points behind the mid-westerners in the final compilation.

The standings of the teams (first place votes in parentheses, points figured on 10-9-8-7 etc., basis):

First Ten
Ohio State (84)	1432
Georgia (62)	1339
Wisconsin (4)	983
Tulsa (4)	936
Georgia Tech	705
Notre Dame	509
Tennessee	533
Boston College	485
Michigan	467
Alabama	234

Buck Jones Dies In Boston Hospital As Result of Burns

Boston, Dec. 1 (AP)—Cowboy Movie Star Buck Jones, a veteran of World War I, was on a war bond selling tour to aid the men of World War II, when the Cocoanut Grove fire cost him his life.

Suffering severe burns about the head and body, Buck appeared to be holding his own for a time after being admitted to a hospital, but he took a turn for the worse yesterday and died a few hours later.

He had been in another hospital Saturday afternoon—a few hours before the fire—the children's hospital where he entertained the young folk who had seen his films. He had arrived in Boston Friday.

He had dropped into the Cocoanut Grove as the guest of a number of motion picture distributors who handled his films.

Born in Vincennes, Ind., on December 4, 1889, his earliest ambition was to a cowboy. He achieved it, riding the range in Texas and Oklahoma.

Then he enlisted in the Sixth Cavalry, U.S.A., and saw service in the Philippines. On his return, he joined the Miller 101 Ranch Wild West Show, only to enlist in the army again when World War I broke out. Friends said he was wounded in service.

Back in the United States, he entered the movies and became with his horse, "Silver," the idol of numberless small boys. He made approximately 200 pictures and in recent years had been in semi-retirement.

He is survived by his widow, the former Odele Osborne, also an expect horseback rider, and a daughter, Maxine. Jones and his wife were married on horseback after a show in Lima, O.

Nazis Pound Away At Stanlingrad in Hopeless Battle

finally, to destroy the Volga supply artery by taking Stalingrad.

The fuehrer thought then he was presenting a program 100 per cent achieved, but the last fortnight has seen the Russians well on the way to putting two of his four objectives, far the more important two, well out of his reach. For although the Germans still fight in Stalingrad there seems ample ground for confidence that when the ice breaks up next spring the Volga will be once more the great central artery of Russia's economic life over which the oil from the Caucasus and war supplies from Russia's allies will be moving freely. Hitler has been able to seize only the minor oil field of Maikop; and if the Red army's southern offensive continues to roll Maikop may slip from his hands.

The Stalingrad offensive may even roll far enough to cheat him of the wheat and coal fields of whose seizure he boasted, thus completing the nullification of his 1942 successes.

But it may go further than that, involving even the vast conquests of 1941. That Russian drive west and northwest of Moscow holds far greater perils for Corporal Hitler than even a complete debacle before Stalingrad. A real break through there to the west could compel a hasty withdrawal of the Nazi forces around Leningrad, leaving Finland alone in the north, probably to make her terms with the Allies. A break through to the south could put the armies before Moscow in danger and bring menacing pressure to bear on the Ukraine forces. That may well prove the real Russian effort of this winter. Winston Churchill disclosed Sunday that when he talked with Stalin in the Kremlin last summer the Russian showed him a map marked with an arrow thrusting into the Axis lines and promised a telegram when the blow it represented was struck. The telegram, Churchill continued, has been duly delivered and acknowledged. Latest events support the belief that the arrow was plunged southward or westward into the battlefront west of Moscow.

Approximately 14,000,000 men over 45 years of age are now working in the United States.

Between 1930 and 1940, the number of Americans 65 or older increased 35 per cent.

Order Red Cross Into Action to Aid Fire Victims

Washington, D. C., Nov. 30—Chairman Norman H. Davis ordered the resources of the American Red Cross into action for the aid of the victims of the Boston night club fire and their families, it was announced here today. Blood plasma and sulfa drugs were flown yesterday to Boston from New York and Washington to aid the injured, Mr. Davis said.

In addition to 272 units of blood plasma previously made available to Boston hospitals, another shipment of 100 units was dispatched from Washington today, leaving the national airport at 1:17 p. m., Mr. Davis said. Previous supplies of blood plasma had included 100 units obtained from the Boston Metropolitan Red Cross Chapter, 72 from the North Atlantic Area Office of the Red Cross in New York, and 100 from the Red Cross warehouse here.

Ten members of the North Atlantic Area Disaster staff in New York City were sent in immediately to assist the Boston Metropolitan Chapter, and Red Cross nurses and nurse's aides were mobilized in Boston and surrounding chapters to relieve the exhausted nursing staffs of the Boston City Hospital and the Massachusetts General Hospital.

Chairman James R. Hamlin of the Boston Chapter, immediately upon the alert Saturday night, mobilized all resources of the chapter to aid local authorities. Ambulances, canteens and nurse's aid, first aiders, and Disaster Relief workers from the the chapter and surrounding towns worked all night beside the police, fire, and civilian defense workers, Mr. Hamlin reported.

When a possible shortage of sulfa drugs was reported to the New York office of the American Red Cross, the services of Dr. Orville Wyss, a sulfa expert of Newark, N. J., were obtained, and air priority was arranged for Dr. Wyss to take a supply of the vital drugs to Boston. A police escort was arranged for him from his home to La Guardia Airport.

Emergency and regular Red Cross ambulances, numbering 75, aided in transporting the dead and injured; and 15 mobile canteens fed rescue squads, families, and injured at the scene of the fire, at hospitals and mortuaries. The canteens continued at these scenes today, feeding the families who visited mortuaries and morgues in an effort to identify the missing. Red Cross Motor Corps members transported relatives to and from homes, hospitals and morgues.

Desks were established in the Boston Metropolitan Chapter to handle the hundreds of welfare inquiries pouring in from relatives and friends, and Red Cross Disaster workers visited the homes and families of victims of the fire to offer emergency aid where required.

Nearby chapters cooperating in the work were Cambridge, Lynn, Newton, Quincy, Wakefield, and Weymouth.

Kingston Boys Are Enjoying Army Life

Camp Shelby, Miss.
November 27, 1942

Friends and Neighbors:

If you could possibly give this brief message a space in your paper we would appreciate it very much.

About everyone who writes to us asks the question as to how we are being treated by the boys from the south. The southern hospitality is so great toward us northern boys, Leo Sessler, Joseph E. Smith, Joseph Tomazewski and Clifford Sinsabaugh, that Webster didn't create enough words to explain it. It sure is wonderful, and the food is very, very, good. We really like the camp and its surroundings. The officers, both commissioned and noncommissioned, are of the very best, doing all in their power to help and make us feel at home.

We are all well and in the very best of health. We enjoyed Thanksgiving very much and had a wonderful dinner with turkey and all the trimmings. Even had our cigarettes. So, as you can see, feel perfectly at ease as we are just on another job with the best of bosses in the world.

If you like, drop us a line, as all soldiers love hearing from home, and we will very willingly answer all correspondence. Also thanks to the one who was so kind and generous to send us the the local paper, the good old Freeman. We all appreciate it very much.

Will close hoping to be home soon, as victory is close at hand.

Kiwanians to Entertain

The Kiwanians luncheon hour on Thursday will be of unusual interest. Members are to bring their wives and other friends. L. F. Livingston of the du Pont Company will be the guest speaker and will display and explain samples of the many new products which have been developed as a result of war conditions.

In the first seven months of 1942, 300,000 more tons of steel plates were produced in the U. S. than in all of 1941.

How to cut the cost of Heating Your Home
BY John Barclay
AMERICA'S HOME HEATING EXPERT

March Winds!

MARCH is usually a month when the variations between night and day temperatures are greater than at any time during the heating season. As the stronger rays of the sun supply a greater portion of the heat required, it is not necessary for the furnace to give forth as much heat during the day as in the winter months. At night, however, it is likely to be quite chilly, and more heat is required. Follow these suggestions for the proper care of your furnace during this period.

Gradually decrease the opening of the turn damper as the milder days arrive. This is particularly important on windy March days, as wind has a tendency to increase the draft in the furnace. If this draft is not throttled down—by closing this important damper — sometimes the fire will burn out prematurely, and consequently up and down action in house temperature will follow. More important, this strong draft will pull most of the heat into the chimney, resulting in huge heat loss and wasted fuel.

There is also a strong tendency, as the weather moderates for many householders to put less and less coal on the fire, thus causing a thin fuel bed for the purpose of saving fuel. This is an erroneous idea, and works just the opposite way. Due to a strong draft on windy days, the fire will burn out very rapidly and often leaves only a small core of fire in the center and a large bed of ash all around.

This condition permits a great amount of air or draft to pass through the fuel bed and on up the chimney, thus the greater part of the heat is wasted in needlessly warming up this air.

It is therefore desirable during spring and fall weather to maintain a reasonably deep firebed and to throttle down the turn damper as much as possible to avoid over heating rather than attempting to attain this by firing in thin layers. It is easier to maintain a uniform temperature as well as avoiding excessive fuel consumption by maintaining uniform depth of firebed, then when more heat is required, there is always a sufficient body of fire on hand to respond immediately.

Even temperatures definitely save money. Over and under heating is both costly and unhealthy. It is needless and troublesome. Remember these simple rules and your home will be comfortable, the fire "sleeping" during mild weather, will immediately awake and go to work for you when a call for heat is made. (25)

27 Million Cars, 5,000,000 Trucks Rationed on Gas

Washington, Dec. 1 (AP)—About 27,000,000 passenger cars and 5,000,000 commercial vehicles went on a mileage reducing diet today as nationwide gasoline rationing set in to the accompaniment of both praise and protest.

For 17 eastern states where the fuel curb was inaugurated four and a half months ago, it was just another day of restricted driving. But for motorists elsewhere, the old cry of "fill up the tank," was newly outmoded.

More than 90 per cent of the drivers in today's "rationed area have their basic "A" ration cards, the Office of Price Administration estimated, entitling them to four gallons a coupon—calculated to be a week's supply. The eastern zone, with the exception of West Virginia, gets three gallons a coupon.

Opposition to the gasoline controls, imposed to save rubber, brought a retort from undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson last night that "we cannot and will not deny our soldiers the finest equipment in order to cater to the whims of those who don't seem to realize that their country is at war."

Declaring that the army already has cut rubber uses several times at the expense of maximum efficiency in some cases, Patterson added that "we can't reduce our use of rubber any more without risking the safety of our men and hampering our operations."

Senator Vandenberg (R.-Mich.) told the Senate yesterday that extension of the rationing program was "premature and inadvisable." He predicted that "totally inadequate" arrangements will bring "confusion and chaos" and "an inevitable breakdown in the system."

Mrs. Skoog Dies At Bingo Game Of Heart Attack

Mrs. Marie A. Skoog, 63, of Albany, who made her home with her daughter, Miss Dorothy Skoog, of 17 Greenkill avenue, died suddenly of a heart attack while attending a bingo game Monday night at 364 Mill street, Poughkeepsie. Word of her sudden death was sent to the Kingston police department who notified the daughter.

Mrs. Skoog was seized with the attack while in the ladies' room, and collapsed. The Poughkeepsie police were called and she was removed in an ambulance to the Vassar Hospital where she was pronounced dead.

Dr. Howard P. Carpenter, medical examiner, reported that death was due to aneurysm of the heart. The body was removed to the Anderson undertaking parlors in Poughkeepsie to await the arrival of the daughter from Kingston today.

Apples

Springfield, Ill. — President Roosevelt acknowledged receipt of a basket of Illinois "victory" apples—marked with V's—sent from a Calhoun county orchard, Supt. of Markets A. Ekstrom, State Department of Agriculture, said.

Each apple had a marking resulting from the V position of stem and shading of the fruit during the ripening period. They were packed with the V's uppermost.

Here's How I Licked Wartime Constipation!

It was easy after I was told it's often due to lack of "bulk"

"Seems like I was always 'dosing' up on account of constipation. That sort of stuff gets a fellow down.

"Then a friend pointed out that these war days were upsetting our whole way of living. Particularly in how we eat. Said I ought to take care my meals were properly balanced—and make sure I got plenty of 'bulk.' Because lack of 'bulk' is one of the common causes of wartime constipation. Those medicinal laxatives gave me only temporary relief; they didn't get at the cause.

"But, KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN really did me up. It corrects this kind of constipation by supplying 'bulk.' And it tastes swell, too. Just eat it regularly and drink plenty of water. ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek."

Victory Loan of Nine Billions of U. S. Securities

The staff of approximately 160 banks and trust companies of about 40 investment dealers and brokers, and many other volunteer workers are organized and ready today to put the seven counties in this district solidly behind the Victory Loan Drive to sell $9,000,000,000 of U. S. Treasury securities during December, according to a statement issued last night by Joseph E. Hughes, president of the Washington Irving Trust Company of Port Chester and Regional Chairman for Region No. 6 of the Victory Fund Committee of the Second Federal Reserve District.

Expressing confidence that each city and county in Region No. 6 would support the drive wholeheartedly, Dr. Hughes said:

"The Secretary of the Treasury has asked the Victory Fund Committees to do the most important job that they have yet undertaken and we must succeed in that job completely. The nation is now spending for war purposes more than a billion and a half dollars each week, and to win the war it must and will spend any amount necessary. To raise this money, and put the resources of the country behind our armed forces, every individual and every corporation with available cash should lend to the Government by purchasing its securities.

"For the Victory Loan Drive, the Treasury is offering three new issues. One is a 2½ per cent Victory bond, in coupon or registered form, maturing in 26 years and redeemable after 21 years, which is especially suitable for insurance and savings institutions, estates and trust funds, and individual investors. Commercial banks are not permitted to purchase this issue until December 1, 1952.

"The two other new issues are particularly suitable for commercial banks, for individuals desiring shorter term investments, and for corporations having a temporary surplus of funds. They are a 1¾ per cent 5½ year Treasury bond, and a 7/8 per cent one-year certificate of indebtedness. Commercial bank subscriptions to these two issues will be limited to about $2,000,000,000 each, but other subscriptions will be allotted in full. This is with the wise purpose of limiting the inflationary influence of financing through the commercial banks. The public should realize that when the Treasury borrows from banks an expansion of credit occurs which increases the purchasing power of the country. At a time when the supply of goods for civilian use is diminishing, this is inflationary. On the other hand, when Treasury issues are purchased out of accumulated idle funds, no increase in bank credit results.

"In addition to offering the three new issues, the continuous effort to sell Tax Savings Notes and War Savings Bonds will be intensified. The Victory Fund Committee offers Series A and C Tax Notes, which are especially adapted to individuals and corporations accumulating cash for the payment of Federal income, estate or gift taxes, and for investment of temporarily idle funds of individuals, corporations and public bodies. It also offers for the investment of accumulated savings and idle funds, the familiar Series F and G Savings Bonds, which are designated for varying needs of individuals.

"Somewhere in this list every investor will find a security suited to his particular needs. If a U. S. bond today is not the best investment in the world, there is only one that is—a Jap bond. Or a German bond."

KRUMVILLE

Krumville, Dec. 1—John A. Barringer, Mrs. Florence N. Christiana, Lester Barringer and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Smith were dinner guests Thanksgiving Day of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Hover.

Thanksgiving day guests of Mrs. Simon Merrihew and Henry Merrihew were: Mr. and Mrs. Clement Jones of Ellenville, and Mrs. Clarence Eckert.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lortz and daughter, Lorraine, were dinner guests Thanksgiving day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Beesmer at Kyserike.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerhard Hahn and son, Gerhard, Jr. of Jamaica spent several days at the home of Mr. Hahn's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Hahn last week.

Next Wednesday evening the regular monthly meeting of the Community Circle will be held at the home of John A. Barringer.

This Friday an all day, sewing meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society will be held at the parsonage. All members and ladies of the community are invited to attend.

Mrs. Martin Ullman, who has been spending several weeks with her children in New York, returned to her home here last Saturday.

The Rev. and Mrs. William Barringer were dinner guests last Wednesday evening at the Reformed parsonage with Rev. and Mrs. George Beiers of Port Ewen, after which the Rev. Mr. Barringer preached at the Union Thanksgiving service at the Methodist Church there.

A wedding anniversary dinner was served in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Hover last Sunday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Smith. Those present were: John A. Barringer, Lester Barringer, and Mrs. Florence N. Christiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenford Davis and daughter, Janet, were guests Sunday of Ernest Christiana, and Mrs. Esther Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Clement Jones of Ellenville visited last week at the home of Mrs. Jones's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Eckert.

Next Sunday morning, church school will meet at 10 o'clock. Morning divine worship service will meet at 11 o'clock with sermon by the pastor. Subject of sermon will be "A Beautiful Work."

Regents Exams Not To Be Abolished

Says Proposal Would Do More Harm Than Good

Albany — Regents examinations will not be abolished for the duration of the war, an assistant state commissioner of Education declared today. Commenting on recent suggestions that New York state drop its world-famed state examinations, Dr. Edwin R. Van Kleeck, assistant commissioner for instructional supervision, said that the proposal "would do more harm than good." This opinion, he said, is shared by Dr. George M. Wiley, associate commissioner, who, with Doctor Van Kleeck, has supervision of the Divisions of Elementary and Secondary Education and of Examinations and Testing.

"We don't burn down a house to get rid of the rats," Doctor Van Kleeck said. "The faults that may have been present in Regents examinations years ago have been largely eliminated. The values of these examinations have been preserved and new values added. Regents examinations no longer stress the memorization of unrelated factual material. They are tests of scope, of grasp and of the ability to put together related facts and to apply and use information. They are supplemented now by tests of progress worked out by the state education department. They no longer restrict teachers or schools to a narrow, inflexible course of study. On the contrary, they encourage and demand a rich program, adaptable by each teacher to the needs of the individual pupils in each of his classes.

"Schools are not required to use Regents examinations for those pupils whose needs they do not serve. Pupils who will not benefit from Regents subjects, Regent courses, Regents examinations and Regents diplomas need not use them. This has been the case for some years."

Doctor Van Kleeck said that all Regents examinations are prepared by committees of classroom teachers from various parts of the state and from schools of all types.

"These examinations are written by practical teachers out on the 'firing line,'" he said.

"The State Education Department specialists do not write them and, of course, the Board of Regents does not prepare them. Many of the questions are 'tried out.' When a new type of question is contemplated, advance notification is given the schools."

Doctor Van Kleeck said that those who criticized the Regents examinations should first obtain sets of them and read the questions and notice the provision in every examination for a choice among questions. Questions nowadays are closely related to the war, he said.

"Tests and examinations of varied and varying types are needed now more than ever. It is the use rather than the abuse of any system of tests which should determine its value," according to Doctor Wiley.

(By The Associated Press)

Spelling Bee

Bethlehem, Pa.—In five years, Chemistry Professor Harold Anderson complained, Lehigh University test papers carried exactly 62 different spellings of the word "nucleus."

Professor Anderson reported his count to Brown and White, student newspaper.

Gasoline by the Ounce

Pittsburgh—Ray R. Smith, perspiring attendant at a suburban Avalon gasoline station crowded with motorists filling up tanks a few hours before gas rationing went into effect at midnight, asked a pretty young girl driver how much she wanted.

"Fill her up," said the Miss.

"And her tank would take only four cents worth, 2/11 of a gallon," Smith declared.

Triple-Threat

Gilt-Edged Livestock

Murphy, Idaho—This little pig went to market—and with the aid of some barnyard friends — netted the U. S. War Bond campaign more than $5,000. The pig, a calf, some chickens, eight cakes, a blanket and a sack of potatoes were auctioned off for that amount at a bond social.

Easy on the Cook

Nuts

Los Angeles—Because of a peanut, State Rationer Paul Barksdale is limping today. The peanut lodged in his windpipe. He stood on his head and his wife whacked him on the back. Out popped the goober. But as Barksdale lowered his feet he struck and bruised his toe on an iron smoking stand.

False Alarm

Boise, Idaho—Mayor Austin W. Walker retired for the night after setting his alarm for 7:30 a. m.

He awakened a few hours later and found the alarm set at 2:30. He re-set it. Another hour passed and he awoke again. This time the alarm was set at 11 o'clock. He re-set it again and spent the rest of the night trying to catch the clock in the act.

He didn't.

Over Enthusiastic

Springfield, Ill.—O. G. Chapman, divisional special agent for an Illinois railroad received orders to "go to Mattoon, and don't leave until you find out who removed those spikes from the track."

Instead of finding a saboteur Chapman found three youths who, he said, had removed 57 spikes and several tie plates from the tracks and turned the equipment in to the scrap drive.

Men of Mettle

Our men of mettle in the armed forces will smash their way to complete Victory.

Their mettle is backed by faith in themselves, in their leaders and in the people on the home front.

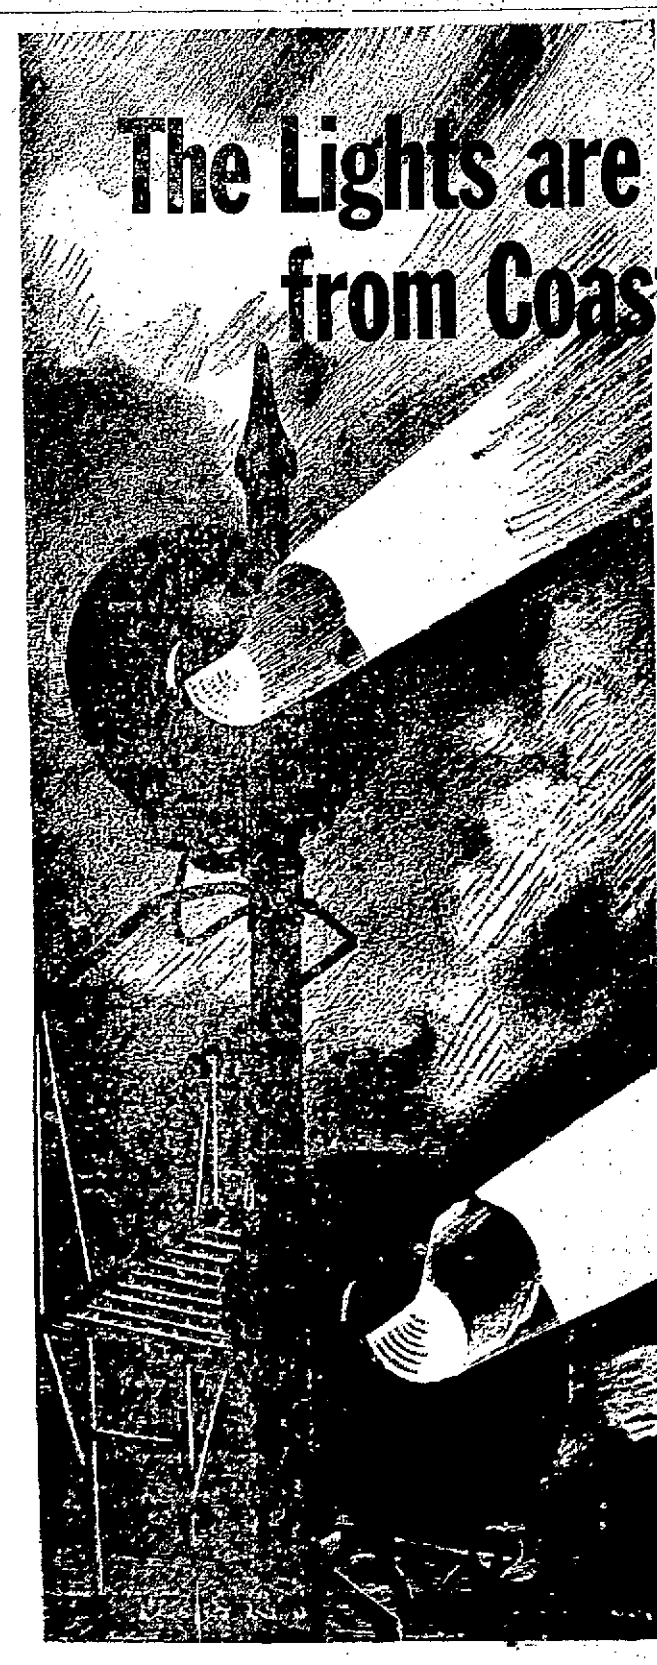

It is the job of the people at home to match the METTLE of our men on the firing line with every bit of METAL we can put into their hands in the form of planes, tanks, ships, guns, ammunition and all the other needed materials of war.

The Lights are Green from Coast to Coast

From the chattering machine shops of Syracuse to the roaring airplane plants of Detroit . . . from the thundering furnaces of Pittsburgh to the pounding, clanging forges of St. Louis . . .

Millions of men are shaping the weapons of war.

The American Railroads are at war.

Twenty years ago they began preparing for whatever emergency might come.

Since then . . . tracks . . . bridges . . . signals . . . yards . . . shops . . . terminals . . . have been greatly improved.

More powerful locomotives and better cars have been put into service.

Shippers have cooperated in a great voluntary movement to make better, more efficient use of railroad facilities.

These are some of the reasons why America's railroads have been able to meet the heavy demands of the greatest emergency in their history—why this year they have been able to carry just about double the volume of freight and passenger traffic that they moved in 1939, when Hitler invaded Poland.

But there is a limit. As seen by Joseph B. Eastman, Director, Office of Defense Transportation, there is "a clear and definite need for new locomotives and new freight cars . . . and if we are to attain and maintain maximum utilization of existing facilities, they must be kept in prime order and repair."

Facing still greater demands upon their facilities in the coming crucial year, railroad men are steeling themselves to meet whatever lies ahead. Given the tools—the steel—to work with, they mean to see to it that the lights guiding vital railroad transport remain green from coast to coast.

Local 'Spotters' Receive Rating

Women Workers Praised at Recent Meeting

Daily problems that must be met on the "spotters" home front were discussed last night at a meeting held in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel. Mrs. George D. Logan, who is associate chief observer, addressed the gathering and lauded the loyalty of the women "spotters," who make a definite and marked contribution in behalf of the feminine role in the war effort.

Chief observer Sam N. Mann expressed appreciation of the manner in which Kingston's observation post functions and announced that it is mainly because of the women "spotters," that the post received a "four-gold-star" rating from the First Fighter Command. The women were given credit for spotting 95 per cent of the planes flying over Kingston.

Harry L. Kirchner, deputy state director and Eugene P. MacConnell, civil district director, who were guest speakers of the evening pictured the progress made since the establishment of the posts throughout Ulster county and explained the details leading up to the present stage. They encouraged the assembled "spotters" to ask questions so that doubtful action may be adjusted and corrected.

Though the entire "spotter" personnel of Kingston was lauded, four women in particular were complimented for outstanding achievement at the observation post, covering the 6 to 8 a. m. shift. They are, Miss Louise Heitzman, Miss Henrietta Heitzman, Mrs. Alice Palmer and Mrs. George Mathews. Two boys doing "spotter" duty were complimented for their quickness in reporting three different types of planes which followed each other rapidly. They are: Joe Netherwood and Duwain Christiana. Miss Jaane Holcomb was thanked for acting as secretary for the evening.

Chief observer Sam N. Mann, associate observers Mrs. George D. Logan; Francis Martocci; Robert Rhinehart; and Daniel W. Benton, announce that the following have volunteered for "spotter" service: Mrs. Mary Kane, Kathryn Ryan, Mrs. Janet Crowell, Mrs. Katherine Forester, Sylvia Shack, Phyllis Levey, Elaine M. Rich, Janet Phillips, Agnes Janakis, Mary E. Janakis, Charlotte Katz, Beverly C. St. Leger, Mrs. Louella Quilty, Mrs. Robert Hudler, Barbara Matthews, Ellin Marcia Kunst, Mrs. Nina K. Stieder, Mrs. Ethel Bishop and Victor Kane, Jr.

Santa Cruz Battle Taught Japanese Respect for Navy

Last Carrier Finally Was Sunk by U. S. After Heavy Charges Are Fired at Ship

(Charles McMurtry of The Associated Press was aboard the U. S. carrier which was lost in the October 26 battle of the Santa Cruz Islands. Badly burned on face and hands as a flaming Jap plane passed eight feet in front of him as it crash-dived to the carrier deck, he kept right on the job.

(The Navy has not disclosed the name of the lost carrier).

By CHARLES McMURTRY

With the U. S. Fleet in Southwest Pacific, Nov. 30 (AP)—That carrier was a tough ship to sink.

The Japs couldn't do it. They bombed and torpedoed her in four attacks. They crash dived on her deck with flaming planes. They fired her. They disabled her. But they couldn't sink her.

We finally were forced to do that. Unable to tow her from the scene of the battle, her personnel was transferred to other ships which steamed away into the night.

But she was so well-built and so seaworthy that our destroyers had to fire more than a dozen torpedoes and about 300 big shells into her sturdy hull before she sank.

We learned of that the morning after the battle of the Santa Cruz islands.

We also learned that the Japs, as expected, had tried a midnight dash into the area, but they couldn't find a trace of the carrier. Jap planes dropped flares around the area diligently.

The Japs didn't follow our force as we steamed off with the wounded and survivors. Were they afraid of us? That was logical. We had attacked a Jap force twice our size and had inflicted three times the damage we suffered.

It was true, we had lost a carrier, but we had put two Jap cruisers out of action. Our bombers are convinced at least one was damaged so badly she must have sunk later. But our Navy, claiming only certainties, announced conservately it was left "burning badly."

Casualties Are Small

Our own casualties were small. There were 115 officers and men known dead. The injured list was likewise small. Thus a high percentage of the entire personnel was uninjured despite repeated attacks.

"We licked hell out of them," one admiral said.

We had some burials at sea. The service was solemn and impressive. All who were off-duty and able to walk jammed the fantail of our destroyer to say farewell to their buddies. Tradition dictates that enlisted men assemble first, then the officers, and finally, the captain. It is the Navy's way of acknowledging that in death all men are equal.

"The Lord is my Shepherd," the captain read, and my thoughts strayed to the cheery supply officer whose funeral was being held. It was he who had given me a warm welcome aboard the now lost carrier a few nights before;

"Through the valley of the shadow of death...." I remembered how eager he had been to help in introducing me to all the officers I had come to interview; of how genuinely liked he was by both officers and men throughout the ship;

"I am the resurrcetion and the light...." I thought of his bright smile and light words as we chatted side-by-side on the signal bridge just before the attack; of how he eased the tension which builds up before an attack until it seems the nerves will explode; of how he had been called aside just as the first Jap planes were sighted; of how two hours later someone reported he was dead;

"All join in the benediction." The words of the captain drew my mind back to the service.

"Our father who are in heaven ...." Every voice joined in the prayer. "....Forgive us our trespasses....for Thine is the kingdom and the power and the glory. Amen."

The bugler sounded taps. Three sailors removed the flags which covered the canvas-shrouded bodies, and slowly slid each body toward the sea.

Freeman Photo

The two cannon and the pile of cannon balls that have stood on the city hall lawn since 1897, are now on the way to the scrap pile to be melted and used against the Axis powers in World War II, as is shown above. They were sold to B. Millens & Sons, local junk dealers, whose bid was $17.60 a ton.

The cannon and the cannon balls were hoisted onto trucks on Monday afternoon and trucked to the junk pile. No ceremonies marked the departure of the cannon.

The two 32-pounder guns and the cannon balls were obtained from the U. S. Ordinance Department in Washington, D. C., on August 3, 1897, through the efforts of the late Sol Appel of 70 Abeel street, whose cousin, Samuel K. Behrend, at that time was chief of the Ordinance Department.

The cannon and balls were presented to General Grant Post, No. 566, G.A.R., of which Mr. Appel was a member, and later they were turned over to the city and positioned on the city hall lawn, where they had since stood.

According to the old records the two cannon weighed a total of 9,120 pounds, while the 115 cannon balls weighed 3,680 pounds, making a total of 12,800 pounds.

Since then the number of cannon balls has dwindled and yesterday it was found that there were a total of 66 balls, 33 in each pile, and that each cannon ball weighed 45 pounds.

Miss Ruby Appel, daughter of Sol Appel, has furnished an interesting account of the obtaining of the cannon from the Ordinance Department in Washington. To defray the expense of transportation and the mounting of the guns the following residents of the city contributed funds needed: Henry E. Wieber, Carl G. Fischer, James E. Phinney, Henry Abbey, A. S. Staples, Daniel Murphy, John S. Thompson, Pitts Brothers, Isaac N. Weiner, C. Hiltebrant & Son, Senator Jacob Rice, Frank M. Madden, Canfield Stove Co., Chris A. Murray, William Derrenbacher, H. S. Crispell and William E. Bunten.

The cannon were shipped to Rhinecliff over the New York Central railroad and were brought over the Hudson river on the ferry.

The cannon were carted from the ferry shed to the city hall by the E. Winter Express and by the late Patrick Joyce.

For 45 years the cannon have stood, one on each side of the soldier and sailor monument in front of the city hall, and behind each cannon was placed a pile of cannon balls.

Years ago it was found necessary to weld the pile of cannon balls together as children playing on the lawn would roll the cannon balls down over the lawn endangering pedestrians on the sidewalk on Broadway.

Sol Appel through whose efforts the cannon were obtained for years was engaged in the retail shoe business with a store on lower Broadway.

er an area rent director will be appointed to have charge of the Area Rent Office.

Mr. Chelius said only a few grounds for adjustment from the March 1, 1942, rent are permitted under federal O.P.A. rent regulations. "A substantial increase in services, furnishings or equipment of a particular dwelling unit may entitle a landlord to a higher rent, or if there has been a substantial change in the housing accommodation by a major capital improvement. Another possible ground for adjustment from the maximum rent date is in the case where the rent on March 1 was materially affected by blood, personal or other special relationships between landlord and tenant. In general, however, all rents must be adjusted to what they were on March 1, except in very exceptional cases."

Mr. Chelius warned that rent regulations provide for the control and restraint of evictions. "Under maximum rent regulations a landlord is not permitted to evict a tenant without notifying the Area Rent Office," he said. Evictions are restricted, but a landlord may evict in a few cases, such as:

"If a tenant refuses to pay his legal rent.

"If a tenant who had a written lease refuses to sign a renewal for a period of not longer than one year at a rent no higher than the maximum legal rent.

"If the tenant has violated a substantial obligation of tenancy or has committed a nuisance.

"If a landlord wishes to remodel or alter the dwelling unit in such a way that the presence of the tenant hinders the work."

However, Mr. Chelius said, "the cause for eviction must be real and then the landlord must first notify the rent office."

Mr. Chelius pointed out that wilful violation of maximum rent regulations is punishable by a $5,000 fine, a year in prison, or both.

"We anticipate complete cooperation by landlords and tenants with the federal rent control program in the Poughkeepsie Defense-Rental Area," Mr. Chelius said. "This is an important part of the over-all war program and a basic factor in curbing inflation. In general, in areas now under federal rent regulation, landlords have accepted rent control as a necessary war measure."

The immediate task for the Area Rent Office will be the registration of every dwelling unit rented or offered for rent in the Poughkeepsie Defense-Rental Area, Mr. Chelius said. This will be done at conveniently located registration centers set up throughout the area as soon as possible.

"This registration," Mr. Chelius said, "is the foundation for effective rent control. It not only establishes the maximum legal rent that can be charged for a specific unit, but also the kind and number of services furnished the tenant by the landlord on the maximum rent date."

One went aground on an island and the other started to drop anchor. It was quite a long range, but we fired one torpedo which hit under the stack and the ship broke squarely in two and went down in about 45 seconds. Apparently not a survivor got off.

The convoy was standing to in a large port where there are steel mills.

Klakring said the third sinking was "in full view of a Japanese settlement." This sinking and the next one averaged about a minute going down and several boatlods of survivors got away.

"When we started after the rest of the convoy," Klakring continuel, "out of a cove came six or seven Jap patrol planes. They dropped plenty of depth charges but we kept on after our prey. We managed to head off one of the two remaining ships and let her have two torpedoes."

He said the pursuit of the convoy continued for about 100 miles and that "all the Japanese on shore had a good look at the sinkings."

On Sunday they approached shore close enough to watch the horse races at a big city track.

"We watched the pony races for an hour," said Klakring. "There was a tremendous crowd there, and we could see the races clearly. It wasn't recreation. I was looking for a target, but we didn't fire that day."

The submarine's next victim was an 8,000-ton transport only a mile from the beach. "This was near a large city and I think quite a good number of people ashore saw it, Klakring said. It was at the entrance to the harbor."

The submarien later sank two ships ten minutes apart out of another convoy despite gunfire from escort vessels. One was a tanker and the other an armed freighter. "There were seven ships in the convoy, and unfortunately we got only two," Klakring said.

A lone, fully-loaded cargo vessel which broke in two when torpedoed and sank quickly, was the sub's eighth victim.

Dr. Taylor Asks Laboratory Aid

Supervisors Are Informed of Increase in Work Done for County

Dr. J. S. Taylor, director of the Kingston City Laboratory, made his annual report to the Board of Supervisors Monday evening in which he said that the amount of work done for the county during the year had been practically the same as the other years and requested that the same aid be given the laboratory in 1943. The county contracts with the City Laboratory for its work and pays annually $12,000 for the service, one half of which is refunded by the state.

The same contract was approved again for the services during 1943-1944. In his report Dr. Taylor said that while the amount of county work had been approximately the same during the past year as in former years, there had been an increase of county work in the examinations made for Selective Service Boards, while in other services there had been a drop, thus balancing the total amount of work done.

One increased duty which the laboratory staff is carrying on is the collection of plasma for a blood and plasma bank to be used in case of an emergency. Under the proposed plan the Ulster County War Council and the City War Council have started the collection of 350 pints of plasma each. To date 330 pints have been collected and stored, of this amount 70 pints are for the county bank and 260 for the city bank. This collection of blood is done by the laboratory staff.

Through the solicitation of John Groves, deputy director of civilian protection of the town of Esopus, the management of the Hercules plant at Port Ewen has agreed to permit employes of the company to contribute blood to the bank at the plant. The laboratory staff will go to the Hercules plant and there in the company's infirmary and aided by the company nurses, some 300 to 400 employes will donate blood for the bank. The employe will donate the blood during working hours and without loss of time, through the generosity of the company.

The report of Dr. Taylor with his request that the county continue its aid in the sum of $12,000 for maintenance of the Kingston City Laboratory, was referred to the committee on public health and laboratory, and ordered filed.

Resolutions from the previous session were called up and adopted without opposition.

The committee on public health nurses moved that the recommended salaries as presented at the board meeting on Friday evening be adopted and that there be employed six public health nurses during 1943. Adopted. Dr. H. P. Van Wagenen of the committee moved that the appointments of Dr. Rachel Holloway of Kerhonkson for a term to expire in 1946, Dr. Eugene Galvin of Rosendale to expire 1945, Mrs. G. W. Ross of Port Ewen to expire in 1944 and Mrs. Lucy Arnold of Modena to expire in 1943, be approved and that Dr. Frederic Holcomb and Albert D. Kniffin be named ex-officio members of the committee on public health nurses. Adopted.

A report was submitted by the committee on commissioner of public welfare, relative to general asylum bills and the committee recommended that he be allowed claims against the county in the sum of $4,037.95. Received and filed. The claims are: Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville, $871.71; Kingston Hospital, $2,693.10; Benedictine Hospital, $228, and Mt. Magdalen Training School, Troy, $245.14.

The same committee reported that claims amounting to $781.63 against the non-settlement fund were proper charges against the county and moved that these bills be audited as proper claims against the county outside the city of Kingston, also that the fund be reimbursed to the amount of $781.63 to bring the fund back to the $10,000 total which it is maintained at under the state law. Referred to committee on appropriations.

A resolution was offered to levy and assess on the county the sum of $1,500 for employment of public health nurses and for their expenses during the year. Over.

John Costello of 71 Ann street, appointed to fill the vacancy created by the death of Supervisor Carl Laicher of the sixth ward, was present at the session. Mr. Costello was a former city marshal.

Before adjourning until Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock Clerk Simpson announced that on Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock there would be a meeting of the committee on printing and also the committee on sheriff's bills. That evening at 7 o'clock there will be a meeting of the committee on justices and constables and also the committee on county judge and district attorney.

There will be an inspection of the buildings and grounds of the Tuberculosis Hospital on Wednesday, December 2, at 5:30 o'clock and all supervisors are invited to attend this inspection. A buffet lunch will be served at 6 o'clock.

Prior to the meeting of the board Monday evening the committee on printing proceedings met and opened bids for this work. There was but one bid submitted, that of the Freeman Publishing Co. with a bid of $3.19 per page.

Jews to Observe Festival of Lights

Chanuko Will Be Observed From December 4 to 11

The first historically-recorded fight for religious freedom— and, therefore, for all freedoms—will be commemorated by the traditional observance of Chanuko, the Festival of Lights or Rededication, observed by Jews the world over for 2,000 years, and celebrated this year, December 4-11.

The written history of this battle is to be found in the Apocrypha of the Bible in the Book of Maccabees.

Therein is related how Antiochus Epiphanes, conqueror of Judah, tried in 169 B. C. E., to force all people unto his "new order" for the provinces under his rule. National culture, local religion, and personal endeavor were to be uprooted in favor of a general plan of "coordination" for everyone.

But it did not work. The religion of their fathers and the belief in one God was too precious to the Jews to be exchanged, either by cajolery or force, for the religion and ways of the pagan Greek gods whose worship Antiochus demanded.

Bitterness became open revolt, headed by Judah Maccabee and his brothers. Guerilla warfare—a small band of patriots against a well-equipped conqueror—led to a decisive battle in 165 B. C. E. in which Antiochus and his army were defeated, and the Temple of Jerusalem which had been converted into a pagan shrine, was rededicated amid rejoicing and thanksgiving. There is the legend of a miracle which had occurred at the dedication—a small cruse of sacred oil, sufficient ordinarily for only three days of pure flame before the altar, lasted the full eight days until consecrated oil could be had again.

This brave victory of a minority fired by its religion and devotion to God, is therefore observed eight days. Faithfully, the candles of Chanuko have been lit for 2,000 years as a symbol of the victory over evil darkness. In the year 1942, this observance has deepened significance—Notice prepared by Commission on Public Information about Jews and Judaism, Cincinnati, O.

Saugerties Men Hurt Painfully

X-Rays Show Overbagh Has Broken Knees; Terpening Has Jaw Fracture

Gerald Overbagh, 25, of Saugerties suffered fractures of both knees as well as a fractured rib and George Terpening, also of Saugerties, was found to have a broken jaw when X-rays were taken Monday at the Benedictine Hospital.

Both men were injured early Monday morning when their car and that of George Medwin collided at the junction of route 9-W and the East Chester by-pass. Overbagh was on his way from Saugerties to his position at the Electrol and Terpening was riding in the Overbagh car. Medwin was en route from Kingston to Saugerties, and was traveling over 9-W while the other car was proceeding south and out the by-pass. The pavement was icy at the time of the crash which happened about 6:55 a. m.

No Cause Verdict Given in Riozzi Case

A verdict of no cause of action was returned late Monday evening in the negligence action brought by Anthony Riozzi and his father, Angelo Riozzi, against Madeline Comstock and another. The action was started last week in Supreme Court before a jury and Justice Francis Bergan. The Young lad alleged injuries when he was struck by the car of Mrs. Comstock which was being driven by her husband. The accident happened near the Saugerties High School when the plaintiff alleged the car struck him and injured his leg. One leg it is claimed is permanently injured and is shorter than the other because of the break.

In defense of the action it was contended that the injury suffered by the boy was due to his own negligence and that he had left school and ran out in the path of the oncoming car.

James H. Hyer appeared for plaintiff and Judge A. J. Cook appeared as trial counsel for the defendants, Herbert F. Hastings, Jr., being counsel of record for defendants.

When writing letters during these war times, we suggest you end your letters with something of a patriotic note, such as:

Yours for America
Yours for Victory . . . —
Yours for Free Peoples
Yours for Our Glorious Flag
Yours for America and Democracy
Yours for Uncle Sam and all his Nephews and Nieces

Many other similar wordings you no doubt can evolve yourself, but the idea is a good one, and we suggest it in all sincerity.

It was before rationing had been adopted, and Mrs. Murphey asked the price of a pound of coffee, and the grocer replied, "58c".

Mrs. Murphey—Why, isn't that high?

Grocer—Well, due to the shortage the price has gone up.

Mrs. Murphey—What about your ceiling price? Why I can buy the same brand down at the corner grocery for only 34c.

Grocer—Well, why don't you buy it there?

Mrs. Murphey—Because he is out of coffee.

Definitions

Sermon—A monologue which is usually forgotten because it is much too long.

Rudder—An attachment to a boat or a plane with a stern duty to perform.

Eternal Triangle—Any love affair that isn't on the square.

Height of Enthusiasm—Prospective mother-in-law denouncing her daughter's fiance.

Mother—Did you mail the letter for me, Junior?

Junior—Yes, Mother Dear, and here's your three cents back.

Mother—How in the world did you mail a letter without a stamp?

Junior—Oh, it was easy. I just slipped it in the box when no one was looking.

Mother—Junior, if you are always kind and polite to all of your playmates, what will they think of you?

Junior—Some of them would think they could lick me.

Keep the home fires burning and the fires from burning the home.

Bride—Who is the man in the blue suit, darling?

Groom—That's the umpire, dear.

Bride—Why does he wear that funny wire thing over his face?

Groom—To keep from biting the players, precious.

SUDDEN THOUGHT: The icy walks are hard to stand up on and equally hard to sit down on.

Mother—Why are you going to all that trouble to open that letter so carefully?

Daughter—Oh, I had a quarrel with George, and I intend to send his letter back unopened. I thought I would just see what he said before I returned it.

Do you remember when they used to say:

. . . "It isn't the original cost, its the upkeep?"

. . . "It isn't the money, its the principle of the thing?"

. . . "I don't see how they can afford it?"

. . . "That's what I keep telling them down at the office."

. . . "What do you know that I don't know?"

. . . "You and who else?"

. . . "I'll bet you tell that to all the girls?"

. . . "Is it cold enough for you?"

Santa Takes Command on Gift Giving Front

Reporting for Duty in Person for First Time This Year, Tomorrow

Emerging From Behind the Scenes Where He's Been Working Overtime To Make Sure There Are Gifts for All

Emerging from behind the scenes where he has been working ardently in an effort to make this the most cheerful, the most successful Christmas Season in all history, Santa Claus now reports in person for duty on the Gift Giving Front.

Old St. Nick has arrived in town to take command himself of a great corps of assistants whose joyful task it will be to guide you to the solution of every gift giving challenge of a most unusual year.

As you wend your way, beginning tomorrow, through the crowded aisles of stores that glitter with the freshness of their gift giving inspiration, you will marvel at the ingenuity of the ruddy faced old gentleman. He has provided the means for making everyone, regardless of your budget, happy this Christmas.

Most Important Season of All

Haling the Yuletide of 1942 as the most important Gift Giving Season in all our history — when no one you love dare be forgotten — Santa cautions all to brook no delays in starting their gift shopping. Tomorrow is not too early.

The long hours of each day that he has worked overtime in preparation for the most important of all Yuletide seasons also involved the job of making sure that the men in our armed forces overseas were generously remembered by no later than November 1st.

Now there yet remain the boys—and also the girls—in our armed forces in camps and barracks on this side of the seas, to whom we must pay a visit without fail in your behalf. These are over and above and in addition to the little boys and the little girls—and all the folks at home, on whose health and happiness our fighting men depend for their support.

Starts Earlier This Year

Christmas arrived much earlier this year for the boys overseas. Christmas really arrives tomorrow, on the Home Front, though December 25 is still weeks away. There is a lot of gift choosing and a lot of gift mailing to be done.

And if mailing is required it is especially important that gift selections be made without delay. With Uncle Sam's transportation system taxed by the urgencies of the times, and with post office playing Santa's delivery man for those in the service, twice the normal time should be allowed for postal delivery of gift packages.

This Christmas is a challenge—successfully met by Santa Claus. It challenges every American to show how, despite the war, the precious tradition of the Yuletide flows on with all its cheerful vigor. It challenges us all to demonstrate that the unparallelled American capacity for bringing joy to all those who wish "peace on earth," and who have "good will toward men," flourishes more brilliantly than ever.

Does His Part

Santa Claus has done his part. Working overtime he has managed to stock the stores with vast assortments of gifts from which to choose, despite the fact that many basic materials required for manufacture of Christmas gifts have gone off to war along with many men.

The miracle of this Christmas will be found in the selections of precious things, practical things, cheer inspiring things for youngsters and for oldsters, that await the early shopper.

Many desired items—which will be obtainable only by those who act upon Santa's special 1942 advice to brook no delay—may vanish from the market entirely following the Christmas season, or soon thereafter.

These are items made of the strategic materials required by our fighting forces, principally metals and also many of wood.

The supply of the so highly prized for gift-giving electrical appliances, for example, is surprisingly good, but nevertheless definitely limited. There are radios, but don't wait too long to shop for them.

Use Layaway Plan

Jewelers and furniture dealers urge gift shoppers to use the layaway plan immediately for wanted gifts from among those they have in stock.

Most fortunately for the children—to whom, after all, Christmas is most important—Toyland is a veritable miracle-land in the ingenuity and the foresight have combined to provide a wonderful opportunity to make them the happiest generation of youngsters in the land, but there again the advice is shop early.

The gift giving trend is strongly and most happily in the direction of wearables for everyone—men, women, boys and girls—with a dominant note of the practical directing the selection.

Long Lasting Gifts

Fortunately, fashion, utilizing its limitless ingenuity, has seized upon new materials and what is available of traditional materials, to convert the practical into the beautiful and to make the gift of wearables as full of gaiety as they are of usefulness.

Thos trend emphasizes the giving of long lasting gifts with the quality of continuing to say Merry Christmas to the lucky recipient for weeks and months and maybe years. The trend includes the vastly increased attention being given to things for the home, be they important pieces of furniture, decorative objects or just small gadgets which serve to make living a little more comfortable.

After all, those who will remain on the Home Front for the duration will be spending more time in the home, and the one who gives something to make the home more comfortable, more attractive, is giving a gift of true Christmas cheer.

Emphasis in giving is on the "long lasting" in a dozen different ways this year. Many of the ways to give long lasting gifts to everyone you love, yourself included, really involves no extra expenditure of money at all.

Some Examples

By way of example, you will be giving yourself and all men who love freedom, a gift that is important to Victory, if you:

Carry a bigger share of packages. That will help save rubber and tires for our fighting men.

Choose something warm to wear for someone on your list, for that will help save fuel.

Make your choice of gifts definite and final so there will be no need for returning or exchanging them. This saves waste in many ways.

Give what is probably the most important gift of all, and certainly a gift that will last not only for the duration but one that will come back to you and yours with interest—give a War Savings Bond.

Take your Christmas Shopping Change in War Savings Stamps.

ONE FOR SLACKS, one for warmth, and one for sheer femininity! Three slipper types for every type of woman's hours at home.

There's More Reason to Shop Early Now, Than Ever Before

Santa's calling the roll—and every wise Christmas shopper will answer promptly! Early shopping is Santa's order of the day for better reasons than in any past year; and the most joyous giving will be that which was planned for . . . not tomorrow . . . but Today!

This year's Christmas money must buy practical, quality things—and that means taking enough shopping time to permit really careful selection.

Cooperating with wartime "regulations"—whether they be written or unwritten—is something every one considers a personal duty now. Since that includes carrying small Christmas packages home, allowance may have to be made too for additional time for one or more extra bus or trolley trips!

As for the boys in service—not an overseas gift should be on American soil this late, for November 1st was the last date for shipping to them in time for Christmas delivery. And twice the usual mailing time must be allowed for gifts for men in service still within our shores.

Then, too, because transportation curtailments are going to mean that fewer folks will travel, the mails will have to be loaded with their gifts—which they'd ordinarily receive in person.

Among the advantages to be gained by shopping early is the fact that there are still many gift items which once gone won't be duplicated. Since they're available in only limited numbers selections must be made quickly if one is to be able to give at least some precious "no more to be had" gifts.

No one should need more incentive for early shopping! Yet also to be considered are the folks who keep Christmas merchandise moving from warehouse to store to shoppers' arms; the postal workers who will deliver gifts at their final destination. Their load is lightened when Christmas shopping is staggered over a longer period of time.

It's more fun to shop early—and more fun after. Leisurely gift wrapping will permit more attractive, more secure packages; and there'll be plenty of time for the tree—and a party too.

Use this Christmas Gift guide as an index of where to get just the right thing at just the right price for every one on everyone else's gift list! It tells, in thrilling stories, beautiful pictures and informative ads what to get where, and what to pay and it also tells of gifts one need only write away or phone for; because mail and phone shopping saves precious auto tires, gasoline . . . and time!

It's good to know that gifts always purchased with Time Payment facilities can still be bought that way—with only slight adjustment in line with wartime requirements.

From every angle it looks as though America is going to see its dearest tradition carried on in the very spirit we're fighting to make live forever.

It's going to be a wonderful Christmas—most wonderful for those who plan shopping early—do their shopping early—and wrap and mail in time to make this the kind of Christmas they always want their loved ones to enjoy.

Plan Lighting Yule Tree Now

Need Be No Dimout of Traditional Cheer

There need be and must be no dim-out this year of the Christmas tree—traditional and most cherished symbol of the Yuletide—though manufacture of strings of colored lights has stopped in the name of Victory.

Those families that equipped themselves with tree-lighting sets during past years, will find the carry-over equipment coming to the rescue, and early shoppers for new sets may find some still in the stores. Replacement bulbs are available in satisfactory assortments but limited quantities.

Those who lack or fail to find the safe electrical tree-lighting equipment, may through use of ingenuity, still manage to overcome the hazards of old fashioned candles by utilizing bullet-type reading lamps or bed lamps hidden behind living room chairs, with their light directed on the tree.

Christmas tree ornaments of which there are plenty, and traditional tinsel, have a great power of light reflection and will, with the aid of lamps directed upon them, give off a brilliant Christmas effect.

Lighted trees, it is suggested, should not be placed at windows this year in dim-out areas, but rather in an inside corner of the room. Windows should be shaded.

GIVE A BACKREST

A backrest—not just for an invalid, but for a friend who likes to read in bed or have breakfast there—is a splendfid gift. These backrests have a back and arms and are comfortably stuffed with cotton and covered in sprightly chintz. They are inexpensive and you'll find them in practically any furniture or department store.

Here's Gift That Will Pave Way to Victorious New Year

All wrapped in red, white and blue — having won Santa's salute as the outstanding Christmas gift of the year—is the War Bond. And there are many advantages in choosing it to give those who rank highest on one's Christmas list.

War Bonds are so easy to shop for: Their size, color and "fit" are always right: Many retailers, and every bank in town has them for sale.

War Bonds are a gift for the future—because held until they mature their value will be greater than their actual cost.

And War Bonds are the most tangible way of saying, "I in giving, you in receiving this Christmas gift, help to preserve the joyous tradition of Christmas for which we're fighting now . . ."

Not everyone rates a War Bond—but anyone can be started toward the purchase of one with a Stamp Album partially filled with War Stamps in the ten cent to $5 denominations; neatly encased in a fine leather or inexpensive holder.

* * *

One of the most charming ways of giving Christmas gift War Stamps is in a madeup boutonniere, corsage, bracelet or hair-do nosegay which can easily be taken apart (if the recipient can bear to give up wearing it), and the stamps of which they're fashioned pasted into an Album.

Whether or not War Bonds and Stamps are chosen to give as Christmas Gifts, one thing is certain: and that is, that in buying gifts with which to spread yuletide cheer, everyone will remember to take some change in War Stamps with every purchase—to pave the way for a Victorious New Year!

Shirts Prove to Be Safest Gift

Every Man Always Needs Just a Couple More

Few men ever have as many shirts as they would like to own. This is true even of the boys who are now in the army, though Uncle Sam furnishes them with an issue.

Therefore, you will never make a mistake by giving that man of yours a box of shirts this Christmas.

All you need know to make the gift perfect, is his size, and sleeve length, which can be found inside the collar band on one of the shirts now in his dresser drawer; and whether he likes them plain white, or colored. The stores will guide you in selection of the collar style.

One more caution is necessary when you're planning a gift of shirts for the man in the army. They must be in regulation styling and color. Most stores have them in correct fabrics so all you need do is make it clear that they are for an army man.

Regular Chino's, however, are welcome for summer.

Make It Thrilling Week of Surprises for Men In Service

Want to make it a thrilling week of daily surprises for your man in the service, this Christmas?

Then why not use this inexpensive plan:

Start well in advance of December 25, with a Christmas card "just to let you know that Santa Claus is on his way."

Drop into a store next day and address an already Christmas-wrapped package of cigarettes.

On the third day, send him one of the cleverly designed packages of shower-soap, purchasable for a dollar or less, and on the fourth, a ready-packaged-for-mailing box of razor blades.

The sixth day, send him a photograph of your self, and on the seventh, a pair of regulation army socks marked — "do not open until Christmas Day," containing the major gift from you to him.

Or vary the plan to suit yourself. There are so many gifts he can use, and so many of them cost so little.

Churches Described At Club Meeting

The Men's Club of the First Baptist Church had as their guest speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the club Monday evening, November 30, the Rev. C. Henry Atkinson of the Building Council Department of the American Baptist Home Mission Society.

Following a shrimp chow mein supper with which the club began the evening's activities, the Rev. Mr. Atkinson showed a series of slides on the exteriors and interiors of churches throughout the world. Among the churches shown were Indian Missions, English country type churches, Spanish churches on the Pacific coast, New England colonial type church, log cabin churches in Maine, the Riverside Church in New York city, Phillips Brooks church in Boston, and the Puerto Rican Baptist Church. The latter is constructed of reinforced steel because of earthquakes and is considered a tremendous engineering feat as well as a master work of architecture.

The Rev. Mr. Atkinson discussed the importance architecturally and spiritually of the parts of the church such as lighting, pulpits, church furniture, church grounds, children's rooms, kitchens, recreation rooms, windows, doorways and Sunday school rooms. He concluded that churches should be planned and built to meet the spiritual needs of the community and not just as architectural masterpieces alone.

Following this excellent presentation, President William S. Jackson opened the regular business meeting of the club by paying tribute to Arthur Jones, secretary of the club, who enlisted in the Engineering Corps of the U. S. Army and is now stationed at Camp Breckenridge, Ky.

The club voted to accept the invitation of the Men's Club of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer to attend a party of games, motion pictures, and dartball at the latter church, December 15. Such informal gatherings are encouraged by the Federation of Men's Clubs to take the place of regularly scheduled dartball games and other activities which have been curtailed due to the war.

The club voted to donate a sum of money to the Thanksgiving offering of the church. The meeting was then adjourned.

The next meeting of the First Baptist Men's Club will be held on Monday evening, December 28.

Mrs. Murphy Is Hostess For Olympian Club Meeting

Mrs. James J. Murphy, Jr., was hostess last evening to the regular meeting of the Olympian Club at her home, 255 Pearl street. The discussion of the evening was on Robert Burns. Miss Anna McCullough gave a sketch of his life and also read a few of his poems.

Plans were made for the annual Christmas party to be held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Cragin, 5 Ponckhockie street, on the next meeting night, December 14. Mrs. George Dingee will assist Mrs. Cragin with the arrangements.

Century Club Arranges For Stocking Drive

The drive for old silk stockings is being conducted in the city by the Twentieth Century Club as part of their war service program. Any silk, nylon or rayon stockings or the combinations of any of these are acceptable but the stockings must be thoroughly washed before being contributed.

Twelve merchants have been contacted for the placing of containers in the various stores and a list of these will be published in a few days. In the meantime, women are urged to gather all of their old stockings for this drive. Mrs. C. B. Dickinson is chairman of the drive.

Employer Is Honored

A dinner was held at Cuneo's Restaurant, last Tuesday, in honor of Isador Halpern, given by the employes of the Beacon Dress Factory of Pine Grove avenue.

Those who attended were Mrs. Louis Cashara, Mrs. Lena Wolven, Mrs. Vargus Davi, Mrs. John Bunfilio, Mrs. Stephen Witkowskie, Mrs. Alta Cross, Mrs. Edward Benoit, Mrs. Walter Roskoski, Mrs. Arthur Keator, Mrs. Lionel Seneca, Mrs. Mary Finley, and the Misses Caroline Amato and Ang. Carrada.

Minstrel Scheduled At Hurley Church

The Berean Class of the Hurley Reformed Church will give a minstrel this Friday evening, at 8 o'clock in the church.

The end men will be Mrs. George Brown, Jr., Mrs. John R. Sutton, Mrs. Carl Kern, Mrs. Isaac Roosa. Mrs. Arthur Harder will play the role of interlocutor and Mrs. William Hardenburgh will be the pianist.

Others taking part are Mrs. Edmund Bower, Mrs. Alton Dietz, Mrs. Angus Rowse, Mrs. Horace Jones, Mrs. Ernest DuBois, Mrs. John Gill, and Mrs. Harold Davis.

Following the performance, refreshments will be on sale.

Immigrant Groups Are Discussed By Sorosis

"On the Trail of the Immigrant" was the topic of the paper given by Mrs. Lorraine Wood at the meeting of Sorosis yesterday afternoon. The club met with Mrs. Grover Lasher at her home, 75 Lucas avenue.

Mrs. Wood divided the classes of immigrants according to nationalities and told of the work which each group has done in America. She spoke of the Scandanavian and German people who have become substantial citizens and who are most easily absorbed in the country; of the working class groups of Slavs and Poles; the Bohemians who have worked in the cigar industry; the Hungarian steel workers; Italian farming groups; Greek confectioners; and the Orientals who are found in almost all of the industries. Mrs. Wood told of the characteristics of each group and how they have brought assets to America.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Theron Culver, 83 Washington avenue, December 7. Mrs. A. Noble Graham, will give the paper on "Original Festivals."

Celebrate 20th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Fuoco of 60 Hanratty street celebrated their 20th wedding anniversary, Saturday, November 28. A party was held in their honor at their home.

Concert Pianist to Appear

WITOLD MALCUZYNSKI

Witold Malcuzynski, last pupil of Paderewski, and winner of honors and awards in his brief but brilliant career abroad, will be the artist presented by the Cooperative Concert Association, Monday evening, December 7, in the Kingston High School Auditorium. He made his American debut in April at Carnegie Hall, under the patronage of Jan Ciechanowski, Polish ambassador to the United States.

At the outbreak of the war, Mr. Malcuzynski was concertizing in the Balkans. He canceled his tour and returned to Poland. Soon after he and his wife went to Paris. The day the Nazis entered the French capital, the Malcuzynskis fled just ahead of the invaders. Through the influence of a South American music lover whom he met in Lisbon, a concert tour was arranged in South America. At this time Yehudit Menuhin, passing through Montevideo, heard one of Malcuzynski's concerts and urged him to come to America.

Witold Malcuzynski is the second in the series of four Community Concerts held this season. He replaces Dalies Frantz, American pianist, who enlisted in the Air Corps. The concert begins at 8:30 o'clock and as usual no one will be seated during the first group, once the concert has begun.

Personal Notes

Mr. and Mrs. James J. O'Connor, Jr., of 15 Foxhurst Lane, Manhasset, L. I., announce the birth of their second daughter, Susan Catherine O'Connor, born November 23. Mr. O'Connor is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. O'Connor of 19 Johnston avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Burdette R. Tuttle of 16 Ponckhockie street were the guests for the Thanksgiving holidays at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank O. Anderson in Larchmont.

Stanley E. Cahill, second class petty officer, U. S. Coast Guard, has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Cahill of 129 Pine Grove avenue, during the holiday week-end.

Eugene Mentnech, senior of Clarkson College, has returned after spending the Thanksgiving vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. Mentnech of Albany avenue extension.

Miss Berit Arnold of Hempstead, L. I., was the Thanksgiving week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Baker of 156 Smith avenue. She returned to her home yesterday.

Miss Angela Goffredi, a student at the New York School of Interior Decoration, spent the Thanksgiving holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Goffredi of Clinton avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rick of Albany avenue spent the week-end at Bethel, Conn.

HOBBY GIFTS

Think of his or her hobby when selecting Christmas gifts. The music enthusiast will always enjoy a new record for his collection. The amateur photographer never has all of his snapshots in an album. The bookworm will welcome the latest best-seller, or name-plates for the books he has already collected.

JINGLE BELLS

Births Recorded

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Cuff of 29 North Wilbur avenue, a son, William Michael, in Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Delano Ellis of 40 Prince street, a son, Richard Delano, Jr., in Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. David H. Bell of Saugerties, a daughter, Charlotte Ann, in Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Becker of 12 South Pine street, a daughter, Mary Elizabeth, in Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Decker of New Paltz, a daughter, Joyce Marie, in Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester I. Gardiner of 109 St. James street, a daughter, Barbara Ruth, in Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Myer Sack of 141 St. James street, a daughter, Frances Helene, in Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Folwell of Eddyville, a daughter, Joan Elizabeth, in Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Van Kleeck of New Paltz, a son, James Joseph, in Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Rinaldo of Saugerties, a son, Joseph Earl, in Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo M. Henderson of 170 Highland avenue, a daughter, Helen, in Benedictine Hospital.

WEDS BRITISH CORPORAL

Belfast, Northern Ireland (AP) — With a United States Army band playing the wedding march and glee from the cookhouse to shower rice on the couple Sergeant George Rex Leghorn of 576 Burnside street, San Francisco, and a corporal of the WAAFS had most of a County Tyrone at their wedding.

The bride is Corporal Regina Dorothy Rochester from the Isle of Wight.

HOW BEST TO SERVE LIQUEURS AFTER DINNER

A tray with several bottles of liqueurs on it and numerous little glasses would be rather awkward to pass from hand to hand at a dinner table—at least so it seems to me! The answer therefore to one who asks, "How is it best to serve after dinner cordials and coffee at the dinner table and in the living room, without a maid? Also, are they correctly called cordials or liqueurs?" is this:

Without a maid (and very often with one—or more) the hostess sits at a low coffee table, with coffee equipment on it and makes as well as pours the coffee, a cup at a time for each guest. The tray of liqueurs is put on another table and people help themselves or else are served by the host. Or it may be that the tray is placed at one side of the coffee table and liqueurs poured by the hostess as soon as she has poured the coffee. To the second question: Liqueurs is the usual name used but cordials is not incorrect.

No Furlough Wedding

Dear Mrs. Post: I will have to travel 1500 miles to where my fiance is stationed, to be married there instead of here at home. It is doubtful if our parents will even be present. Do you think it better to send invitations to such a wedding, or announcements afterward?

Answer: While it is perfectly proper to send engraved invitations to a wedding even though you know your friends can not possibly go to it, I think under these particular circumstances of a ceremony rather than a wedding it might be better to write notes to your really intimate friends and members of your family, telling them that you are going to the coast to be married in such a day; that you wish they could be with you but you know they will be thinking of you and sending you their good wishes. After your marriage send announcements to your own and the other family's visiting lists.

When in Doubt, Ask

Dear Mrs. Post: Several years ago I met a man who came here to town to work. We were very good friends—absolutely nothing more. He used to talk to me about this girl he was in love with, and hoped to marry, back home. Then he left here and married his sweetheart. Now I've just heard from a mutual friend that he is stationed at a camp on the edge of this town and that his wife is staying alone at the hotel in town and that she is not able to see very much of him. I know if the tables were turned I would appreciate someone looking me up, but I hesitate to make any advances because it is possible she may never have heard of me. And if I say I'm an old friend she may get to wondering why he didn't talk of me. And yet, excepting as an old friend I wouldn't be going to see her!

Answer: I think exactly as you do and if I were you I should write him, tell him I hear his wife is at the hotel and that I would love to get to see her if he and his wife would like me to do so.

Great American Rudeness

The outstanding rudeness in America is that of the hostess who helps herself when there is a woman guest at the table. Mrs. Post discusses this fault in serving, and others, in her booklet, "The Etiquette of Service," No. 503, which can be obtained by writing her in care of The Freeman, P. O. Box 75, Station O., New York, N. Y., enclosing 10 cents in coins and a 3-cent stamp to cover costs.

Teachers' College News

New Paltz, Dec. 1 — Sorority rushing parties were held at the sorority houses last week in the following form: The freshman girls were entertained at the various sorority houses on Tuesday and Wednesday. Luncheon, tea, dinner and evening invitations were received. Bids were given out on Thursday and the conflict parties to honor these pledges were held November 21. The Agonian Sorority served a formal dinner with Mrs. Taylor the faculty advisor, present. Arethusa served a formal dinner at which the faculty advisor Miss Dorothy Giddings was guest. A buffet dinner was given at the Artemis House with Miss Gertrude Nichols and Dr. and Mrs. Howard Mosher as guests. This was followed by a fashion show and dancing. Clionian Sorority served a buffet dinner which was attended by the faculty advisor, Miss Mary J. Mulfly and by a past member living in town, Mrs. Bertha Dennistion. Theta Phi and Phi Sigma Lambda also served formal dinners. Formal pledging took place on Monday evening, November 23. Among the New Paltz residents were: Helen Bleecker to Agonian; Gloria Gardner, Mary Jane Hasbrouck and Betty Langwick to Arethusa; Mary Glancy to Artemis; Lillian DePuy and Frances Barnhart to Clionian.

CHRISTMAS HINT

If you're knitting Christmas gifts, don't forget sister who loves to read in bed. She'll adore a cuddly bed jacket to keep her warm when the heat is turned off.

CHILL CHASER

A bright red or green quilted vest is an attractive gift for the girl who shivers and freezes around the house when the temperature is below 70. She'll probably wear it under her winter coat too.

Proclamation

Mayor William F. Edelmuth today issued the following proclamation urging all to contribute generously to the annual Christmas Seal sale in Kingston:

WHEREAS, The United States, for the first time since 1917, is facing a wartime rise in tuberculosis, and

WHEREAS, Tuberculosis, the greatest disease enemy of persons between 15 and 45 years of age, is one of the greatest saboteurs in this country, and

WHEREAS, It is imperative that every individual in Kingston learn and practice self-protection, and

WHEREAS, The Christmas Seal is one of our most valued and far-reaching traditions—a tradition that saves life, and

WHEREAS, The Ulster County Tuberculosis Association, in order to carry on its expanded program, must have the full support of the citizens of Kingston,

THEREFORE, I, WILLIAM F. EDELMUTH, MAYOR OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON do hereby call upon every man, woman and child to contribute as generously as possible to the Christmas Seal Sale to the end that the so-far victorious campaign against tuberculosis may continue unabated throughout this City of Kingston, New York.

PORT EWEN

Port Ewen, Dec. 1—The Senior Christian Endeavor Society entertained the members of the Fair Street Reformed Church Youth Fellowship group at a party in the church hall on Friday evening. The hall was decorated for Thanksgiving. The committee arranging for the party was: Elnora Houghtaling, chairman; Lucille Windram, Ruth Webster and Donald Newton. The following members of the senior society attended: Janis Fowler, Dorothy Hornbeck, Helen Behrens, Marjorie Bonesteel, Jean Page, John Benten, Charles Benton, Bruce Davis, Robert Hansen, Frederick Davis, Kenneth Beesmer and their advisor, Miss Mary Polhemus. Members of the Fair Street Reformed society who attended were: Evelyn Short, Anne MacConnell, Grace Eliet, Priscilla Haver, Barbara Haver, Marilyn Orr, Marjorie Cating, Lee Mould, John Orr, David Fletcher, William Haver, Harry Van De Mark, Gus Catling and Bob Tremper.

The Priscilla Society will meet at the Methodist Church hall Friday evening, December 11. Note change of date from regular time of meeting.

Mrs. John M. Short, Mrs. Catherine Short of Cottekill and Miss Anna Short of Pocantico Hills visited Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Short.

Mrs. Edward Cunningham, who has been visiting friends in New York, has returned home.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Port Ewen Fire Department will be held at the Fire House on Wednesday evening, December 2, 1942, at 8 o'clock. All firemen are requested to be present. Refreshments will be served.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Scully of Kingston and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Short of Port Ewen were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Short.

Esopus Council No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, will meet in their rooms Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church will meet at the home of Mrs. John Lynn Thursday. A potluck dinner will be served at noon and a business meeting will be held at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Greve of New York is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cunningham and Mrs. Louise Gross.

19 Whooping Cough Cases Here in November

There were 19 cases of whooping cough reported in Kingston during November, according to the records in the office of the Board of Health at the city hall, while in October there were 27 cases of the disease reported.

It is interesting to note that of the 19 cases last month five were among children of school age, while the other cases were those of children of pre-school age, and several adults.

During November there were 13 cases of pneumonia reported in Kingston.

The health board records show that no cases of scarlet fever have been reported in Kingston since last June, when one case was recorded that month.

Shopping by taxi has spurted in London since the rationing of gasoline.

Strip Teaser May Perform in Court

Judge Gives Description of Margie Hart's Act for Jurors on Case

New York, Dec. 1 (AP) — There was some doubt today whether the judge would permit strip-teaser Margie Hart and other stars of "Wine, Women and Song" to perform in court, but jurors had mental picture of the show's bumps and grinds, supplied by city magistrate who saw it three times.

Easily the sensation of the first act in the trial of three officials of the show on charges of giving an indecent performance was Justice Stephen S. Jackson, who described in detail in General Sessions yesterday what a strip-tease artist does to send her audience into uproarious applause.

He pictures one "priority" scene in which Miss Hart removes her clothes, including hat and muff, while three actors help her along.

Justice Jackson said that Miss Hart held each article of clothing a moment, then dropped it, saying, "Take it off for Mr. Ickes, take it off for Donald Nelson."

The justice, whose attendance at performances of the show was in line of duty as a reviewer for the Catholic Theatre Movement, said Miss Noel Toy, another performer, in one act wore only one small article of apparel.

Justice Jackson drew a "V" which started at his shoulders and ended at his abdomen to describe a low-necked dress worn by Miss Hart in another scene.

He said that Jimmy Savo, comedian, "Gazed down at her wit what seemed to be a magnifyin glass and smirked."

Defense counsel for I. H. Herl producer; Samuel Fuht, compan manager, and Herman Shapir stage manager, have offered t bring the performers into court o to take the court and jury of fiv women and seven men to see th show.

Recreations Engage Harlem Yankees Wednesday Night

Hard Game Ahead For Local Cagers; Harlem Is Strong

Johnny Isaacs and Other Familiar Yank Players Appear Here; Good Attendance Anticipated

Although no replacement has been announced for Nick Shaback, popular scoring ace of the Kingston Recreation basketball team, it was believed that Manager "Turk" Karam has a number of prospects in the offing. Karam is expected to bring at least one of the new players to the municipal auditorium Wednesday night when the Rees battle the strong Harlem Yankees.

When the Kingston manager was informed of Shaback's status yesterday he replied, "sure, we'll miss Nick because he was a fine player and a good team helper. However, our boys did okay without him last Thursday night which proves that they can go to the limit even when shorthanded. Still, I hope to pick up another player before the next contest in order to have at least two substitutes."

Karam Praises Club

Karam was all smiles when questions were put to him concerning the play of Hagen Anderson, Ace Goldstein, Jim Naughton and Howie Bollerman. "They played very good ball against the Jewels and deserved to win. As I said before, watch Bollerman this year. He'll be a big help to us from the first game on to the finisher."

While Kingston has displayed good power to winning the first two games from the Hartford Gems and the New York Jewels, the local club must hit new heights Wednesday night when the famous and always troublesome Yankees invade the Broadway court. A near riot earmarked last year's battle between these two quintets and although the same thing may not occur tomorrow night, the clubs are set for a good old-fashioned brawl.

With some of the finest Negro basketball players in the lineup of the Harlem Yankees, the club is considered one of the best in basketball today. Some experts have tabbed the Harlem cagers on the par with the Renaissance and other great Negro outfits.

Sonny Woods Plays

This year the Yankees will take the floor with such outstanding stars as "Moonbeam" Isles, "Bobo" White, Sonny Woods, Bob Garrett and Bill Chaffey. The club also lists Johnny Isaacs, who was the big "show" for the Yanks last year when he started that brawl with Larry Dodick, then a member of the Recreations. With this lineup ready to operate against Kingston, the local basketeers, will, in all probability, have their biggest task of the young season.

Another banner turnout is expected to jam the auditorium boards for this three-star attraction. Last Thursday's throng was encouraging to the Recreation board but similar turnouts must be had if professional basketball is to continue in this city.

The department of recreation announced this morning that Wednesday's preliminary game would feature the Worts and Matthews in a game starting at 8:15 o'clock. The main attraction is slated for 9:15 o'clock.

Giants vs. Dodgers

New York, Dec. 1 (AP) — Although Sunday's National Football League game between the New York Giants and the Brooklyn Dodgers will have no bearing on the final standings, the Giants are preparing for it with all the earnestness of mid-season. The reason: They have been beaten by their rivals from across the river in their last four meetings.

Shock to Coach

Philadelphia, Dec. 1 (AP)—Holy Cross' 55 to 12 upset victory over vaunted Boston College wasn't just a surprise—it was a downright shock—to Ank Scanlon, Holy Cross' head football coach.

Scanlon, at his Philadelphia home, commented:

"It was just like sending 11 condemned men to the electric chair. It wasn't until I saw two of our spotters coming down from the press box that I realized we could win. And that was when the game was about over."

Warms Up Too Much

Columbus, Ga., Dec. 1 (AP)—Told to warm up, James Whatley, a guard on Spencer High School's negro team, raced up and down the sidelines, doing flips and prancing.

Waved into the game, he zigzagged around nearly every man on the field before reporting to the referee.

There he collapsed with a trick knee out of place, and was carried from the field.

Harridge and Frick Say That 1943 Travel Cut by Nearly 23,000 Miles in Leagues

Chicago, Dec. 1 (AP)—Major league baseball executives, encouraged by a message from Joseph B. Eastman, defense transportation director, today formally opened their most important meeting in history.

A statement by Eastman that he felt other types of travel by individuals and groups "have possibly a lesser justification than baseball team travel," reacted like a tonic. Magnates were quick to term it "splendid recognition."

Although the O. D. T. director emphasized that his letter could not be taken as a guarantee of the future, the mere fact that a government official had given first intimation that there would be a 1943 season spiked the meetings with cheer.

With some of the gloom thus dispelled, the major leagues met in separate sessions today to study suggestions by Eastman for curtailing travel.

Presidents William Harridge and Ford Frick of the American and National Leagues, respectively, and club owners agreed that "it's good to know the government has given an indication that so far as can be seen at this time the game will be continued."

Travel Be Shortened

Eastman suggested among other things that travel to spring training be minimized, that long duplicate trips during the regular season be avoided, and that schedules provide for ample traveling time between cities to avoid possible game cancellations in case of delays.

Harridge and Frick said that next season's schedules had been arranged to cut travel nearly 23,039 miles in each league. There will be more four-game series instead of the two and three games, three intersectional swings rather than four, and possible elimination of other trips by shifting more week-day games into Sunday doubleheaders.

"Schedules are so flexible," explained Harridge, "that clubs can easily arrange to double up in any series to provide one day for coach travel during home and home games and two days for intersectional travel.

"Spring training travel is entirely up to the clubs, but I know they will cooperate in every way possible."

Eastman's suggestion to condition the players as close to home as possible was particularly pertinent for the St. Louis Browns, Pittsburgh Pirates, Chicago Cubs and Chicago White Sox who have selected California training grounds. They may discuss alternate plans today. Hot springs, Ark., was mentioned as a likely spot, particularly for western teams.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

Baltimore—Billy White, 190½, Baltimore, knocked out Al Tribbiani, 197, Wilmington, Del., (4).

Chicago—Jay Mussato, 208, Buffalo, N. Y., knocked out Frank Greene, 154, Chicago, (1).

Holyoke, Mass.—Rocky Lucas, 177, New York, outpointed Eddie Jeffrey, 176, Springfield, Mass., (10).

BILL TERRY

After being connected with the New York Giants since 1922, Memphis Bill Terry, former manager and last year's general manager of the organization, informed the press at the initial meeting of the major and minor leagues in Chicago that he had terminated his contract with the Polo Grounders. The lack of farm teams for which Terry received about a $50,000 contract, was believed to have been his reason for quitting the club. Both Terry and Horace Stoneham, owner of the Giants, agreed that the parting was done in complete friendliness. Although nothing official has been declared as yet, Terry may have something to do with the Philadelphia Phils before the present session concludes.

Alabama Tide Will Play Eagles in Orange Bowl

B. C. Coach Says Boys Deserve Bid; Hopes Redemption Is in Order for Club

Miami, Fla., Dec. 1 (AP)—Alabama will send its football team into a New Year's Day game—against Boston College in the Orange Bowl—for the seventh time, January 1, thus approaching Stanford's mark of eight post-season appearances.

The feeling here, after Orange Bowl President Oscar E. Dooly, Jr., announced the signing of the teams last night, was that the Crimson Tide will have to raise above its regular season level to maintain Alabama's record of having lost only one bowl game.

Boston's high-flying Eagles, losers only to Holy Cross in one of the season's greatest upsets, immediately were established as slight favorites.

Both players and coaches at Boston College greeted the post season game as an opportunity to square themselves with followers who were disappointed by the Eagles' 55-12 defeat by Holy Cross.

"The boys certainly deserve a bowl game," said Coach Denny Myers, "it probably will be the last chance they'll have to play and they were unanimous in their desire to go. It will give them a chance to redeem themselves."

Alabama's brilliant bowl record weighed heavily in the decision of Orange Bowl officials to bring a three-times-beaten team here, although the Tide was the best remaining choice after other bowls had grabbed Georgia, Georgia Tech and Tennessee.

At present, Alabama and Southern California are tied at six bowl games each. In five trips to the Rose Bowl, Alabama won three games, lost one and tied one. Coach Frank Thomas' eleven downed Texas A. and M. in the Cotton Bowl last January 1. The lone Tide defeat came in 1938 at the hands of California.

Boston has appeared in two previous New York shows, losing to Clemson in the 1940 Cotton Bowl battle and upsetting Tennessee in the 1941 Sugar Bowl engagement.

In regular season games, Boston counted 281 points to 75 in defeating West Virginia, Clemson, North Carolina Pre-Flight, Wake Forest, Georgetown, Temple, Fordham and Boston University, while losing to Holy Cross.

Alabama, in winning six and losing to Georgia, Georgia Tech and Georgia Pre-Flight, outscored opponents, 209 to 76.

Independent League

Charlie Grunenwald, who is doing a lot of great bowling this fall, continued to highlight the Independent League matches last night as he sparked Vogels to three wins over Beicherts with a tremendous 247 single and a sizzling 623 triple, Grunenwald's blasting enabled Vogels to mount up a 2613 team series.

Besides Grunenwald, who had 247, 199 and 177, the Vogel outfit had Harland Thomas banging out 510 and Leo Everett 500. P. J. Beichert and R. J. Henry were high for the losers with 541 and 516. Beichert featured with a 212 single.

Joe Messinger's 229 single helped Freds to take two games from the Buicks. Joe opened with his 229 and then rolled 179 and 148. His triple was 556 and also high in the match. Jim Roe had 508. Bob Townsend and Bill Evans were high for the losers with 547 and 543. H. Townsend posted a 210.

Larry Mariano and Bob Clancy paced the Oilers to two wins over Callanans. Mariano's string of 203, 164 and 210 mounted to a 577 series while Clancy potted out a 225 single. Don Keyser had a 518 series. E. Trombley's 531 was high for Callanans.

Wilbers took two from Jumps as S. Hayes posted high single of 209 and high series of 551. Ray DuBois had a 512. Costello's 516 sparked Jumps.

Kingston Stars Win

The long-awaited special "money" match between the Kingston Stars and Piepers was rolled at the Central Recreation alleys last night and as some dopesters predicted, the Stars wound up on the long end of 2575 to 2227 victory.

One thing can be said of last night's games. Both teams were far off their usual strides. No Pieper bowler hit the 500 and only one of the Stars managed to convert her scores into the 500 bracket. That was Rita Markle who finally hit 517 for the winners.

Markle's 517 paced the Stars, of course. She posted scores of 144, 176 and 152. Bob Tierney's 481 was high for the losers. He rolled 117, 186 and 151.

Evelyn Provenzano hit 441, Bea Coddington 488, Alyce Riseley 450, Rose Schatzel 478 and Rita Markle 517. The Piepers were represented with Tierney's 481, Sam Arnet's 445, Frank Martin's 457, George Pieper's 429 and Bill Davis' 423.

December Entry Frosty

December was ushered in this morning with freezing temperatures, a heavy white frost and dark, overcast skies that threatened snow. Temperatures on Monday, the last day of November, ranged from 30 to 46 degrees at the city hall according to the records in the city engineer's office. The records show that the warmest day of November was the 20th when a low of 51 degrees and a high of 75 degrees was recorded. The total precipitation during November in the city was 4.58 inches of rain and snow.

Terry May Control Philadelphia Club In 1943 Campagin

Former Giant Manager Ends Services With Polo Grounders; Says He's Happy

By JUDSON BAILEY

Chicago, Dec. 1 (AP)—William Harold Terry, who became famous as a baseball grouch, was a happy man today and out of a job.

This didn't make sense to anybody and it was widely believed by all the baseball clan gathered here for the major-minor league meetings that Terry had a new connection tentatively arranged when he announced yesterday that he was quitting as farm director of the New York Giants, with whom he had been associated for 20 years as player, manager and executive.

May Head Phils

Although other possibilities were suggested, most observers believed the 42-year-old Memphis oil man, baseball brain and one-time star first baseman was ready to take control of the Philadelphia franchise of the National League, possibly financed by the league itself if no purchaser is located for the distressed property before the season opens.

Terry, beaming broadly and telling his friends "I'm out of baseball and haven't a care in the world," said such an arrangement would suit him perfectly and that he hoped that he might accomplish a new connection with a major league club before the meeting ends this week.

The board of directors of the league delved into the problem by club President Gerald Nugent and his attorney, Robert Irwin, which would permit the Phils to continue under the guidance of Nugent.

However, the directors had decided previously that the league would advance no more money to Nugent, who was loaned upward of $100,000 last year, and that if he were not able to show sufficient capital to start the season the franchise would either be sold or operated by the league.

Had $20,000 Salary

This was where Terry fitted into the picture. The severance of his relations with the Giants was decided upon three or four weeks ago, it was learned today. Terry, reportedly paid $30,000 a year, said he did not believe he could earn his salary as farm director for New York next year because the Giants may have no more than two or three minor league affiliates.

The decision, made some time ago, was announced in perfect timing with the National League consideration of the Phil's problem and persons close to all the parties involved indicated this was no coincidence.

Ohio State Picked For Top Berth in Grid Poll Voting

Boston College Drops to Eighth Place; Georgia Claims Second and Wisconsin Third

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

New York, Dec. 1 (AP) — Ohio State, big ten champion and winner in nine of 10 games, is the best college football team of 1942 in the opinion of 156 sports experts polled by the Associated Press.

The Buckeyes, ranked No. 1 in the first three tabulations of the season, skidded to tenth in the middle of the campaign but were third a week ago following their defeat of Michigan. This week, on the strength of their 41-12 victory over Iowa Pre-flight, Coach Paul Brown's Athletes returned to the throne.

Georgia, which took over the front position when Ohio State abdicated late in October, finished 93 points behind the mid-westerners in the final compilation.

The standings of the teams (first place votes in parentheses, points figured on 10-9-8-7 etc. basis):

First Ten
Ohio State (81)	1162
Georgia (42)	1069
Wisconsin (4)	983
Tulsa (4)	936
Georgia Tech	705
Notre Dame	569
Tennessee	533
Boston College	485
Michigan	467

Choosing Gifts for Men in Service Easy, for They Know What They Want

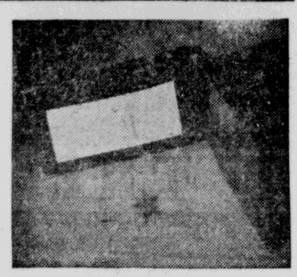

FOR ARMY, NAVY men, diaries rate high. One called a "Handybook" contains service information, room for snapshots and autographs, deserves a place in every service gift package. Published by Martin J. Pollack, Inc., sales yield U.S.O. a percentage.

JUST PICTURE IT

Men with a mania for photography will applaud the gift of a photograph album. Available in book or looseleaf form, a choice may be had of any number of insignias embossed on the covers.

THEY WANT BIBLES, say all the questionnaires—small ones to be carried in the pocket. Here's a handy Prentice-Hall digest titled "The Bible in Brief." That regulation dress cap also is on the soldier's "preferred" list.

LEATHER WALLETS — make sure they have a place for a picture and room for cards—also are on the preferred list for service giving.

Do Your Christmas Shopping and Mailing Early.

MORE THAN ONE, AS MANY AS FOUR, in one pack age is the way to send gifts to service men. Most things they want and need are small and inexpensive but very useful. For example, the gift kit pictured above (by McGregor) includes sewing kit, money belt and flashlight. You can make up your own package of selected gifts but why not be safe with those planned to a purpose.

Portrait Photograph Preferred As This Year's Mail-Away Gift

Growing more popular than ever before in the history of gift giving this season, is the portrait photograph, which only the professional photographer can make satisfactorily.

The increasing popularity of the portrait photograph as a Christmas gift, is not difficult to trace. In the first place, it rises to a preferred position among the things the man in the service wants. In the second place, it serves on the home front to substitute for those personal visits between families during the Yuletide, which are going to be most difficult to make this year because of restrictions on transportation.

Essentially the portrait photograph is a gift of intense personalization, as in the instance of the sweetheart of the soldier or sailor who is far from home and unable to get back for the holiday. Likewise it is the intensely personal gift in which parents of grown children who in their turn have children of their own, take so much pride.

In reverse, the portrait photograph this year becomes the prized gift from the young man in service, to his mother, who will cherish that picture of him in uniform forever.

Most portrait photographers are becoming busier each day we approach Christmas. Arrangements for an early sitting therefore are urged upon those who plan an individual or a family group picture as a gift to friends and relatives this year.

Allow Double Time for Mailing of Photograph

Time should be allowed for inscribing a message on the picture, for framing and for mailing, with the caution that twice the normal mailing time is going to have to be allowed this year in order to make sure the portrait reaches its destination before the holiday.

Portrait photographers specialize in proper packaging for safe mailing of photographs, and therefore it is best to have them do the mailing. They also are experts in framing and can help you to a proper selection if you plan to have the photograph framed.

Buck Jones Dies In Boston Hospital As Result of Burns

Boston, Dec. 1 (AP)—Cowboy Movie Star Buck Jones, a veteran of World War I, was on a War bond selling tour to aid the men of World War II, when the Coconnut Grove fire cost him his life.

Suffering severe burns about the head and body, Buck appeared to be holding his own for a time after being admitted to a hospital, but he took a turn for the worse yesterday and died a few hours later.

He had been in another hospital Saturday afternoon—a few hours before the fire—the children's hospital where he entertained the young folk who had seen his films. He had arrived in Boston Friday.

He had dropped into the Coconnut Grove as the guest of a number of motion picture distributors who handled his films.

Born in Vincennes, Ind., on December 4, 1889, his earliest ambition was to a cowboy. He achieved it, riding the range in Texas and Oklahoma.

Then he enlisted in the Sixth Cavalry, U.S.A., and saw service in the Philippines. On his return, he joined the Miller 101 Ranch Wild West Show, only to enlist in the army again when World War I broke out. Friends said he was wounded in service.

Back in the United States, he entered the movies and became with his horse, "Silver," the idol of numberless small boys. He made approximately 200 pictures and in recent years had been in semi-retirement.

He is survived by his widow, the former Odele Osborne, also an expect horseback rider, and a daughter, Maxine. Jones and his wife were married on horseback after a show in Lima, O.

Nazis Pound Away At Stanlingrad in Hopeless Battle

finally, to destroy the Volga supply artery by taking Stalingrad.

The fuehrer thought then he was presenting a program 100 per cent achieved, but the last fortnight has seen the Russians well on the way to putting two of his four objectives, far the more important two, well out of his reach. For although the Germans still fight in Stalingrad there seems ample ground for confidence that when the ice breaks up next spring the Volga will be once more the great central artery of Russia's economic life over which the oil from the Caucasus and war supplies from Russia's allies will be moving freely. Hitler has been able to seize only the minor oil field of Maikop; and if the Red army's southern offensive continues to roll Maikop may slip from his hands.

The Stalingrad offensive may even roll far enough to cheat him of the wheat and coal fields of whose seizure he boasted, thus completing the nullification of his 1942 successes.

But it may go further than that, involving even the vast conquests of 1941. That Russian drive west and northwest of Moscow holds far greater perils for Corporal Hitler than even a complete debacle before Stalingrad. A real break through there to the west could compel a hasty withdrawal of the Nazi forces around Leningrad, leaving Finland alone in the north, probably to make her terms with the Allies. A break through to the south could put the armies before Moscow in danger and bring menacing pressure to bear on the Ukraine forces. That may well prove the real Russian effort of this winter. Winston Churchill disclosed Sunday that when he talked with Stalin in the Kremlin last summer the Russian showed him a map marked with an arrow thrusting into the Axis lines and promised a telegram when the blow it represented was struck. The telegram, Churchill continued, has been duly delivered and acknowledged. Latest events support the belief that the arrow was plunged southward or westward into the battlefront west of Moscow.

Approximately 14,000,000 men over 45 years of age are now working in the United States.

Between 1930 and 1940, the number of Americans 65 or older increased 35 per cent.

Order Red Cross Into Action to Aid Fire Victims

Washington, D. C., Nov. 30—Chairman Norman H. Davis ordered the resources of the American Red Cross into action for the aid of the victims of the Boston night club fire and their families, it was announced here today. Blood plasma and sulfa drugs were flown yesterday to Boston from New York and Washington to aid the injured, Mr. Davis said.

In addition to 272 units of blood plasma previously made available to Boston hospitals, another shipment of 100 units was dispatched from Washington today, leaving the national airport at 1:17 p. m., Mr. Davis said. Previous supplies of blood plasma had included 100 units obtained from the Boston Metropolitan Red Cross Chapter, 72 from the North Atlantic Area Office of the Red Cross in New York, and 100 from the Red Cross warehouse here.

Dr. Albert McCown, medical director of the American National Red Cross here, and Miss Ella Gimmestad, assistant director of the Disaster Nursing staff left Washington last night for Boston to advise and lend assistance.

Ten members of the North Atlantic Area Disaster staff in New York City were sent in immediately to assist the Boston Metropolitan Chapter, and Red Cross nurses and nurse's aides were mobilized in Boston and surrounding chapters to relieve the exhausted nursing staffs of the Boston City Hospital and the Massachusetts General Hospital.

Chairman James R. Hamlin of the Boston Chapter, immediately upon the alert Saturday night, mobilized all resources of the chapter to aid local authorities. Ambulances, canteens and nurse's aid, first aiders, and Disaster Relief workers from the the chapter and surrounding towns worked all night beside the police, fire, and civilian defense workers, Mr. Hamlin reported.

When a possible shortage of sulfa drugs was reported to the New York office of the American Red Cross, the services of Dr. Orville Wyss, a sulfa expert of Newark, N. J., were obtained, and air priority was arranged for Dr. Wyss to take a supply of the vital drugs to Boston. A police escort was arranged for him from his home to La Guardia Airport.

Emergency and regular Red Cross ambulances, numbering 75, aided in transporting the dead and injured; and 15 mobile canteens fed rescue squads, families, and injured at the scene of the fire, at hospitals and mortuaries. The canteens continued at these scenes today, feeding the families who visited mortuaries and morgues in an effort to identify the missing. Red Cross Motor Corps members transported relatives to and from homes, hospitals and morgues.

Desks were established in the Boston Metropolitan Chapter to handle the hundreds of welfare inquiries pouring in from relatives and friends, and Red Cross Disaster workers visited the homes and families of victims of the fire to offer emergency aid where required.

Nearby chapters cooperating in the work were Cambridge, Lynn, Newton, Quincy, Wakefield, and Weymouth.

Kingston Boys Are Enjoying Army Life

Friends and Neighbors:

If you could possibly give this brief message a space in your paper we would appreciate it very much.

About everyone who writes to us asks the question as to how we are being treated by the boys from the south. The southern hospitality is so great toward us northern boys, Leo Sessler, Joseph E. Smith, Joseph Tomazewski and Clifford Sinsabaugh, that Webster didn't create enough words to explain it. It sure is wonderful, and the food is very, very good. We really like the camp and its surroundings. The officers, both commissioned and non-commissioned, are of the very best, doing all in their power to help and make us feel at home.

We are all well and in the very best of health. We enjoyed Thanksgiving very much and had a wonderful dinner with turkey and all the trimmings. Even had our cigarettes. So, as you can see, feel perfectly at ease as we are just on another job with the best of bosses in the world.

If you like, drop us a line, as all soldiers love hearing from home, and we will very willingly answer all correspondence. Also thanks to the one who was so kind and generous to send us the the local paper, the good old Freeman. We all appreciate it very much.

Will close hoping to be home soon, as victory is close at hand.

As ever,

Kiwanians to Entertain

The Kiwanians luncheon hour on Thursday will be of unusual interest. Members are to bring their wives and other friends. L. F. Livingston of the du Pont Company will be the guest speaker and will display and explain samples of the many new products which have been developed as a result of war conditions.

In the first seven months of 1942, 300,000 more tons of steel plates were produced in the U. S. than in all of 1941.

How to cut the cost of Heating Your Home
AMERICA'S HOME HEATING EXPERT

March Winds!

MARCH is usually a month when the variations between night and day temperatures are greater than at any time during the heating season. As the stronger rays of the sun supply a greater portion of the heat required, it is not necessary for the furnace to give forth as much heat during the day as in the winter months. At night, however, it is likely to be quite chilly, and more heat is required. Follow these suggestions for the proper care of your furnace during this period.

Gradually decrease the opening of the turn damper as the milder days arrive. This is particularly important on windy March days, as wind has a tendency to increase the draft in the furnace. If this draft is not throttled down—by closing this important damper—sometimes the fire will burn out prematurely, and consequently up and down action in house temperature will follow. More important, this strong draft will pull most of the heat into the chimney, resulting in huge heat loss and wasted fuel.

There is also a strong tendency, as the weather moderates for many householders to put less and less coal on the fire, thus causing a thin fuel bed for the purpose of saving fuel. This is an erroneous idea, and works just the opposite way. Due to a strong draft on windy days, the fire will burn out very rapidly and often leaves only a small core of fire in the center and a large bed of ash all around.

This condition permits a great amount of air or draft to pass through the fuel bed and on up the chimney, thus the greater part of the heat is wasted in needlessly warming up this air.

It is therefore desirable during spring and fall weather to maintain a reasonably deep firebed and to throttle down the turn damper as much as possible to avoid over heating, rather than attempting to attain this by firing in thin layers. It is easier to maintain a uniform temperature as well as avoiding excessive fuel consumption by maintaining uniform depth of firebed, then when more heat is required, there is always a sufficient body of fire on hand to respond immediately.

Even temperatures definitely save money. Over and under heating is both costly and unhealthy. It is needless and troublesome. Remember these simple rules and your home will be comfortable, the fire "sleeping" during mild weather, will immediately awake and go to work for you when a call for heat is made. (25)

27 Million Cars, 5,000,000 Trucks Rationed on Gas

Washington, Dec. 1 (AP)—About 27,000,000 passenger cars and 5,000,000 commercial vehicles went on a mileage reducing diet today on a nationwide gasoline rationing set in to the accompaniment of both praise and protest.

For 17 eastern states where the fuel curb was inaugurated four and a half months ago, it was just another day of restricted driving. But for motorists elsewhere, the old cry of "fill up the tank," was newly outmoded.

More than 90 per cent of the drivers in today's "rationed area have their basic "A" ration cards, the Office of Price Administration estimated, entitling them to four gallons a coupon—calculated to be a week's supply. The eastern zone, with the exception of West Virginia, gets three gallons a coupon.

Opposition to the gasoline controls, imposed to save rubber, brought a retort from undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson last night that "we cannot and will not deny our soldiers the finest equipment in order to cater to the whims of those who don't seem to realize that their country is at war."

Declaring that the army already has cut rubber uses several times at the expense of maximum efficiency in some cases, Patterson added that "we can't reduce our use of rubber any more without risking the safety of our men and hampering our operations."

Senator Vandenberg (R.-Mich.) told the Senate yesterday that extension of the rationing program was "premature and inadvisable." He predicted that "totally inadequate" arrangements will bring "confusion and chaos" and "an inevitable breakdown in the system."

Mrs. Skoog Dies At Bingo Game Of Heart Attack

Mrs. Marie A. Skoog, 63, of Albany, who made her home with her daughter, Miss Dorothy Skoog, of 17 Greenkill avenue, died suddenly of a heart attack while attending a bingo game Monday night at 364 Mill street, Poughkeepsie. Word of her sudden death was sent to the Kingston police department who notified the daughter.

Mrs. Skoog was seized with the attack while in the ladies' room and collapsed. The Poughkeepsie police were called and she was removed in an ambulance to the Vassar Hospital where she was pronounced dead.

Dr. Howard P. Carpenter, medical examiner, reported that death was due to aneurysm of the heart. The body was removed to the Anderson undertaking parlors in Poughkeepsie to await the arrival of the daughter from Kingston today.

Will You Have Money for Christmas? You Can Sell Your Don't Wants Here

Wearables Rate First for Giving

Choose Aids to Grooming: Costume Jewelry, Beauty Needs

By VIVIAN FREEMAN

This is one Christmas when giddy giving is definitely out! Though gifts for women should have charm, individuality and femininity—they must be really useful, practical, and durable—not only of lasting quality, but the kind that don't require time-consuming pampering.

Easy to care for; easy to fit into her way of life, and easy on the eyes: that's the shopping formula down-pat for those who want to express the true 1942 Christmas spirit in their giving.

Every woman's first concern this winter is—keeping warm. Whether duty calls for her being behind an office desk; in her home; in war plant or classroom—she'll have to endure occasional heatless days and lower temperatures day-in day-out, due to wartime demands on the nation's fuel supply.

One gift of gifts this year, to warm her heart—and body—is the quilted robe, pretty, patterned and practical as it can be!

She just can't have too many sweaters; and the shawl's been revived as a fashionably purposeful accessory. Plaids, other brilliant patterns and monotones in wool and velveteen accompany daytime clothes, while scintillating fabrics and startling colors will warm cold shoulders after dark. Other heat generators are wool hose—bed sock, anklet or full length; fur lined gloves; fuzzy boudoir slippers and brilliant jackets to ensemble with skirts and slacks.

Up to Fur Coat

Depending on how generous one can be, the wearable cold-weather gift can range from "red flannels" to a fur coat! And fur accessories are sure to make dreams come true—in the form of muff, stole or hat.

She may never get near a ski slide—but she'll be delighted with a ski suit this winter, to be worn in city or country for fun in the snow, wheeling the baby, long distance walking to market, and for civilian defense duties such as air raid warden, salvage collection service and first aid courses.

No one need cast away the idea of traditional Christmas giving, because endless numbers of such gifts have always answered the down-to-earth requirements of this year's well chosen gift.

No More Luxury

Jewelry is more than a luxury: one effective piece can make a very simple frock extend its appropriateness for dressy wear too. Compacts and manicure kits, perfumes and bath accessories mean more than ever because not only are they aids to good grooming—they have a capacity for reaffirming a woman's faith in herself; and revitalize her when she's overtired.

There never is any doubt about a woman of any age wanting pretty handkerchiefs—and the new charm of government regulation-abiding lingerie makes panties, undies and gowns rate stronger than ever in popularity.

With her slacks, (wonderful gifts too for home lounging and answering alerts)—with her separate skirts and suits, she'll need blouses a-plenty. White ones and colorful; monotone and patterned; tailored and dressy—the finely made blouse is a preferred gift; especially if it has a pantie-bottom and won't pull out at the waist!

To make much of a limited wardrobe, every maid and matron can use to advantage colorful gloves, capacious handbags, and neckwear frills to provide new thrills for last season's dresses. And who is to deny that hosiery is one of this Christmas' most precious gifts, whether it be hard-to-get nylon, newly perfected rayon, or fine lisle in winter's leg-flattering tones.

Don't Forget Bond

Not to be overlooked are gifts of leather—from eagle-buckled belts and tiny flashlight-key rings to luggage she'll carry on short hops to see her hero in camp.

Whatever her gift, she'll be doubly overjoyed to find the gift within a gift—of a War Bond. And War Stamps are tiny enough to importantly tuck in the toe of her Christmas stocking or to put in her gift handbag instead of the usual "good luck" money.

It's gifts like those tabulated above—and they have countless counterparts in all the shops about town—which show that their giver knows the P's and Q's of Christmas giving for '42—in terms of Practicability and Quality that will be lasting reminders of thoughtful generosity.

TAILORED SMARTNESS puts the shirtwaist high on the gift giving list for business girls who want crisp freshness with suit or skirt. This stunning white model is from Barbizon.

KITTEN-SPOT AND WARM cotton velvet and corduroy "at home" slack suit. For truly thoughtful Christmas giving, they offer the sparkle of colorful embroidery on the jacket.

GONE TO HER HEAD

Now, when warmth really counts, Christmas gifts should be given accordingly. A novel and pretty hat for the young lady of the family is no more than a very cunning wool-knit shawl, elevated to head-heights and topped with two face flattering pompons of wool. A heavy fringe does the bordering trick.

SILVER CIRCLETS

IMMORTAL RADIANCE

Local 'Spotters' Receive Rating

Women Workers Praised at Recent Meeting

Daily problems that must be met on the "spotters" home front were discussed last night at a meeting held in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel. Mrs. George D. Logan, who is associate chief observer, addressed the gathering and lauded the loyalty of the women "spotters," who make a definite and marked contribution in behalf of the feminine role in the war effort.

Chief observer Sam N. Mann expressed appreciation of the manner in which Kingston's observation post functions and announced that it is mainly because of the women "spotters," that the post received a "four-gold-star" rating from the First Fighter Command. The women were given credit for spotting 95 per cent of the planes flying over Kingston.

Harry L. Kirchner, deputy state director and Eugene P. MacConnell, civil district director, who were guest speakers of the evening pictured the progress made since the establishment of the posts throughout Ulster county and explained the details leading up to the present stage. They encouraged the assembled "spotters" to ask questions so that doubtful action may be adjusted and corrected.

Though the entire "spotter" personnel of Kingston was lauded, four women in particular were complimented for outstanding achievement at the observation post, covering the 6 to 8 a. m. shift. They are, Miss Louise Heitzman, Miss Henrietta Heitzman, Mrs. Alice Palmer and Mrs. George Mathews. Two boys doing "spotter" duty were complimented for their quickness in reporting three different types of planes which followed each other rapidly. They are: Joe Netherwood and Duwain Christiana. Miss Jaane Holcomb was thanked for acting as secretary for the evening.

Chief observer Sam N. Mann, associate observers Mrs. George D. Logan; Francis Martocci; Robert Rhinehart; and Daniel W. Benton, announce that the following have volunteered for "spotter" service: Mrs. Mary Kane, Kathryn Ryan, Mrs. Janet Crowell, Mrs. Katherine Forester, Sylvia Shack, Phyllis Levey, Elaine M. Rich, Janet Phillips, Agnes Janakis, Mary E. Janakis, Charlotte Katz, Beverly C. St. Leger, Mrs. Louella Quilty, Mrs. Robert Hudler, Barbara Matthews, Ellin Marcia Kunst, Mrs. Nina K. Santa Cruz Battle Taught Japanese Respect for Navy

(Charles McMurtry of The Associated Press was aboard the U. S. carrier which was lost in the October 26 battle of the Santa Cruz Islands. Badly burned on face and hands as a flaming Jap plane passed eight feet in front of him as it crash-dived to the carrier deck, he kept right on the job.

The carrier commander wrote of him: "No combatant risked his neck more than A.P. Correspondent McMurtry. His view of the battle was from one of the most exposed positions in the ship. Although receiving severe fresh burns, he insisted on others receiving first aid and continued copious notes during the entire battle. It requires 'guts' to do this."

(The Navy has not disclosed the name of the lost carrier).

By CHARLES McMURTRY

With the U. S. Fleet in Southwest Pacific, Nov. 30 (AP)—That carrier was a tough ship to sink.

The Japs couldn't do it. They bombed and torpedoed her in four attacks. They crash dived on her deck with flaming planes. They fired her. They disabled her. But they couldn't sink her.

We finally were forced to do that. Unable to tow her from the scene of the battle, her personnel was transferred to other ships which steamed away into the night.

But she was so well-built and so seaworthy that our destroyers had to fire more than a dozen torpedoes and about 300 big shells into her sturdy hull before she sank.

We learned of that the morning after the battle of the Santa Cruz islands.

We also learned that the Japs, as expected, had tried a midnight dash into the area, but they couldn't find a trace of the carrier. Jap planes dropped flares around the area diligently.

The Japs didn't follow our force as we steamed off with the wounded and survivors. Were they afraid of us? That was logical. We had attacked a Jap force twice our size and had inflicted three times the damage we suffered.

It was true, we had lost a carrier, but we had put two Jap cruisers out of action. Our bombers are convinced at least one was damaged so badly she must have sunk later. But our Navy, claiming only certainties, announced conservately it was left "burning badly."

Casualties Are Small

Our own casualties were small. There were 115 officers and men known dead. The injured list was likewise small. Thus a high percentage of the entire personnel was uninjured despite repeated attacks.

"We licked hell out of them," one admiral said.

We had some burials at sea. The service was solemn and impressive. All who were off-duty and able to walk jammed the fantail of our destroyer to say farewell to their buddies. Tradition dictates that enlisted men assemble first, then the officers, and finally, the captain. It is the Navy's way of acknowledging that in death all men are equal.

"The Lord is my Shepherd," the captain read, and my thoughts strayed to the cheery supply officer whose funeral was being held. It was he who had given me a warm welcome aboard the now lost carrier a few nights before;

"Through the valley of the shadow of death...." I remembered how eager he had been to help in introducing me to all the officers I had come to interview; of how genuinely liked he was by both officers and men throughout the ship;

"I am the resurrection and the light...." I thought of his bright smile and light words as we chatted side-by-side on the signal bridge just before the attack; of how he eased the tension which builds up before an attack until it seems the nerves will explode; of how he had been called aside just as the first Jap planes were sighted; of how two hours later someone reported he was dead;

"All join in the benediction." The words of the captain drew my mind back to the service.

"Our father who are in heaven ...." Every voice joined in the prayer. "....Forgive us our trespasses....for Thine is the kingdom and the power and the glory. Amen."

The bugler sounded taps. Three sailors removed the flags which covered the canvas-shrouded bodies, and slowly slid each body toward the sea.

Freeman Photo

The two cannon and the pile of cannon balls that have stood on the city hall lawn since 1897, are now on the way to the scrap pile to be melted and used against the Axis powers in World War II, as is shown above. They were sold to B. Millens & Sons, local junk dealers, whose bid was $17.60 a ton.

The cannon and the cannon balls were hoisted onto trucks on Monday afternoon and trucked to the junk pile. No ceremonies marked the departure of the cannon.

The two 32-pounder guns and the cannon balls were obtained from the U. S. Ordinance Department in Washington, D. C., on August 3, 1897, through the efforts of the late Sol Appel of 70 Abeel street, whose cousin, Samuel K. Behrend, at that time was chief of the Ordinance Department.

The cannon and balls were presented to General Grant Post, No. 566, G.A.R., of which Mr. Appel was a member, and later they were turned over to the city and positioned on the city hall lawn, where they had since stood.

According to the old records the two cannon weighed a total of 9,120 pounds, while the 115 cannon balls weighed 3,680 pounds, making a total of 12,800 pounds.

Since then the number of cannon balls has dwindled and yesterday it was found that there were a total of 66 balls, 33 in each pile, and that each cannon ball weighed 45 pounds.

Miss Ruby Appel, daughter of Sol Appel, has furnished an interesting account of the obtaining of the cannon from the Ordinance Department in Washington. To defray the expense of transportation and the mounting of the guns the following residents of the city contributed funds needed: Henry E. Wieber, Carl G. Fischer, James E. Phinney, Henry Abbey, A. S. Staples, Daniel Murphy, John S. Thompson, Pitts Brothers, Isaac N. Weiner, C. Hiltebrant & Son, Senator Jacob Rice, Frank M. Madden, Canfield Stove Co., Chris A. Murray, William Derrenbacher, H. S. Crispell and William E. Bunten.

The cannon were shipped to Rhinecliff over the New York Central railroad and were brought over the Hudson river on the ferry.

The cannon were carted from the ferry shed to the city hall by the E. Winter Express and by the late Patrick Joyce.

For 45 years the cannon have stood, one on each side of the soldier and sailor monument in front of the city hall, and behind each cannon was placed a pile of cannon balls.

Years ago it was found necessary to weld the pile of cannon balls together as children playing on the lawn would roll the cannon balls down over the lawn endangering pedestrians on the sidewalk on Broadway.

Sol Appel through whose efforts the cannon were obtained for years was engaged in the retail shoe business with a store on lower Broadway.

er an area rent director will be appointed to have charge of the Area Rent Office.

Mr. Chelius said only a few grounds for adjustment from the March 1, 1942, rent are permitted under federal O.P.A. rent regulations. "A substantial increase in services, furnishings or equipment of a particular dwelling unit may entitle a landlord to a higher rent, or if there has been a substantial change in the housing accommodation by a major capital improvement. Another possible ground for adjustment from the maximum rent date is in the case where the rent on March 1 was materially affected by blood, personal or other special relationships between landlord and tenant. In general, however, all rents must be adjusted to what they were on March 1, except in very exceptional cases."

Mr. Chelius warned that rent regulations provide for the control and restraint of evictions. "Under maximum rent regulations a landlord is not permitted to evict a tenant without notifying the Area Rent Office," he said. Evictions are restricted, but a landlord may evict in a few cases, such as:

"If a tenant refuses to pay his legal rent.

"If a tenant who had a written lease refuses to sign a renewal for a period of not longer than one year at a rent no higher than the maximum legal rent.

"If the tenant has violated a substantial obligation of tenancy or has committed a nuisance.

"If a landlord wishes to remodel or alter the dwelling unit in such a way that the presence of the tenant hinders the work."

However, Mr. Chelius said, "the cause for eviction must be real and then the landlord must first notify the rent office."

Mr. Chelius pointed out that wilful violation of maximum rent regulations is punishable by a $5,000 fine, a year in prison, or both.

"We anticipate complete cooperation by landlords and tenants with the federal rent control program in the Poughkeepsie Defense-Rental Area," Mr. Chelius said. "This is an important part of the over-all war program and a basic factor in curbing inflation. In general, in areas now under federal rent regulation, landlords have accepted rent control as a necessary war measure."

The immediate task for the Area Rent Office will be the registration of every dwelling unit rented or offered for rent in the Poughkeepsie Defense-Rental Area, Mr. Chelius said. This will be done at conveniently located registration centers set up throughout the area as soon as possible.

"This registration," Mr. Chelius said, "is the foundation for effective rent control. It not only establishes the maximum legal rent that can be charged for a specific unit, but also the kind and number of services furnished the tenant by the landlord on the maximum rent date."

Haasz Estate Appraised

New York, Nov. 30 (Special)—Property in Hunter owned by the late Anna H. Haasz of this city, is bequeathed to two nephews, according to the findings here today of the New York State Transfer Tax Department. The beneficiaries are Alexander Sellers of Philadelphia and the Estate of the late Richard Sellers of Wilmington, Del. They will get property at Kaaterskill Junction and land in the Hardenburgh Patent. The Haasz estate was appraised today at $8,817, gross, and $7,668, net value.

Temple Emanuel Service

Special services will be held in Temple Emanuel Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in a response to a call on the part of all American Jewry and its leadership for a season of prayer and petition on behalf of the suffering and dying Jews in Nazi-occupied countries. All synagogues in America will participate.

The Egyptian Government will buy at fixed prices all cotton offered.

One went aground on an island and the other started to drop anchor. It was quite a long range, but we fired one torpedo which hit under the stack and the ship broke squarely in two and went down in about 45 seconds. Apparently not a survivor got off.

The convoy was standing in in a large port where there are steel mills.

Klakring said the third sinking was "in full view of a Japanese settlement." This sinking and the next one averaged about a minute going down and several boatloads of survivors got away.

"When we started after the rest of the convoy," Klakring continued, "out of a cove came six or seven Jap patrol planes. They dropped plenty of depth charges but we kept on after our prey. We managed to head off one of the two remaining ships and let her have two torpedoes."

He said the pursuit of the convoy continued for about 110 miles and that "all the Japanese on shore had a good look at the sinkings."

On Sunday they approached shore close enough to watch the horse races at a big city track.

"We watched the pony races for an hour," said Klakring. "There was a tremendous crowd there, and we could see the races clearly. It wasn't recreation. I was looking for a target, but we didn't fire that day."

The submarine's next victim was an 8,000-ton transport only a mile from the beach. "This was near a large city and I think quite a good number of people ashore saw it, Klakring said. It was at the entrance to the harbor."

The submarines later sank two ships two minutes apart out of another convoy despite gunfire from escort vessels. One was a tanker and the other an armed freighter. "There were seven ships in the convoy, and unfortunately we got only two," Klakring said.

A lone, fully-loaded cargo vessel which broke in two when torpedoed and sank quickly, was the sub's eighth victim.

Dr. Taylor Asks Laboratory Aid

Supervisors Are Informed of Increase in Work Done for County

Dr. J. S. Taylor, director of the Kingston City Laboratory, made his annual report to the Board of Supervisors Monday evening in which he said that the amount of work done for the county during the year had been practically the same as the other years and requested that the same aid be given the laboratory in 1943. The county contracts with the City Laboratory for its work and pays annually $12,000 for the service, one half of which is refunded by the state.

The same contract was approved again for the services during 1943-1944. In his report Dr. Taylor said that while the amount of county work had been approximately the same during the past year as in former years, there had been an increase of county work in the examinations made for Selective Service Boards, while in other services there had been a drop, thus balancing the total amount of work done.

One increased duty which the laboratory staff is carrying on is the collection of plasma for a blood and plasma bank to be used in case of an emergency. Under the proposed plan the Ulster County War Council and the City War Council have started the collection of 350 pints of plasma each. To date 330 pints have been collected and stored, of this amount 70 pints are for the county bank and 260 for the city bank. This collection of blood is done by the laboratory staff.

Through the solicitation of John Groves, deputy director of civilian protection of the town of Esopus, the management of the Hercules plant at Port Ewen has agreed to permit employes of the company to contribute blood to the bank at the plant. The laboratory staff will go to the Hercules plant and there in the company's infirmary and aided by the company nurses, some 300 to 400 employes will donate blood for the bank. The employe will donate the blood during working hours and without loss of time, through the generosity of the company.

The report of Dr. Taylor with his request that the county continue its aid in the sum of $12,000 for maintenance of the Kingston City Laboratory, was referred to the committee on public health and laboratory, and ordered filed.

Resolutions from the previous session were called up and adopted without opposition.

The committee on public health nurses moved that the recommended salaries as presented at the board meeting on Friday evening be adopted and that there be employed six public health nurses during 1943. Adopted. Dr. H. P. Van Wagenen of the committee moved that the appointments of Dr. Rachel Holloway of Kethonkson for a term to expire in 1946, Dr. Eugene Galvin of Rosendale to expire 1945, Mrs. G. W. Ross of Port Ewen to expire in 1944 and Mrs. Lucy Arnold of Modena to expire in 1943, be approved and that Dr. Frederic Holcomb and Albert D. Kniffin be named ex-officio members of the committee on public health nurses. Adopted.

A report was submitted by the committee on commissioner of public welfare, relative to general asylum bills and the committee recommended that he be allowed claims against the county in the sum of $4,037.95. Received and filed. The claims are: Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville, $871.71; Kingston Hospital, $2,693.10; Benedictine Hospital, $228, and Mt. Magdalen Training School, Troy, $245.14.

The same committee reported that claims amounting to $781.63 against the non-settlement fund were proper charges against the county and moved that these bills be audited as proper claims against the county outside the city of Kingston, also that the fund be reimbursed to the amount of $781.63 to bring the fund back to the $10,000 total which it is maintained at under the state law. Referred to committee on appropriations.

A resolution was offered to levy and assess on the county the sum of $1,500 for employment of public health nurses and for their expenses during the year. Over.

John Costello of 71 Ann street, appointed to fill the vacancy created by the death of Supervisor Carl Laicher of the sixth ward, was present at the session. Mr. Costello was a former city marshal.

Before adjourning until Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock Clerk Simpson announced that on Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock there would be a meeting of the committee on printing and also the committee on sheriff's bills. That evening at 7 o'clock there will be a meeting of the committee on justices and constables and also the committee on county judge and district attorney.

There will be an inspection of the buildings and grounds of the Tuberculosis Hospital on Wednesday, December 2, at 5:30 o'clock and all supervisors are invited to attend this inspection. A buffet lunch will be served at 6 o'clock.

Prior to the meeting of the board Monday evening the committee on printing proceedings met and opened bids for this work. There was but one bid submitted, that of the Freeman Publishing Co. with a bid of $3.19 per page.

Buy Defense Stamp

Editor of The Freeman,

Dear Sir:

In memory of Pearl Harbor let everybody buy a ten-cent defense stamp on December 7. This will speed our boys on and help win an early victory.

Sincerely,
MILDRED H. VAN KLEECK.

Jews to Observe Festival of Lights

Chanuko Will Be Observed From December 4 to 11

The first historically-recorded fight for religious freedom— and, therefore, for all freedoms—will be commemorated by the traditional observance of Chanuko, the Festival of Lights or Rededication, observed by Jews the world over for 2,000 years, and celebrated this year, December 4-11.

The written history of this battle is to be found in the Apocrypha of the Bible in the Book of Maccabees.

Therein is related how Antiochus Epiphanes, conqueror of Judah, tried in 169 B.C.E., to force all people unto his "new order" for the provinces under his rule. National culture, local religion, and personal endeavor were to be uprooted in favor of a general plan of "coordination" for everyone.

But it did not work. The religion of their fathers and the belief in one God was too precious to the Jews to be exchanged, either by cajolery or force, for the religion and ways of the pagan Greek gods whose worship Antiochus demanded.

Bitterness became open revolt, headed by Judah Maccabee and his brothers. Guerilla warfare—a small band of patriots against a well-equipped conqueror—led to a decisive battle in 165 B. C. E. in which Antiochus and his army were defeated, and the Temple of Jerusalem which had been converted into a pagan shrine, was rededicated amid rejoicing and thanksgiving. There is the legend of a miracle which had occurred at the dedication—a small cruse of sacred oil, sufficient ordinarily for only three days of pure flame before the altar, lasted the full eight days until consecrated oil could be had again.

This brave victory of a minority fired by its religion and devotion to God, is therefore observed eight days. Faithfully, the candles of Chanuko have been lit for 2,000 years as a symbol of the victory over evil darkness. In the year 1942, this observance has deepened significance—Notice prepared by Commission on Public Information about Jews and Judaism, Cincinnati, O.

Saugerties Men Hurt Painfully

X-Rays Show Overbagh Has Broken Knees; Terpening Has Jaw Fracture

Gerald Overbagh, 25, of Saugerties suffered fractures of both knees as well as a fractured rib and George Terpening, also of Saugerties, was found to have a broken jaw when X-rays were taken Monday at the Benedictine Hospital.

Both men were injured early Monday morning when their car and that of George Medwin collided at the junction of route 9-W and the East Chester by-pass. Overbagh was on his way from Saugerties to his position at the Electrol and Terpening was riding in the Overbagh car. Medwin was en route from Kingston to Saugerties, and was traveling over 9-W while the other car was proceeding south and out the by-pass. The pavement was icy at the time of the crash which happened about 6:55 a. m.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

No Cause Verdict Given in Riozzi Case

A verdict of no cause of action was returned late Monday evening in the negligence action brought by Anthony Riozzi and his father, Angelo Riozzi, against Madeline Comstock and another. The action was started last week in Supreme Court before a jury and Justice Francis Bergan. The Young lad alleged injuries when he was struck by the car of Mrs. Comstock which was being driven by her husband. The accident happened near the Saugerties High School when the plaintiff alleged the car struck him and injured his leg. One leg it is claimed is permanently injured and is shorter than the other because of the break.

In defense of the action it was contended that the injury suffered by the boy was due to his own negligence and that he had left school and ran out in the path of the oncoming car.

James H. Hyer appeared for plaintiff and Judge A. J. Cook appeared as trial counsel for the defendants, Herbert F. Hastings, Jr., being counsel of record for defendants.

Santa Takes Command on Gift Giving Front

Reporting for Duty in Person for First Time This Year, Tomorrow

Emerging From Behind the Scenes Where He's Been Working Overtime To Make Sure There Are Gifts for All

Emerging from behind the scenes where he has been working ardently in an effort to make this the most cheerful, the most successful Christmas Season in all history, Santa Claus now reports in person for duty on the Gift Giving Front.

Old St. Nick has arrived in town to take command himself of a great corps of assistants whose joyful task it will be to guide you to the solution of every gift giving challenge of a most unusual year.

As you wend your way, beginning tomorrow, through the crowded aisles of stores that glitter with the freshness of their gift giving inspiration, you will marvel at the ingenuity of the ruddy faced old gentleman. He has provided the means for making everyone, regardless of your budget, happy this Christmas.

Most Important Season of All

Hailing the Yuletide of 1942 as the most important Gift Giving Season in all our history — when no one you love dare be forgotten — Santa cautions all to brook no delays in starting their gift shopping. Tomorrow is not too early.

The long hours of each day that he has worked overtime in preparation for the most important of all Yuletide seasons also involved the job of making sure that the men in our armed forces overseas were generously remembered by no later than November 1st.

Now there yet remain the boys—and also the girls—in our armed forces in camps and barracks on this side of the seas, to whom we must pay a visit without fail in your behalf. These are over and above and in addition to the little boys and the little girls—and all the folks at home, on whose health and happiness our fighting men depend for their support.

Starts Earlier This Year

Christmas arrived much earlier this year for the boys overseas. Christmas really arrives tomorrow, on the Home Front, though December 25 is still weeks away. There is a lot of gift choosing and a lot of gift mailing to be done.

And if mailing is required it is especially important that gift selections be made without delay. With Uncle Sam's transportation system taxed by the urgencies of the times, and with post office playing Santa's delivery man for those in the service, twice the normal time should be allowed for postal delivery of gift packages.

This Christmas is a challenge —successfully met by Santa Claus. It challenges every American to show how, despite the war, the precious tradition of the Yuletide flows on with all its cheerful vigor. It challenges us all to demonstrate that the unparallelled American capacity for bringing joy to all those who wish "peace on earth," and who have "good will toward men," flourishes more brilliantly than ever.

Does His Part

Santa Claus has done his part. Working overtime he has managed to stock the stores with vast assortments of gifts from which to choose, despite the fact that many basic materials required for manufacture of Christmas gifts have gone off to war along with many men.

The miracle of this Christmas will be found in the selections of precious things, practical things, cheer inspiring things for youngsters and for oldsters, that await the early shopper.

Many desired items—which will be obtainable only by those who act upon Santa's special 1942 advice to brook no delay—may vanish from the market entirely following the Christmas season, or soon thereafter.

These are items made of the strategic materials required by our fighting forces, principally metals and also many of wood.

The supply of the so highly prized for gift-giving electrical appliances, for example, is surprisingly good, but nevertheless definitely limited. There are radios, but don't wait too long to shop for them.

Use Layaway Plan

Jewelers and furniture dealers urge gift shoppers to use the layaway plan immediately for wanted gifts from among those they have in stock.

Most fortunately for the children—to whom, after all, Christmas is most important—Toyland is a veritable miracle-land in the ingenuity and the foresight have combined to provide a wonderful opportunity to make them the happiest generation of youngsters in the land, but there again the advice is shop early.

The gift giving trend is strongly and most happily in the direction of wearables for everyone—men, women, boys and girls—with a dominant note of the practical directing the selection.

Long Lasting Gifts

Fortunately, fashion, utilizing its limitless ingenuity, has seized upon new materials and what is available of traditional materials, to convert the practical into the beautiful and to make the gift of wearables as full of gaiety as they are of usefulness.

This trend emphasizes the giving of long lasting gifts with the quality of continuing to say Merry Christmas to the lucky recipient for weeks and months and maybe years. The trend includes the vastly increased attention being given to things for the home, be they important pieces of furniture, decorative objects or just small gadgets which serve to make living a little more comfortable.

After all, those who will remain on the Home Front for the duration will be spending more time in the home, and the one who gives something to make the home more comfortable, more attractive, is giving a gift of true Christmas cheer.

Emphasis in giving is on the "long lasting" in a dozen different ways this year. Many of the ways to give long lasting gifts to everyone you love, yourself included, really involves no extra expenditure of money at all.

Some Examples

By way of example, you will be giving yourself and all men who love freedom, a gift that is important to Victory, if you:

Carry a bigger share of packages. That will help save rubber and tires for our fighting men.

Choose something warm to wear for someone on your list, for that will help save fuel.

Make your choice of gifts definite and final so there will be no need for returning or exchanging them. This saves waste in many ways.

Give what is probably the most important gift of all, and certainly a gift that will last not only for the duration but one that will come back to you and yours with interest—give a War Savings Bond.

Take your Christmas Shopping Change in War Savings Stamps.

There's More Reason to Shop Early Now, Than Ever Before

Santa's calling the roll—and every wise Christmas shopper will answer promptly! Early shopping is Santa's order of the day for better reasons than in any past year; and the most joyous giving will be that which was planned for . . . not tomorrow . . . but Today!

This year's Christmas money must buy practical, quality things —and that means taking enough shopping time to permit really careful selection.

Cooperating with wartime "regulations"—whether they be written or unwritten—is something every one considers a personal duty now. Since that includes carrying small Christmas packages home, allowance may have to be made too for additional time for one or more extra bus or trolley trips!

As for the boys in service—not an overseas gift should be on American soil this late, for November 1st was the last date for shipping to them in time for Christmas delivery. And twice the usual mailing time must be allowed for gifts for men in service still within our shores.

Then, too, because transportation curtailments are going to mean that fewer folks will travel, the mails will have to be loaded with their gifts—which they'd ordinarily receive in person.

Among the advantages to be gained by shopping early is the fact that there are still many gift items which once gone won't be duplicated. Since they're available in only limited numbers selections must be made quickly if one is to be able to give at least some precious "no more to be had" gifts.

No one should need more incentive for early shopping! Yet also to be considered are the folks who keep Christmas merchandise moving from warehouse to store to shoppers' arms; the postal workers who will deliver gifts at their final destination. Their load is lightened when Christmas shopping is staggered over a longer period of time.

It's more fun to shop early—and more fun after. Leisurely gift wrapping will permit more attractive, more secure packages; and there'll be plenty of time for the tree—and a party too.

Use this Christmas Gift guide as an index of where to get just the right thing at just the right price for every one on everyone else's gift list! It tells, in thrilling stories, beautiful pictures and informative ads what to get where, and what to pay and it also tells of gifts one need only write away or phone for; because mail and phone shopping saves precious auto tires, gasoline . . . and time!

It's good to know that gifts always purchased with Time Payment facilities can still be bought that way—with only slight adjustment in line with wartime requirements.

From every angle it looks as though America is going to see its dearest tradition carried on in the very spirit we're fighting to make live forever.

It's going to be a wonderful Christmas—most wonderful for those who plan shopping early—do their shopping early—and wrap and mail in time to make this the kind of Christmas they always want their loved ones to enjoy.

Plan Lighting Yule Tree Now

Need Be No Dimout of Traditional Cheer

There need be and must be no dim-out this year of the Christmas tree—traditional and most cherished symbol of the Yuletide—though manufacture of strings of colored lights has stopped in the name of Victory.

Those families that equipped themselves with tree-lighting sets during past years, will find the carry-over equipment coming to the rescue, and early shoppers for new sets may find some still in the stores. Replacement bulbs are available in satisfactory assortments but limited quantities.

Those who lack or fail to find the safe electrical tree-lighting equipment, may through use of ingenuity, still manage to overcome the hazards of old fashioned candles by utilizing bullet-type reading lamps or bed lamps hidden behind living room chairs, with their light directed on the tree.

Christmas tree ornaments of which there are plenty, and traditional tinsel, have a great power of light reflection and will, with the aid of lamps directed upon them, give off a brilliant Christmas effect.

Lighted trees, it is suggested, should not be placed at windows this year in dim-out areas, but rather in an inside corner of the room. Windows should be shaded.

GIVE A BACKREST

A backrest—not just for an invalid, but for a friend who likes to read in bed or have breakfast there—is a splendid gift. These backrests have a back and arms and are comfortably stuffed with cotton and covered in sprightly chintz. They are inexpensive and you'll find them in practically any furniture or department store.

Here's Gift That Will Pave Way to Victorious New Year

All wrapped in red, white and blue — having won Santa's salute as the outstanding Christmas gift of the year—is the War Bond. And there are many advantages in choosing it to give those who rank highest on one's Christmas list.

War Bonds are so easy to shop for: Their size, color and "fit" are always right: Many retailers, and every bank in town has them for sale.

War Bonds are a gift for the future—because held until they mature their value will be greater than their actual cost.

And War Bonds are the most tangible way of saying, "I in giving, you in receiving this Christmas gift, help to preserve the joyous tradition of Christmas for which we're fighting now . . ."

Not everyone rates a War Bond —but anyone can be started toward the purchase of one with a Stamp Album partially filled with War Stamps in the ten cent to $5 denominations; neatly encased in a fine leather or inexpensive holder.

* * *

One of the most charming ways of giving Christmas gift War Stamps is in a madeup boutonniere, corsage, bracelet or half-do nosegay which can easily be taken apart (if the recipient can bear to give up wearing it), and the stamps of which they're fashioned pasted into an Album.

Whether or not War Bonds and Stamps are chosen to give as Christmas Gifts, one thing is certain: and that is, that in buying gifts with which to spread yuletide cheer, everyone will remember to take some change in War Stamps with every purchase—to pave the way for a Victorious New Year!

Shirts Prove to Be Safest Gift

Every Man Always Needs Just a Couple More

Few men ever have as many shirts as they would like to own. This is true even of the boys who are now in the army, though Uncle Sam furnishes them with an issue.

Therefore, you will never make a mistake by giving that man of yours a box of shirts this Christmas.

All you need know to make the gift perfect, is his size, and sleeve length, which can be found inside the collar band on one of the shirts now in his dresser drawer: and whether he likes them plain white, or colored. The stores will guide you in selection of the collar style.

One more caution is necessary when you're planning a gift of shirts for the man in the army. They must be in regulation styling and color. Most stores have them in correct fabrics so all you need do is make it clear that they are for an army man.

If you are buying a gift of shirts for the man in the navy, white with detached collars are safest, for both commissioned and chief petty officers wear only white with their blue uniforms.

Regular Chino's, however, are welcome for summer.

Make It Thrilling Week of Surprises for Men In Service

Want to make it a thrilling week of daily surprises for your man in the service, this Christmas?

Then why not use this inexpensive plan:

Start well in advance of December 25, with a Christmas card "just to let you know that Santa Claus is on his way."

Drop into a store next day and address an already Christmas-wrapped package of cigarettes.

On the third day, send him one of the cleverly designed packages of shower-soap, purchasable for a dollar or less,-and on the fourth, a ready-packaged-for-mailing box of razor blades.

The sixth day, send him a photograph of your self, and on the seventh, a pair of regulation army socks marked — "do not open until Christmas Day," containing the major gift from you to him.

Or vary the plan to suit yourself. There are so many gifts he can use, and so many of them cost so little.

Santa Worked Overtime to Stock Toyland With Gifts for Girls, Boys

Be Sure to Shop Early He Advises

Playthings Plentiful but Selections May Be Limited

By Maxine Livingston

Family Home Editor, The Parents' Magazine.

This Christmas, at least, Santa Claus isn't worrying too much about providing little Johnny and Mary with toys. He's been working overtime, though, because he knows how important it is to keep little children busy and happily engaged in times of stress and strain.

There are plenty of new toys in the stores waiting to be earmarked for good little boys and girls, but many of them reflect the limitations imposed by the necessity for conserving strategic materials. Many of the toys which have been favorites with children through the generations are still to be had—but made from different materials. And just to make sure that children have a gay and happy Christmas this year, Santa is painting the toys extra bright.

Possibly the most grevious casualty to the male members of the family is the electric train. Some stores, however, are fairly well supplied with electric trains, having anticipated the War Production Board's limitation order prohibiting the manufacture of all metal toys containing more than 7 per cent of their weight in critical materials.

However, when present stocks are depleted, no more electric trains will be manufactured for the duration. But if you explain to Johnny, and maybe his father, too, that there is enough zinc in a three and one-half pound toy locomotive to make a carburetor on a jeep, he will have just as much fun supplying the power to run one of the new wood or pressboard trains.

Even velocipedes are now being made out of wood. Old St. Nick has been busy developing one that is made out of wood from the tips of the handlebars to the rim of the wheels, using only just enough steel to hold them together.

Making Them of Wood

And he is building other wheel toys, for boys and girls from four to ten years of age, out of wood and composition board. A scooter in the shape of a turtle will delight the smaller tots, while their older brothers and sisters will carry the battle to the front yard with replicas of tanks, planes, mosquito boats, and a super Ack-Ack gun. It is only natural that many of the new toys are adaptations of the latest equipment used by our armed forces.

For the sailor who sails the stormy bathtub waters there are battleships, submersible submarines, destroyers and aircraft carriers. And of course half the fun is dressing up in a play uniform copied from models worn by the United States armed forces.

There are new educational toys planned and tested for age suitability, as well as for fun. Educators and parents, realizing the importance are stressing the value of pre-school toys which encourage pounding and building, as a stimulation to the child's physical and mental growth.

Infants, perhaps more than any other age group, will be most affected by the toy scene since colored rubber toys and toys made of plastics having a formaldehyde base are no longer made. Some rubber toys are still to be found in the stores, but if you cannot find just the rubber toy you are looking for, remember babies are easily amused and there are a number of new wood rattles and other playthings that are sure to catch their fancy.

Matching Furniture

Some of the new doll furniture is particularly attractive, and it is even possible for the tiny mother and her dollies to have matching furniture. Their clear colors and restrained designs are a relief from the hodge-podge of former years.

Aspiring young designers will be intrigued with the new mannequin sets. One set with a paper doll includes paper patterns for making hats, coat and dresses, while another fashion model is a regular doll and more substantial. Peggy comes in an attractive red, white and blue box which makes a handy carrying kit for sewing, knitting or shopping. This set not only includes accurate patterns for making dresses and uniforms, but it also gives directions for knitting a pullover sweater.

Quilted Cuties

A bit of quilting here and there adds a touch of welcome warmth, yet doesn't add uncalled-for spending. Rayon satin, cotton velveteen and just plain cotton become gifts superb when they come in quilted housecoats, perky quilted berets with pouch bags to match, quilted vestees and ever so many other practical things.

Wagon Trail

The happy housewife who thrives on gadgets will welcome a set of three minute carts filled with gay flowers, candy, cigarettes or what have you. The wagons are rural in type—come in light or dark wood, blossoming with brightly painted flowers, and can serve as centerpiece groups many ways.

This Belongs To—

For the lady who's continually at a loss for a hanky because she's continually dropping them—the gift problem is solved! A few brilliantly colored cotton nifties with the words "This belongs to (HER NAME)" embroidered right smack in the middle, are both practical and individual!

Old Favorites Plus a World of New Toys, Waiting to Be Earmarked For Christmas Giving This Year, to Every Good Girl and Good Boy

REMEMBER! WHEN YOU'RE CHRISTMAS SHOPPING, ASK FOR YOUR CHANGE IN WAR STAMPS . . . AND REMEMBER, TOO, THAT WAR BONDS MAKE GREAT CHRISTMAS GIFTS!

Toys; Games That Teach Will Intrigue Old As Well As Young

Picture puzzle books and puzzle construction sets will interest the very young members of the family as well as the older ones. Some of them are so colorful that once the child has put the puzzle together, it can be used as a decoration in his room.

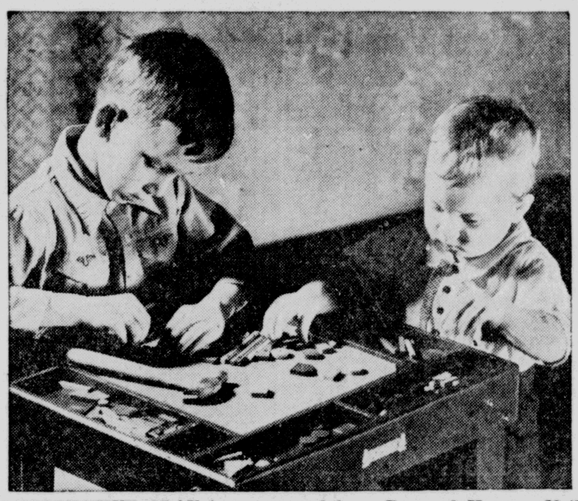

Then, too, there are games and hobby material in which the whole family can participate. Many of them feature airplane combat technique and the strategy of army and fleet maneuvers; others include model building, railroading, bead looms and painting sets.

The family who enjoys billiards and bowling but whose house does not provide space for a full-size table or alley will be interested in the miniatures which can be set up on a table or on the floor.

One of the new construction sets contains miniatures of the materials used in building houses. For a number of years there have been sets with which children could build replicas of some of the famous historical cabins of pioneer days, but new kits contain bricks and stones and are held together with mortar just the way real buildings are erected.

Miniature chemistry laboratories appeal to both boys and girls. There are simple and more complete inexpensive sets for the beginner and more complete ones for the advanced student of chemistry. Magic outfits containing all the material to perform legerdemain will prove to be just as much fun for the papas nd mamas as well as for the children.

Of course you may have to spend a little more time this year when you shop for toys. Every store won't have all the toys you are seeking. But if you start your shopping early you will find most of the toys you are looking for.

Pajama-Perfect

Let the little fellow take his skiing adventures to dreamland, in a pair of comfortable warm pajamas, ski-suit styled for the "frozen turnip." The cuffs and anklets of this novel pajama fit snugly. Wonderfully seasonal for gift-giving!

Young Aviator

Air-minded lads will greet warmly the "professionally" styled leather helmets that look just like those their air heroes wear in combat. They make wonderful gifts for American youths, because of their practical warmth on blistery days.

Rip-Roarin' Tie

Manys' the boy who will give a whoop of excited joy when he opens his Christmas gift box to find handsomely patterned ties whose colors and designs were inspired by America's fighting planes.

"Commando Suit"

Sonny will be fighting battles galore (in the back yard, of course) if he's given an authentic "Commando" suit come Christmas morn! Mother will appreciate this gift too, because the suit is made of a poplin which sheds water, stains, and perspiration beside keeping the little tyke warm.

Spoonful For Mother

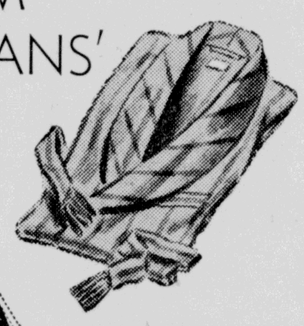

Those words are probably familiar if baby is the type who takes a "peculiar pleasure in eating cold food"! Gaily colored baby feeding sets put an end to that trouble for the bright colors are an inducement to eat—and the food can be kept warm because the sectional feeding dish sets over a hot water container.

In Training

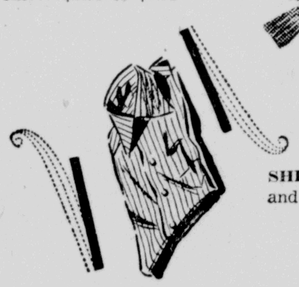

He'll be a muscular tyke if he starts his gymnastics at the tender age of six months. He can too, if he's gifted with a cradle gym which features a priority-free flexible plastic bar with attached, dangling circular handles.

Choosing Gifts for Men in Service Easy, for They Know What They Want

THEY WANT BIBLES, say all the questionnaires—small ones to be carried in the pocket. Here's a handy Prentice-Hall digest titled "The Bible in Brief." That regulation dress cap also is on the soldier's "preferred" list.

LEATHER WALLETS — make sure they have a place for a picture and room for cards—also are on the preferred list for service giving.

Do Your Christmas Shopping and Mailing, Early.

FOR ARMY, NAVY men, diaries rate high. One called a "Handybook" contains service information, room for snapshots and autographs, deserves a place in every service gift package. Published by Martin J. Pollack, Inc., sales yield U.S.O. a percentage.

JUST PICTURE IT

Men with a mania for photography will applaud the gift of a photograph album. Available in book or looseleaf form, a choice may be had of any number of insignias embossed on the covers.

MORE THAN ONE, AS MANY AS FOUR, in one pack age is the way to send gifts to service men. Most things they want and need are small and inexpensive but very useful. For example, the gift kit pictured above (by McGregor) includes sewing kit, money belt and flashlight. You can make up your own package of selected gifts but why not be safe with those planned to a purpose.

Portrait Photograph Preferred As This Year's Mail-Away Gift

Growing more popular than ever before in the history of gift giving this season, is the portrait photograph, which only the professional photographer can make satisfactorily.

The increasing popularity of the portrait photograph as a Christmas gift, is not difficult to trace. In the first place, it rises to a preferred position among the things the man in the service wants. In the second place, it serves on the home front to substitute for those personal visits between families during the Yuletide, which are going to be most difficult to make this year because of restrictions on transportation.

Essentially the portrait photograph is a gift of intense personalization, as in the instance of the sweetheart of the soldier or sailor who is far from home and unable to get back for the holiday. Likewise it is the intensely personal gift in which parents of grown children who in their turn have children of their own, take so much pride.

In reverse, the portrait photograph this year becomes the prized gift from the young man in service, to his mother, who will cherish that picture of him in uniform forever.

Most portrait photographers are becoming busier each day we approach Christmas. Arrangements for an early sitting therefore are urged upon those who plan an individual or a family group picture as a gift to friends and relatives this year.

Allow Double Time for Mailing of Photograph

Time should be allowed for inscribing a message on the picture, for framing and for mailing, with the caution that twice the normal mailing time is going to have to be allowed this year in order to make sure the portrait reaches its destination before the holiday.

Portrait photographers specialize in proper packaging for safe mailing of photographs, and therefore it is best to have them do the mailing. They also are experts in framing and can help you to a proper selection if you plan to have the photograph framed.

Quality Is Next Most Important

Man on Home Front Wants Functional Things, as Does the Soldier

Service-ability is the first yardstick by which to measure all things chosen as gifts for the male, this Christmas, whether they are intended for the man in the army, the navy or the marine corps, or for the man who is serving in a thousand different ways on the home front.

Good functional gifts are wanted by the practical minded man whose impulse is to direct all other available funds into the purchase of War Saving Bonds and Stamps, to make sure that the kind of Christmas we know in America will never vanish.

Quality becomes the second yardstick by which to measure gifts for men this year, because all of the gifts he receives are going to be put to more intense use, and they should be able to "take it," and to last longer, so that they can keep on saying Merry Christmas to him for many days and months after the holiday.

Finally, the ability of gifts to lift the spirit of the male to give him relaxation from the added burdens of work and care that is on his shoulders during these strenuous times, to bring a broad grin of happiness to his face, must help guide the selection and sometimes light his smile can be heightened by adding an inexpensive little trick gift to the group of major ones that you select for him.

The woman who is Christmas shopping for a man, this year—and what woman is not—will let his hobbies and his sentiments and his masculine sense of values, guide her choice to the exclusion of her feminine sense of the delicate and frilly.

Every analysis of the problem of choosing gifts for the man this year, points irretrievably to something for him to wear, something to make him more comfortable at work and during leisure hours, and to one other most important consideration: — if he is in the armed forces: the gift chosen should meet all regulations of the service. Clerks in store will guide you correctly here.

Robe for Relaxation

Time was when a robe was the traditional gift for Dad as the chief stay-at-homer. Today the robe ascends to a more active role for its ability to give fireside comfort after a hard day at work. In rayon, flannel, velveteen or corduroy, there are new priority satisfying, chill-beating models. They really should be accompanied as a gift with a pair of warmly lined slippers of moccasin type or ankle height to make the unit complete.

The occasional sports jacket and coat sweaters will be excellent choices for the man this year with their practical usefulness enhanced by a dash of good styling. There are more with zipper closing than you would imagine and you can find them in the style you want if you shop early.

Yes, suits and overcoats and hats must be included in the gift giving category this year, along with ties and pajamas and underthings, and especially warm hose. As for ties, the woman can shop with safety indeed for the Christmas patterns this year are definitely chosen for masculine taste, and there are gift certificates plus a miniature topper to help you give a man a hat of his own selection.

The accessory items so essential to a man's happiness is the point at which the early shopper is going to be the most successful gift shopper.

For Early Shoppers

There are electric razors, for example, to be found in department stores and men's stores and drug stores. Fitted cases are available with safety razors, in limited quantities. Even radio sets can be found also if you shop carefully, and watches—try for the waterproof type—also are there for the early gift shopper.

There is an excellent selection of luggage for the man, ranging from the splendid new cases which preserves clothes from wrinkling down to the handsome all leather overnight bags now so useful to most men.

Pipes and tobacco pouches, travel kits equipped with all the essential toiletries, gag gifts carved from useful soap handsomely boxed, are among the many things which to select gifts with which to put the sparkle of an old fashioned Christmas into 1942 giving, which should and must be basically practical to make the man enjoy it most.

DOUBLE CHECKED

A pocket size checker set is an amusing Christmas gift idea for that man in the service. It comes complete: board, checkers and all, in a simulated leather case, the size of a cigarette-tin.

URN AT ENTRANCE

Urns in white marble-like stone or in colors may be found in most novelty departments of your department stores. Get a pair for the entrance of your house or for a gift for a friend's home.

Plan a Package of Gifts For Man in the Service; Just One Is Not Enough!

Choose Several from Among the Small, Compact, Functional, Inexpensive Things Surveys Show He Wants

The "Yuletide Priorities Administration" gives the man in the armed services an exclusive A-1 rating in the Christmas Gift Giving list for this year, by popular acclaim. "Gift Canteens" featuring complete assortments of gifts wanted by soldiers, sailors and marines have been allotted the most accessible shopping spaces in virtually all of the stores in town, thus making the task of selection easy for you.

There are two very important things that everyone who is planning a gift package for the service man, must bear in mind this year:

First, the boys have made it very clear that their preference is for small, compact and functional gifts.

Second, twice the normal mailing time must be allowed by gift givers who want to make sure that their packages reach the boys before Christmas Day.

Stress on care necessary in wrapping and addressing the package blends in importance with early mailing time to insure prompt and accurate and safe delivery. All of this means there must be no delay in choosing the gifts (plural) that are to convey your Christmas Greetings with love, to that fighting man.

"Gifts" in the plural sense is used deliberately, for with very few exceptions the things the boys prefer are comparatively inexpensive, making way for the selection of several, instead of just a single gift.

Most "Gift Canteens" are in fact featuring packages of several ready-selected gifts, chosen for their compliance with service regulations and for their ability to satisfy the studied hopes of the boys who are to receive them.

Even waterproof, shock-proof wathes, which rate second only to cartons of cigarettes, on almost every one of the many surveys that have been made of the service man's Christmas desires, may be had at surprisingly modest prices, if you shop early enough to find one of the sturdy little models. Those with sweep second hands preferred but the supply is limited. The same is true of the small portable battery operated radios, almost equally high in favor.

And though either of these items may come close to exhausting the budget, there will still be enough money left to make it "gifts" instead of "a gift" if you choose to add but one or two items from the many others most popularly desired.

Take the items listed among the wearables, for example, for use in amplifying and dressing up their regular army issues. These include socks, shirts, underwear, handkerchiefs, sweaters and an extra regulation GI cap with proper service insignia.

Select With Care

But great care must be taken to select items satisfying the regulations of the branch in which the man serves. Clerks in "Gift Canteens" and in men's wear stores can give you accurate help here.

Take those other items, which might be characterized as the useful, but not wearable, like sewing kits, shoe shining kits, razor blades and sharpeners, pen and pencil sets and writing kits with stiff backs to furnish a solid surface; windshielded cigarette lighters, fitted toilet cases, wallets with insignia and overnight bags for use on furlough.

These too are comparatively inexpensive items which afford every one a marvelous opportunity to make it a package of "gifts" instead of a single gift.

Some Want Bible

But the list of suggestions is not yet exhausted, for the wants and needs of the boys in the service, so overwhelmingly functional, reaches powerfully into the realm of the spiritual also.

Their constantly reiterated desire for pocket editions of the Bible, for religious medals and Rosaries, give still greater opportunity for diversification of the multiple-gift package that should be planned for every one.

Yes, they do want things to eat too, but not many, for they are the best fed soldiers in the world. Sweets for a quick treat and for sharing with the other boys, will be welcomed. But sending perishable and difficult-to-serve delicacies is definitely frowned upon.

Gift Giving Pattern

The Christmas hopes of the men in our service, for the most part functional, inspires a pattern so obvious no one should have difficulty in making it a great event for everyone of them.

The pattern suggests something to wear, something to help him keep neat and clean, something to amuse, and something to help him keep in touch with home.

Finally, the universal desire of the men for photographs of loved ones, is eloquent of the spirit of their service. Every gift package for a man in the service should also contain portraits or snapshots of the folks back home.

ARMY, NAVY, AIR CORPS insignia, as you wish, on this vacuum pen and pencil set, complete with leather case, created by Morrison to fulfill the gifts hopes of many a man now in the service. He'll write if you give.

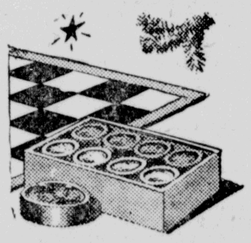

MAKE IT AN EXTRA gift for the service man by simply addressing already packaged and much needed razor blades, right in the store from where it will be mailed. Among blades so packed are Simplex.

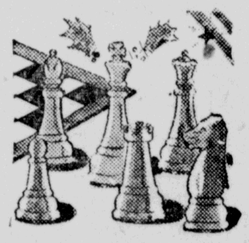

LINED OR UNLINED, depending upon the idiosyncracies, and the ability of that man to resist cold, gloves for dress business will make a most acceptable gift this year.

Choose Aids to Grooming: Costume Jewelry, Beauty Needs

By VIVIAN FREEMAN

This is one Christmas when giddy giving is definitely out! Though gifts for women should have charm, individuality and femininity—they must be really useful, practical, and durable—not only of lasting quality, but the kind that don't require time-consuming pampering.

Easy to care for; easy to fit into her way of life, and easy on the eyes: that's the shopping formula down-pat for those who want to express the true 1942 Christmas spirit in their giving.

Every woman's first concern this winter is—keeping warm. Whether duty calls for her being behind an office desk; in her home; in war plant or classroom—she'll have to endure occasional heatless days and lower temperatures day-in day-out, due to wartime demands on the nation's fuel supply.

One gift of gifts this year, to warm her heart—and body—is the quilted robe, pretty, patterned and practical as it can be!

She just can't have too many sweaters; and the shawl's been revived as a fashionably purposeful accessory. Plaids, other brilliant patterns and monotones in wool and velveteen accompany daytime clothes, while scintillating fabrics and startling colors will warm cold shoulders after dark. Other heat generators are wool hose—bed sock, anklet or full length; fur lined gloves; fuzzy boudoir slippers and brilliant jackets to ensemble with skirts and slacks.

Up to Fur Coat

Depending on how generous one can be, the wearable cold-weather gift can range from "red flannels" to a fur coat! And fur accessories are sure to make dreams come true—in the form of muff, stole or hat.

She may never get near a ski slide—but she'll be delighted with a ski suit this winter, to be worn in city or country for fun in the snow, wheeling the baby, long distance walking to market, and for civilian defense duties such as air raid warden, salvage collection service and first aid courses.

No one need cast away the idea of traditional Christmas giving, because endless numbers of such gifts have always answered the down-to-earth requirements of this year's well chosen gift.

No More Luxury

Jewelry is more than a luxury: one effective piece can make a very simple frock extend its appropriateness for dressy wear too. Compacts and manicure kits, perfumes and bath accessories mean more than ever because not only are they aids to good grooming—they have a capacity for reaffirming a woman's faith in herself; and revitalize her when she's overtired.

There never is any doubt about a woman of any age wanting pretty handkerchiefs—and the new charm of government regulation-abiding lingerie makes panties, undies and gowns rate stronger than ever in popularity.

With her slacks, (wonderful gifts too for home lounging and answering alerts)—with her separate skirts and suits, she'll need blouses a-plenty. White ones and colorful; monotone and patterned; tailored and dressy—the finely made blouse is a preferred gift; especially if it has a pantie-bottom and won't pull out at the waist!

To make much of a limited wardrobe, every maid and matron can use to advantage colorful gloves, capacious handbags, and neckwear frills to provide new thrills for last season's dresses. And who is to deny that hosiery is one of this Christmas' most precious gifts, whether it be hard-to-get nylon, newly perfected rayon, or fine lisle in winter's leg-flattering tones.

Don't Forget Bond

Not to be overlooked are gifts of leather—from eagle-buckled belts and tiny flashlight-key rings to luggage she'll carry on short hops to see her hero in camp.

Whatever her gift, she'll be doubly overjoyed to find the gift within a gift—of a War Bond. And War Stamps are tiny enough to importantly tuck in the toe of her Christmas stocking or to put in her gift handbag instead of the usual "good luck" money.

It's gifts like those tabulated above—and they have countless counterparts in all the shops about town—which show that their giver knows the P's and Q's of Christmas giving for '42—in terms of Practicability and Quality that will be lasting reminders of thoughtful generosity.

Do Your Christmas Shopping and Mailing Early.

GONE TO HER HEAD

Now, when warmth really counts, Christmas gifts should be given accordingly. A novel and pretty hat for the young lady of the family is no more than a very cunning wool-knit shawl, elevated to head-heights and topped with two face flattering pompons of wool. A heavy fringe does the bordering trick.

SILVER CIRCLETS

IMMORTAL RADIANCE

If may be that, for you, this Christmas season will celebrate the personal happiness of your engagement. In selecting the diamond to perpetuate such a happiness, we suggest that you consult us freely, that our skill and experience may assist you in selecting a diamond worthy to reflect forever the beauty which this Christmas holds for you.

Most Wanted Gifts Offer Wide Choice

Life Size Models Made of Cloth, Featured for This Year

By ETTA ZIMMERMAN

Although toyland has given generously of materials needed to win the war, whenever necessary doll inhabitants of the land of make-believe still are being created, adorable as ever, to bring joy to the hearts of little-girl "mohers."

This Christmas, especially, gift dolls will be eagerly looked forward to, since many dolls, particularly those of rubber composition have been given up wistfully by their owners to help swell the family's scrap contribution.

This year's crop of dolls is largely constructed of cloth, some in excitingly large sizes—almost as large as five and six years old themselves! They are made completely life-like, by being dressed in little-girl smocks, slicks and pinafores that are darlingcopies of youngsters' own apparel.

Typical is one vivacious young miss with yellow braids, called Clarabelle, who will be a true playmate to the lucky girl who adopts her. She is just one of the many life-size dolls that will take their places in youngsters' hearts come Christmas gift-giving tme.

"Me and Mimi" represent all-cloth dolls to be given in sets of two, with "Mimi" the smaller "facsimile" of "Me." This cute twosome is joined by other friends, all with their own miniature companions held lovingly in their arms. To mention a few—there is a heart capturing little pickaninny holding her own likeness, called "Me and My Shadow," and as a variation, a mammy and her baby.

For Patriotic Minded

For the patriotic minded little Miss, there are any number of Victory-working dolls, all dressed up in sailor suits, soldier uniforms and Red Cross nurse outfits. America's fighting heroes are well represented by two smart chaps in service uniforms, one who wears the Navy Blue and the other the Olive Drab of the Army. Uniquely constructed, their arms and legs can be bent into almost any position.

Dressed in colorful red, white and blue, a saucy pair exemplifying an American boy and girl may be bought together or separately; they can be made to stand or sit. And, mention must be made of the "Thumbs Up" doll, pert and welcome as the spirit indicated by its thumbs-up gesture!

Although most of this year's dolls are cloth, many have plastic heads. One newcomer to doll-land, named Plassie, can ingeniously turn her head at various angles as well as from side to side. With her moving expressiveness and soft, stuffed body, she is made to cuddle and love.

Always favorites, baby dolls still have a priority on the affections of little girls, and there are many composition dolls with soft bodies to take the place of former types, whose basic materials have gone to war. Most of these sweet, new baby dolls have sleeping eyes, and long, lovely lashes.

Talkative Youngster

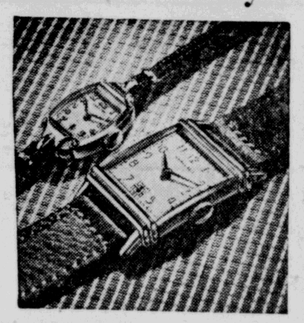

An amusing addition to the doll family selection is the "Poppa-Mamma" doll. A talkative young type, this baby sweetheart says Mamma when laid down and Poppa when picked up. And there is "Sweetie Pie," a great, big, beautiful doll with moving eyes, legs and arms.

Sub-deb dolls lend reality to a little girl's dreams of "how I'll look when I'm grown up." The Little Lady Doll, an entrancing beauty, has a satin smooth complexion, smart, modern hair-do and even tapering, separated fingers which can wear gloves! She can be dressed in sportswear, school-type clothes or for dancing parties in a dream of a formal dress.

Many little girls will like to start their wartime collection of Allied Nation dolls, which come in authentic costumes of their native lands; the start of a childhood interest which may grow into a life-long hobby.

The thoughtful gift-giver will include a change of apparel with the doll chosen to make a little girl happy. As a means of making what one has, to go further and just for fun, old clothes can be cut down into dresses for the dolls that will find themselves 'neath the Christmas tree.

Precious and Rare Are the Fine Gifts You'll Choose Early From Stocks in Jewelry Stores

FINE WATCHES for him and for her are truly rare finds as gifts. These are both by Hamilton.

MOTOR ROBES are ever more acceptable gifts this year despite reduction in auto travel, because during this "Save Heat" year, the auxiliary robe will serve a wider usefulness.

ELECTRIC RAZORS are indeed still on the market and your gift of one will be all the more cherished for the fact that you sought it out.

KITCHEN QUICKIES

A set of Pyrex glass that includes sauce pan and double boiler; deep casserole dish and pie plate will go well under mother's Christmas tree bough. It's a practical gift as well as a patriotic one, for the use of glass allows more metal to go to war, and the glassware can come right to the table.

Make It a Lasting Christmas in Fact as Well as in Memory with Furniture

Among These Things for the Home Will Be Found the Essence of Gift Giving, With the Warmth of the Armchair's Embrace

GRANDEST OF GIFTS is a stately breakfront desk which combines utility with dominating decorativeness. This is but one of many models from which to choose.

SMOKE HIM OUT of his sombre attitude by choosing one of the new smoking stands for placing right next to his chair where he can relax. Available to early shoppers in modern or period.

COMFORT CORNER FOR MOTHER OR DAD. The soft, channel back chair will be welcomed by both and it will be a toss-up as to who will enjoy most the drawers of the mahogany table. The two drawers are roomy enough to hold mom's sewing equipment or dad's favorite pipes. In combinations a gift for either—or both.

COLOR THE SCENE

Wallpaper can incorporate every color you have in the room. One dainty bedroom noted has pink curtains, a blue rug and a pink and green plaid chair . . . and the wallpaper used had every one of those colors in it.

Dim-Out Gift

Be Practical in Choosing Gifts

Stores Are Ready for Early Shoppers With Lay-Away Plans

With gifts that have a capacity for making Christmas a lasting event in fact as well as in memory, being so carefully sought out by the really thoughtful gift giver this year, it is no wonder that the greatest trend in Yuletide shopping history is in the direction of furniture and home furnishings.

For among these things will be found not only the gifts that express the essence of Christmas sentiment as in the instance of the comfortable embrace of an arm chair, but also the practical beauty of an admirably selected desk that can land distinction to the room for which it is chosen.

And from among these things can be chosen something that will serve the man—or woman—who has doffed his, or her, civilian clothes for a uniform, the while its presentation tells both, most eloquently, that home will be waiting for their return.

A gift of this type from among the furniture and home furnishings that are on display, is the cedar chest, now no longer reserved for the bride-to-be alone, but equally practical for the male as well. He will find it most useful for storing civvies safely.

The furniture stores of this city aided by the manufacturers, have planned well for Christmas, 1942. They realized that with the energies and resources of the Nation diverted from "living as usual" to "winning the war," the homes for which we are fighting would become more precious.

Thus they are ready in two-fold fashion, this war time Christmas, with an assortment of practical gifts full of Yuletide sentiment of a high order, for every member of the family to enjoy in homes where they will be spending more time than ever before.

Some Selections Limited

The two-fold preparation for Christmas, 1942 arises from the thoughtful selection and stocking of items that may be difficult to find later, plus the ingenuity of the designer in providing new and modern furniture and furnishings that do not conflct with war time needs, the while they strike new notes of utility and fashion beauty for the home. Wonderful things have been done with wood, plastics and glass.

In any event, it is clear that with a wide assortment from which to choose furniture gifts this year, there will be limited selections of irreplaceable items in some instances. This means that the smart and practical Christmas gift shopper who is thinking in terms of the home will do her—or his—shopping early in the furniture stores.

This is where the "lay-away" plan that the stores are making so readily available this year will come to the aid of the Christmas shopper.

The lay-away plan does in fact make possible the more liberal purchase of gifts for use in the home, and also home gifts of the best quality, because it serves to lengthen the time in which the shopper has to pay for what is chosen.

CONSIDER THE LIVING ROOM, and what it means to the family this year, and a score of gift giving ideas will come to mind. Convenience and variety are possible with flexible, modern section bookcases, and sectional sofa chairs. Extra tables, pictures, draperies and bric-a-brac are gifts that dress up a room to perfection. Buy a War Bond for Christmas.

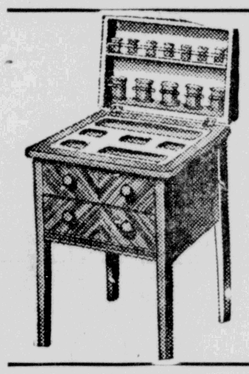

IF IT'S A TOSSUP between a gift table or lamp why not compromise and give both! This Sheraton table is of shining mahogany with a convenient shelf for incidentals; the lovely lamp of gleaming white onyx.

Giddy Giving Gives Way to Individuality, Utility, Lasting Quality, When It Comes to Saying Merry Christmas to Practical Minded Woman

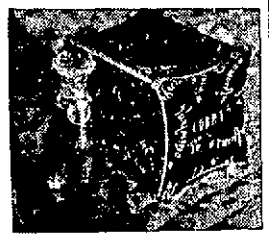

THE BEDTIME STORY this Christmas is one of prettiness and warmth. Encircled is a lace trimmed, rayon satin bed jacket with fan pleated sleeves. Standing guard against chilly nights is the flower patterned, quilted rayon satin robe. Other lovely gifts for sleepers and readers-in-bed are the lace encrusted Fray-Pruf gown (left), and the eyelet trimmed Barbizon gown with its very own bed jacket, (center).

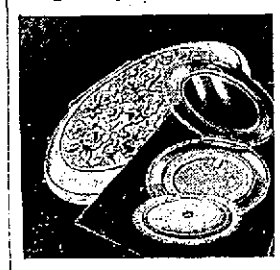

LUSTROUS PEARLS for her throat with matching pieces for finger and ear-tips. Cultured by Imperial they will be cherished through the years.

ALLURE for her, beauty for dressing table—provided by Cobra perfume.

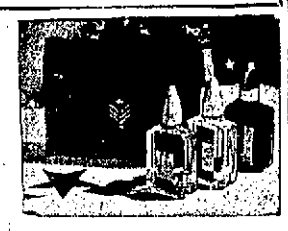

FLOWER LADEN LUCITE makes this compact tops for Christmas priority. It has leak proof powder sifter and velvet smooth puff. Designed by Mavco.

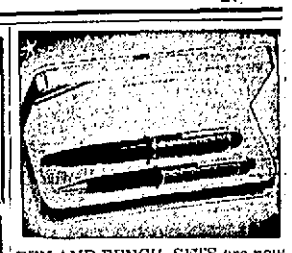

OLD FASHIONED Bouquet of soap for bathtime, created by Wrisley.

POCKET LIGHTERS are treasured gifts this year and can be had in time for giving if you act quickly. Those for service men should be shielded against the wind. Pictured, are Ronson's.

SERVICE KIT for service or homefront, complete with Cutex nail polish, cuticle remover and trimmings. She'll love it for its convenience and smart military trim.

PEN AND PENCIL SETS are now streamlined for elegance and make prize gifts for Christmas giving to the man whether in civilian life or in the service. They come neatly boxed like this Eversharp set.

KEPT ON A LEASH

Straying gloves need no longer be a hazard to their owners—not if they have a glove guard to protect them! The attractive ornamentation of a favorite simulated stone tops a gold-plated chain through which the gloves are held securely to handbag or muff.

TAILORED SLACKS-PAJAMAS suits, of spun rayon, once for playtime only, become useful gifts now, for bowling, Civilian Defense work. This smart outfit designed by Barbizon.

ENCLOSE WAR STAMPS with your gift of gloves when your "make your change" in them. Pictured gloves show the smart styling of Kislav. The fur hat the lady wears is a thoughtful gift item too, this year.

Here Are a Score and More Clever Christmas Gift Giving Ideas to Help You Fill the Yuletide Season With Cheer for Everyone

Gifts this year are easy to choose because this year more than ever the keynote is "make it something useful." The days of giving useless luxuries are over for the duration and in their place we have a Christmas season that features scores of gifts that are beautiful, useful and just as acceptable as any you have ever chosen.

For men and women at home and for men and women in service you are sure to please when you choose from the "Gifts to use" that are being featured by your merchants this year. They have chosen their stocks with an eye to the usefulness of each and every gift and they have priced them so that you may get something suitable for everyone on your list and still have money left to add a few war stamps to your gift package.

CHILL BILLING SWEATER in wonderfully soft Mirapaca, light as a feather and in smart coat style, for leisure work, to please the most discriminating man. It's a Brentwood.

POWDER PUFF GUARD

A lovely crystal powder jar to grace her dressing table stands out in the ranks of welcome Christmas gifts. One shows a plastic guard in the cover which protects the puff by keeping it out of the powder, to make it last longer and keep fresh and clean.

Santa Worked Overtime to Stock Toyland With Gifts for Girls, Boys

Be Sure to Shop Early He Advises

Playthings Plentiful but Selections May Be Limited

By Maxine Livingston

Family Home Editor, The Parents' Magazine.

This Christmas, at least, Santa Claus isn't worrying too much about providing little Johnny and Mary with toys. He's been working overtime, though, because he knows how important it is to keep little children busy and happily engaged in times of stress and strain.

There are plenty of new toys in the stores waiting to be earmarked for good little boys and girls, but many of them reflect the limitations imposed by the necessity for conserving strategic materials. Many of the toys which have been favorites with children through the generations are still to be had—but made from different materials. And just to make sure that children have a gay and happy Christmas this year, Santa is painting the toys extra bright.

Possibly the most grevious casualty to the male members of the family is the electric train. Some stores, however, are fairly well supplied with electric trains, having anticipated the War Production Board's limitation order prohibiting the manufacture of all metal toys containing more than 7 per cent of their weight in critical materials.

However, when present stocks are depleted, no more electric trains will be manufactured for the duration. But if you explain to Johnny, and maybe his father, too, that there is enough zinc in a three and one-half pound toy locomotive to make a carburetor on a jeep, he will have just as much fun supplying the power to run one of the new wood or pressboard trains.

Even velocipedes are now being made out of wood. Old St. Nick has been busy developing one that is made out of wood from the tips of the handlebars to the rim of the wheels, using only just enough steel to hold them together.

Making Them of Wood

And he is building other wheel toys, for boys and girls from four to ten years of age, out of wood and composition board. A scooter in the shape of a turtle will delight the smaller tots, while their older brothers and sisters will carry the battle to the front yard with replicas of tanks, planes, mosquito boats, and a super Ack-Ack gun. It is only natural that many of the new toys are adaptations of the latest equipment used by our armed forces.

For the sailor who sails the stormy bathtub waters there are battleships, submersible submarines, destroyers and aircraft carriers. And of course half the fun is dressing up in a play uniform copied from models worn by the United States armed forces.

There are new educational toys planned and tested for age suitability, as well as for fun. Educators and parents, realizing the importance are stressing the value of pre-school toys which encourage pounding and building, as a stimulation to the child's physical and mental growth.

Infants, perhaps more than any other age group, will be most affected by the toy scene since colored rubber toys and toys made of plastics having a formaldehyde base are no longer made. Some rubber toys are still to be found in the stores, but if you cannot find just the rubber toy you are looking for, remember babies are easily amused and there are a number of new wood rattles and other playthings that are sure to catch their fancy.

Matching Furniture

Some of the new doll furniture is particularly attractive, and it is even possible for the tiny mother and her dollies to have matching furniture. Their clear colors and restrained designs are a relief from the hodge-podge of former years.

Aspiring young designers will be intrigued with the new mannequin sets. One set with a paper doll includes paper patterns for making hats, coat and dresses, while another fashion model is a regular doll and more substantial. Peggy comes in an attractive red, white and blue box which makes a handy carrying kit for sewing, knitting or shopping. This set not only includes accurate patterns for making dresses and uniforms, but it also gives directions for knitting a pullover sweater.

Quilted Cuties

A bit of quilting here and there adds a touch of welcome warmth, yet doesn't add uncalled-for spending. Rayon satin, cotton velveteen and just plain cotton become gifts superb when they come in quilted housecoats, perky quilted berets with pouch bags to match, quilted vanities and ever so many other practical things.

Wagon Trail

The happy housewife who thrives on gadgets will welcome a set of three minute carts filled with gay flowers, candy, cigarettes or what have you. The wagons are rural in type—come in light or dark wood. Blossoming with brightly painted flowers, and can serve as centerpiece groups many ways.

This Belongs To—

For the lady who's continually at a loss for a hanky because she's continually dropping them—the gift problem is solved! A few brilliantly colored cotton niffies with the words "This belongs to (HER NAME)" embroidered right smack in the middle, are both practical and individual!

Old Favorites Plus a World of New Toys, Waiting to Be Earmarked For Christmas Giving This Year, to Every Good Girl and Good Boy

Toys; Games That Teach Will Intrigue Old As Well As Young

Picture puzzle books and puzzle construction sets will interest the very young members of the family as well as the older ones. Some of them are so colorful that once the child has put the puzzle together, it can be used as a decoration in his room.

Then, too, there are games and hobby-material in which the whole family can participate. Many of them feature airplane combat technique and the strategy of army and fleet maneuvers; others include model building, railroading, bead looms and painting sets.

The family who enjoys billiards and bowling but whose house does not provide space for a full-size table or alley will be interested in the miniatures which can be set up on a table or on the floor.

One of the new construction sets contains miniatures of the materials used in building houses. For a number of years there have been sets with which children could build replicas of some of the famous historical cabins of pioneer days, but new kits contain bricks and stones and are held together with mortar just the way real buildings are erected.

Miniature chemistry laboratories appeal to both boys and girls. There are simple and more complete inexpensive sets for the beginner and more complete ones for the advanced student of chemistry. Magic outfits containing all the material to perform legerdemain will prove to be just as much fun for the papas nd mamas as well as for the children.

Of course you may have to spend a little more time this year when you shop for toys. Every store won't have all the toys you are seeking. But if you start your shopping early you will find most of the toys you are looking for.

CONSTRUCTIVE PLAY is encouraged by a Peg and Hammer-Nail table and stool set as pictured above, complete with materials, booklets of designs. The set will keep the youngsters from destructive attacks on furniture and the home. Take your change in War Stamps.

Santa Claus Suggests

Pajama-Perfect

Let the little fellow take his skiing adventures to dreamland, in a pair of comfortable warm pajamas, ski-suit styled for the "frozen turnip." The cuffs and anklets of this novel pajama fit snugly. Wonderfully seasonal for gift-giving!

Young Aviator

Air-minded lads will greet warmly the "professionally" styled leather helmets that look just like those their air heroes wear in combat. They make wonderful gifts for American youths, because of their practical warmth on blistery days.

Rip-Roarin' Tie

Mahys' the boy who will give a whoop of excited joy when he opens his Christmas gift box to find handsomely patterned ties whose colors and designs were inspired by America's fighting planes.

"Commando Suit"

Sonny will be fighting battles galore (in the back yard, of course) if he's given an authentic "Commando" suit come Christmas morn! Mother will appreciate this gift too, because the suit is made of a poplin which sheds water, stains, and perspiration beside keeping the little tyke warm.

Spoonful For Mother

Those words are probably familiar if baby is the type who takes a "peculiar pleasure in eating cold food"! Gaily colored baby feeding sets put an end to that trouble for the bright colors are an inducement to eat—and the food can be kept warm because the sectional feeding dish sets over a hot water container.

In Training

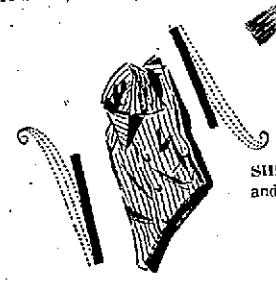

He'll be a muscular tyke if he starts his gymnastics at the tender age of six months. He can too, if he's gifted with a cradle gym which features a priority-free flexible plastic bar with attached, dangling circular handles.

Utility bookends that serve as vases for flowers offer a pleasurable solution to the gift-for-the-home problem. In the shape of huge crystal blocks they complete a setting with a few vines of ivy.

TEA TIME is a happy time for any little girl who is the proud owner of this gayly colored, all plastic tea set. Rainbow colors decorate the napkins, too!

DOUBLE TALK

The apparent delight of little girls when they find Christmas gift pinafores with cuddly dolls dressed in exactly the same outfit, will be a gratifying sight on Yuletide morn. There's a plentiful variety.

Colorful Things on Clothing Racks Making Santa Claus Pull the Strings for a "Wearable" Children's Christmas

By BETTY GREEN
Fashion Editor, Parents' Magazine

When you see racks and racks of such Christmas confections as crisp organdie pinafores, colorful taffeta party frocks, dainty lingerie, flower strewn quilted cotton robes, you can practically hear the jingle bells, Santa is pulling the strings for a wearable Christmas this year especially where little children are concerned.

Betty Green

You have probably just started to think seriously about your Christmas lists. "Better shop early," you have been warned. "The supply will not meet the demand." Sound advice, we call it, especially if you have some children on that list of yours for whom you are planning to buy Gifts-to-Wear.

The earlier you do your shipping in the infant's and children's department, the fresher and more varied you will find the stocks.

Looking ahead for you we list some of the exciting Christmas wearables that will reward the early shopper.

BABY'S FIRST CHRISTMAS

When you see the assortments of baby dresses you will find the new styles more enchanting than ever. Now that we cannot get all the hand work that used to some from the Philippines, our very own American manufacturers are turning out machine made baby frocks that are as highly styled as your own.

We warn you, don't go near them unless you mean to buy some. They are irresistible.

OF THEE WE SING

Nothing like a pinafore under the tree to brighten a child's Christmas morning especially this year when the designers of toddlers and older girls dresses have done some of their best work with pinafores.

COTTON KNITS FOR BOTH

This is the year to be practical in your selection of children's Christmas gifts. That's why we include cotton knit brother and sister suits in our list of recommended gifts.

The children will enjoy wearing them and their mothers will bless you for your good sense, as well as for your good wishes.

And if you ever find yourself really up a tree about what to give little Tommy or Mary, a separate cotton-knit pull-over is a wonderful solution, either in pastels or in Christmas Ball colored stripings.

MILK'S WONDERFUL—INSIDE AND OUT! Sister's robe of rayon satin is quilted over Arlac . . . baby's cotton snow suit (in insert) is interlined with Aralac—the "milk-made" fibre that's so warm indoors and out! Parents Magazine photo.

BEDTIME STORIES

Of course, robes are a natural" for Christmas. Little babies (and their mothers, too) gurgle over warm blanket cloth robes with cuddly appliques; over corduroys and quilts. The sturdy toddler will like a tailored cotton fleece, styled for either a boy or girl. Grown-up and growing-up girls swoon over flowerpatterned cotton quilt robes, either in floor length or the new "shortie" length that helps to conserve fabrics.

This year the newcomer to the robe collections is a flowered challis fabric that contains Aralac, the magical new protein fibre derived from milk casein which has the warmth of wool. Lots of your quilted robes will be quilted over Aralac instead of cotton and that's important in a year when fuel is a questionable commodity.

"Cold hearths, warm hands" is a good adage to remember when you're Christmas shopping. Then you won't forget to gift your favorite child with a cozy robe or cute cotton flannel pajamas.

QUILTING B-EAUTIES

Is there a growing girl or a teen ager on your list? Then make up your mind now to buy her one of the new quilted accessories—such as a waistcoat or hug-me-tight jacket that she will wear instead of sweater or over her skating skirt.

Quilted bonnets, mittens—even quilted skirts are among your best Christmas "finds" for '42. You will particularly like the calico ones.

SCHOOL GIRLS SKIRTS

And they like particularly the skirts that have a novelty appeal such as appliqued felt-flowers or perfectly HUGE pockets that will accommodate their knitting. Many girls have been longing for patch pocket skirts "like all the girls are wearing to school."

Well, what better time for making wishes come true than Christmas. The dirndlish skirts are rated "hep," "smooth," and "super" by the knowing younger crowd.

TEDDY BEAR TEMPTERS

Any girl who hasn't yet received one the new Teddy Bear coats will simply s-woon when she finds one under the tree. To a teen ager this cozy pile fabric is more precious than mink or sable and twice as smart. The shorter jackets are very inexpensive.

P.S. They're cuddly warm, too. And, while we're on the subject of Teddy Bear fashions, what about the shaggy Teddy Bear sweaters that are creating such a campus furore.

HEARTFELT GOOD WISHES

Look for the colorful felt gadgets in the girls' department for an inexpensive gift that will bring a gleam to any child's eyes. For instance, felt mittens and caps, felt shoulder strap bags, felt suspenders, felt beanies and felt flower jewelry, too.

Incidentally, all school girls are mad about any type of gadget jewelry and this year there's plenty of it, styled just for them. If you don't find it in the girls' department, look for it in the main floor jewelry departments.

SNOWSUITS FOR WARMTH

If you are really going to plunge on a Gift-to-Wear for a child, consider the worthy snowsuit a good investment in Christmas cheer, a good protection against Christmas chill. We like the new cotton gabardine or poplin suits, lined with wool or Aralac. Be sure the cotton is processed for water repellency and spot resistance.

This year most of the suits for smaller children are one-piece styles—easy to get into and out of. In all but the tiny sizes you will buy the matching cap separately. Yes, even Santa is subject to government regulations.

Merry Christmas shopping to all. When Santa pulls the strings for a Wearable Christmas, the Children will dance with delight.

Christmas May Not Be Same This Year But Can Be Better

By CLARA S. LITTLEDALE
Editor of Parents' Magazine

This will be a different Christmas. No matter how many of us may wish for Christmas as usual, it can not be the same as in the days before this country had been at war for over a year. Many families will miss sons who are in the armed forces many families will have met bereavement.

Mrs. Littledale

What effect will this changed atmosphere have upon our children? Must world conflict and individual anxiety darken their Christmas day? Or is it possible to insist on "childhood as usual" and to make good such a promise?

The answer must be both yes and no. We can not pretend that all is as it used to be and expect our children to believe it. Though to all outward appearance they are the same happy carefree, noisy youngsters. Those who are closest to them realize that they are affected by the atmosphere about them, that they sense even that which is unspoken.

But this does not mean that girls and boys must be weighed down with the cares and worries of an adult. And it does not mean that the word "merry" can not apply to this Christmas as it has to all the other Christmases that we and our children have celebrated. Soldiers and sailors and airmen of all nations will remember Christmas this year. Wherever they are, the old, old greeting, "Merry Christmas" will be found on their lips.

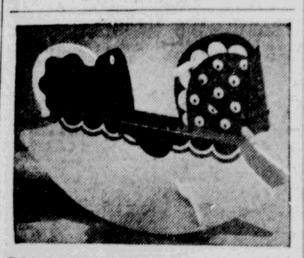

This year families will feel more deeply than ever before that Christmas is a home day, and that the giving of gifts symbolizes the love which they feel toward each other and toward friends. Presents may be simpler and more practical and that is desirable. In many a stocking and on many a tree war bonds and war savings stamps will be valued gifts. Christmas dinner may be less elaborate than it was in other years, but it will be festive. In many homes it will be necessary for every one to lend a helping hand with the work involved.

Because people are seeking entertainment at home this year, new games and pastimes are appearing on the market and these will help make Christmas merry with children and grown-ups playing together.

There will be toys this year in abundance, but different toys made of different materials, a tribute to the American toymaker's ingenuity and his understanding of what delights children. And there will be music to help make Christmas merry.

We are fast becoming a musical nation and victrola and radio are bringing the best of music into our homes and helping to create musicians. Happy the family who has always had the custom or who starts the custom this year of singing together on Christmas Day—and other days.

Yes, Christmas will be a different Christmas this year, but there's every reason to believe that it can be a better Christmas for all of us.

COLORFUL MOUNT is this charger of the nursery. It's a Play Pal to bring lots of fun.

Man on Home Front Wants Functional Things, as Does the Soldier

Service-ability is the first yardstick by which to measure all things chosen as gifts for the male, this Christmas, whether they are intended for the man in the army, the navy or the marine corps, or for the man who is serving in a thousand different ways on the home front.

Good functional gifts are wanted by the practical minded man whose impulse is to direct all other available funds into the purchase of War Saving Bonds and Stamps, to make sure that the kind of Christmas we know in America will never vanish.

Quality becomes the second yardstick by which to measure gifts for men this year, because all of the gifts he receives are going to be put to more intense use, and they should be able to "take it," and to last longer, so that they can keep on saying Merry Christmas to him for many days and months after the holiday.

Finally, the ability of gifts to lift the spirit of the male to give him relaxation from the added burdens of work and care that is on his shoulders during these strenuous times, to bring a broad grin of happiness to his face, must help guide the selection and sometimes light his smile can be heightened by adding an inexpensive little trick gift to the group of major ones that you select for him.

The woman who is Christmas shopping for a man, this year—and what woman is not—will let his hobbies and his sentiments and his masculine sense of values, guide her choice to the exclusion of her feminine sense of the delicate and frilly.

Every analysis of the problem of choosing gifts for the man this year, points irretrievably to something for him to wear, something to make him more comfortable at work and during leisure hours, and to one other most important consideration:—if he is in the armed forces: the gift chosen should meet all regulations of the service. Clerks in store will guide you correctly here.

Robe for Relaxation

Time was when a robe was the traditional gift for Dad as the chief stay-at-homer. Today the robe ascends to a more active role for its ability to give fireside comfort after a hard day at work. In rayon, flannel, velveteen or corduroy, there are new priority satisfying, chill-beating models. They really should be accompanied as a gift with a pair of warmly lined slippers of moccasin type or ankle height to make the unit complete.

The occasional sports jacket and coat sweaters will be excellent choices for the man this year with their practical usefulness enhanced by a dash of good styling. There are more with zipper closing than you would imagine and you can find them in the style you want if you shop early.

Yes, suits and overcoats and hats must be included in the gift giving category this year, along with ties and pajamas and underthings, and especially warm hose. As for ties, the woman can shop with safety indeed for the Christmas patterns this year are definitely chosen for masculine taste, and there are gift certificates plus a miniature topper to help you give a man a hat of his own selection.

The accessory items so essential to a man's happiness is the point at which the early shopper is going to be the most successful gift shopper.

For Early Shoppers

There are electric razors, for example, to be found in department stores and men's stores and drug stores. Fitted cases are available with safety razors, in limited quantities. Even radio sets can be found also if you shop carefully, and watches—try for the waterproof type—also are there for the early gift shopper.

There is an excellent selection of luggage for the man, ranging from the splendid new cases which preserves clothes from wrinkling down to the handsome all leather overnight bags now so useful to most men.

Pipes and tobacco pouches, travel kits equipped with all the essential toiletries, gag gifts carved from useful soap handsomely boxed, are among the many things which to select gifts with which to put the sparkle of an old fashioned Christmas into 1942 giving, which should and must be basically practical to make the man enjoy it most.

DOUBLE CHECKED

A pocket size checker set is an amusing Christmas gift idea for that man in the service. It comes complete: board, checkers and all, in a simulated leather case, the size of a cigarette-tin.

URN AT ENTRANCE

Urns in white marble-like stone or in colors may be found in most novelty departments of your department stores. Get a pair for the entrance of your house or for a gift for a friend's home.

Plan a Package of Gifts For Man in the Service; Just One Is Not Enough!

Choose Several from Among the Small, Compact, Functional, Inexpensive Things Surveys Show He Wants

The "Yuletide Priorities Administration" gives the man in the armed services an exclusive A-1 rating in the Christmas Gift Giving list for this year, by popular acclaim. "Gift Canteens" featuring complete assortments of gifts wanted by soldiers, sailors and marines have been allotted the most accessible shopping spaces in virtually all of the stores in town, thus making the task of selection easy for you.

There are two very important things that everyone who is planning a gift package for the service man, must bear in mind this year:

First, the boys have made it very clear that their preference is for small, compact and functional gifts.

Second, twice the normal mailing time must be allowed by gift givers who want to make sure that their packages reach the boys before Christmas Day.

Stress on care necessary in wrapping and addressing the package blends in importance with early mailing time to insure prompt and accurate and safe delivery. All of this means there must be no delay in choosing the gifts (plural) that are to convey your Christmas Greetings with love, to that fighting man.

"Gifts" in the plural sense is used deliberately, for with very few exceptions the things the boys prefer are comparatively inexpensive, making way for the selection of several, instead of just a single gift.

Most "Gift Canteens" are in fact featuring packages of several ready-selected gifts, chosen for their compliance with service regulations and for their ability to satisfy the studied hopes of the boys who are to receive them.

Even waterproof, shock-proof wathes, which rate second only to cartons of cigarettes, on almost every one of the many surveys that have been made of the service man's Christmas desires, may be had at surprisingly modest prices, if you shop early enough to find one of the sturdy little models. Those with sweep second hands preferred but the supply is limited. The same is true of the small portable battery operated radios, almost equally high in favor.

And though either of these items may come close to exhausting the budget, there will still be enough money left to make it "gifts" instead of "a gift" if you choose to add but one or two items from the many others most popularly desired.

Take the items listed among the wearables, for example, for use in amplifying and dressing up their regular army issues. These include socks, shirts, underwear, handkerchiefs, sweaters and an extra regulation GI cap with proper service insignia.

Select With Care

But great care must be taken to select items satisfying the regulations of the branch in which the man serves. Clerks in "Gift Canteens" and in men's wear stores can give you accurate help here.

Take those other items, which might be characterized as the useful, but not wearable, like sewing kits, shoe shining kits, razor blades and sharpeners, pen and pencil sets and writing kits with stiff backs to furnish a solid surface; windshielded cigarette lighters, fitted toilet cases, wallets with insignia and overnight bags for use on furlough.

These too are comparatively inexpensive items which afford every one a marvelous opportunity to make it a package of "gifts" instead of a single gift.

Some Want Bible

But the list of suggestions is not yet exhausted, for the wants and needs of the boys in the service, so overwhelmingly functional, reaches powerfully into the realm of the spiritual also,

Their constantly reiterated desire for pocket editions of the Bible, for religious medals and Rosaries, give still greater opportunity for diversification of the multiple-gift package that should be planned for every one.

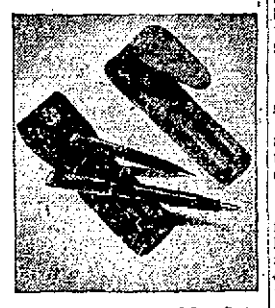

Yes, they do want things to eat too, but not many, for they are the best fed soldiers in the world. Sweets for a quick treat and for sharing with the other boys, will be welcomed. But sending perishable and difficult-to-serve delicacies is definitely frowned upon.

Gift Giving Pattern

The Christmas hopes of the men in our service, for the most part functional, inspires a pattern so obvious no one should have difficulty in making it a great event for everyone of them.

The pattern suggests something to wear, something to help him keep neat and clean, something to amuse, and something to help him keep in touch with home.

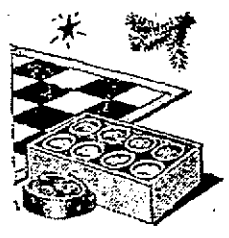

Finally, the universal desire of the men for photographs of loved ones, is eloquent of the spirit of their service. Every gift package for a man in the service should also contain portraits or snapshots of the folks back home.

MAKE IT AN EXTRA gift for the service man by simply addressing already packaged and much needed razor blades, right in the store from where it will be mailed. Among blades so packed are Simplex.

LINED OR UNLINED, depending upon the idiosyncracies, and the ability of that man to resist cold, gloves for dress business will make a most acceptable gift this year.

Use 'Service-Ability' as Yardstick in Choosing Gifts To Give Male This Year.....

HOW TO GIVE an overcoat? It's simple. So long as you know his size. Choose for warmth and quality, and have it packed in a gift box, tied with ribbon.

TOILETRY KIT for men who get about—including the boys in the service—has shaving cream, talc and lotion, all in a waterproof case that becomes a utility bag. Designed by Coty.

GIVE HIM RELAXATION this Christmas by choosing the wearables that will make him comfortable at home. A trim fitting flannel robe of napthalated wool, or a dressier one of rayon, and add a pair of comfortable shoes, warmly lined. Carry your share this Christmas.

PIPE AND POUCH should be combined as one gift for a He man and should be accompanied by a pound of his favorite blend. The tobacconist will help you select the right combination.

LIGHT WEIGHT JACKET of weatherproof fabric and zippered to fit tight in the storm—here's a gift every man wants for sports or work. It's appropriately called Bantamac.

SPORTSMEN'S DELIGHT—a Decoy set of masculine bath soap, perched on a bath brush and smartly boxed Gift for that outdoor man who "has everything."

"IN THE ARMY" NOW!

BRING YOUR OWN

Invitations to "at homes" will be carrying the above message, so something has to be done about the sugar problem. An attractive saddle leather case in any one of many colors, contains a small jar which holds anywhere from a three to six-teaspoon "ration" capacity, and is appropriately named the "Sugar Toter."

GLASS BLOCKS

Most Wanted Gifts Offer Wide Choice

By ETTA ZIMMERMAN

Although toyland has given generously of materials needed to win the war, whenever necessary doll inhabitants of the land of make-believe still are being created, adorable as ever, to bring joy to the hearts of little-girl "mothers."

This Christmas, especially, gift dolls will be eagerly looked forward to, since many dolls, particularly those of rubber composition have been given up wistfully by their owners to help swell the family's scrap contribution.

This year's crop of dolls is largely constructed of cloth, some in exciting large sizes—almost as large as five and six years old themselves! They are made completely life-like, by being dressed in little-girl smocks, slacks and pinafores that are darling copies of youngsters' own apparel.

Typical is one vivacious young miss with yellow braids, called Clarabelle, who will be a true playmate to the lucky girl who adopts her. She is just one of the many life-size dolls that will take their places in youngsters' hearts come Christmas gift-giving time.

"Me and Mimi" represent all-cloth dolls to be given in sets of two, with "Mimi" the smaller "facsimile" of "Me." This cute twosome is joined by other friends, all with their own miniature companions held lovingly in their arms. To mention a few—there is a heart capturing little piccaninny holding her own likeness, called "Me and My Shadow," and as a variation, a mammy and her baby.

For Patriotic Minded

For the patriotic minded little Miss, there are any number of Victory-working dolls, all dressed up in sailor suits, soldier uniforms and Red Cross nurse outfits. America's fighting heroes are well represented by two smart chaps in service uniforms, one who wears the Navy Blue and the other the Olive Drab of the Army. Uniquely constructed, their arms and legs can be bent into almost any position.

Dressed in colorful red, white and blue, a saucy pair exemplifying an American boy and girl may be bought together or separately; they can be made to stand or sit. And, mention must be made of the "Thumbs Up" doll, pert and welcome as the spirit indicated by its thumbs-up gesture!

Although most of this year's dolls are cloth, many have plastic heads. One newcomer to doll-land, named Plassie, can ingeniously turn her head at various angles as well as from side to side. With her moving expressiveness and soft, stuffed body, she is made to cuddle and love.

Always favorites, baby dolls still have a priority on the affections of little girls, and there are many composition dolls with soft bodies to take the place of former types, whose basic materials have gone to war. Most of these sweet, new baby dolls have sleeping eyes, and long, lovely lashes.

Talkative Youngster

An amusing addition to the doll family selection is the "Poppa-Mamma" doll. A talkative young type, this baby sweetheart says Mamma when laid down and Poppa when picked up. And there is "Sweetie Pie," a great, big, beautiful doll with moving eyes, legs and arms.

Sub-deb dolls lend reality to a little girl's dreams of "how I'll look when I'm grown up." The Little Lady Doll, an entrancing beauty, has a satin smooth complexion, smart, modern hair-do and even tapering, separated fingers which can wear gloves! She can be dressed in sportswear, school-type clothes or for dancing parties in a dream of a formal dress.

Many little girls will like to start their wartime collection of Allied Nation dolls, which come in authentic costumes of their native lands; the start of a childhood interest which may grow into a life-long hobby.

The thoughtful gift-giver will include a change of apparel with the doll chosen to make a little girl happy. As a means of making what one has, to go further and just for fun, old clothes can be cut down into dresses for the dolls that will find themselves 'neath the Christmas tree.

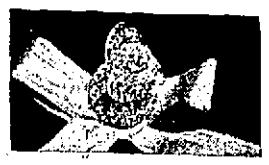

Precious and Rare Are the Fine Gifts You'll Choose Early From Stocks in Jewelry Stores

FINE WATCHES for him and for her are truly rare finds as gifts. These are both by Hamilton.

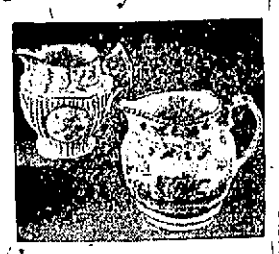

LOVELINESS makes these exquisite Marvella pearls perfect gifts.

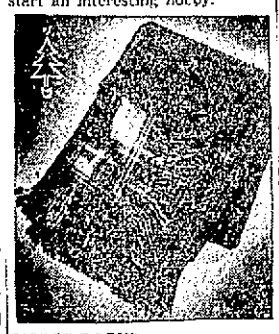

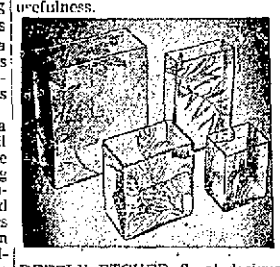

LIKE MILITARY decorations are these jeweled clips and pins for gift giving now.

QUAINTLY DESIGNED milk pitcher and creamer of fine English china. Beautiful enough for "show" pieces—odd enough to start an interesting hobby.

MOTOR ROBES are ever more acceptable gifts this year despite reduction in auto travel, because during this "Save Heat" year, the auxiliary robe will serve a wider usefulness.

DEEPLY ETCHED floral designs by Dorothy Thorpe in lovely rectangular crystal vases; excellent for casual flower arrangements—perfect gifts.

ELECTRIC RAZORS are indeed still on the market and your gift of one will be all the more cherished for the fact that you sought it out.

KITCHEN QUICKIES

A set of Pyrex glass that includes sauce pan and double boiler; deep casserole dish and pie plate will go well under mother's Christmas tree bough. It's a practical gift as well as a patriotic one, for the use of glass allows more metal to go to war, and the glassware can come right to the table.

Make It a Lasting Christmas in Fact as Well as in Memory with Furniture

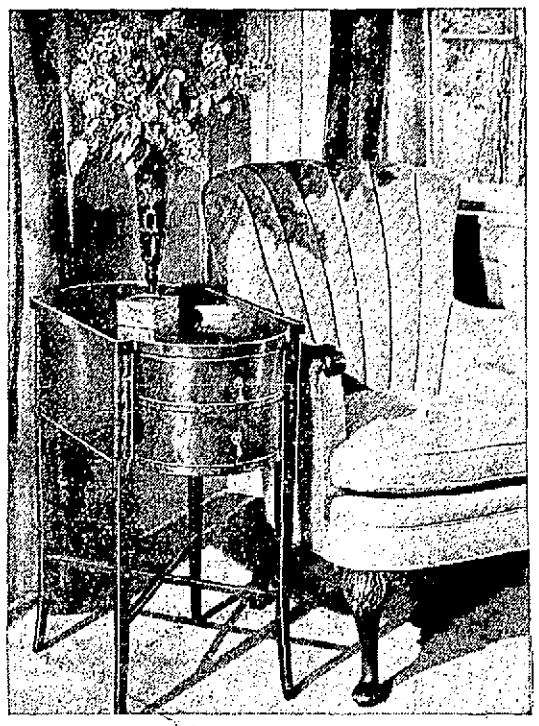

Among These Things for the Home Will Be Found the Essence of Gift Giving, With the Warmth of the Armchair's Embrace

GRANDEST OF GIFTS is a stately breakfront desk which combines utility with dominating decorativeness. This is but one of many models from which to choose.

SMOKE HIM OUT of his sombre attitude by choosing one of the new smoking stands for placing right next to his chair where he can relax. Available to early shoppers in modern or period.

COMFORT CORNER FOR MOTHER OR DAD. The soft, channel back chair will be welcomed by both and it will be a toss-up as to who will enjoy most the drawers of the mahogany table. The two drawers are roomy enough to hold mom's sewing equipment or dad's favorite pipes. In combinations a gift for either—or both.

COLOR THE SCENE

Wallpaper can incorporate every color you have in the room. One dainty bedroom noted has pink curtains, a blue rug and a pink and green plaid chair . . . and the wallpaper used had every one of those colors in it.

Dim-Out Gift

Do Your Christmas Shopping and Mailing Early.

Be Practical in Choosing Gifts

Stores Are Ready for Early Shoppers With Lay-Away Plans

With gifts that have a capacity for making Christmas a lasting event in fact as well as in memory, being so carefully sought out by the really thoughtful gift giver this year, it is no wonder that the greatest trend in Yuletide shopping history is in the direction of furniture and home furnishings.

For among these things will be found not only the gifts that express the essence of Christmas sentiment as in the instance of the comfortable embrace of an arm chair, but also the practical beauty of an admirably selected desk that can land distinction to the room for which it is chosen.

Yes, among these things can be found permanent touches of beauty, like draperies and priority-satisfying lamps of glass and wood, that add color and light to the welcome given off by every living room.

And from among these things can be chosen something that will serve the man—or woman—who has doffed his, or her, civilian clothes for a uniform, the while its presentation tells both, most eloquently, that home will be waiting for their return.

A gift of this type from among the furniture and home furnishings that are on display, is the cedar chest, now no longer reserved for the bride-to-be alone, but equally practical for the male as well. He will find it most useful for storing civvies safely.

The furniture stores of this city aided by the manufacturers, have planned well for Christmas, 1942. They realized that with the energies and resources of the Nation diverted from "living as usual" to "winning the war," the homes for which we are fighting would become more precious.

Thus they are ready in two-fold fashion, this war time Christmas, with an assortment of practical gifts full of Yuletide sentiment of a high order, for every member of the family to enjoy in homes where they will be spending more time than ever before.

Some Selections Limited

The two-fold preparation for Christmas, 1942 arises from the thoughtful selection and stocking of items that may be difficult to find later, plus the ingenuity of the designer in providing new and modern furniture and furnishings that do not conflict with war time needs, the while they strike new notes of utility and fashion beauty for the home. Wonderful things have been done with wood, plastics and glass.

In any event, it is clear that with a wide assortment from which to choose furniture gifts this year, there will be limited selections of irreplaceable items in some instances. This means that the smart and practical Christmas gift shopper who is thinking in terms of the home will do her—or his—shopping early in the furniture stores.

Tomorrow is not too early, because delivery need not be immediate though selection should be.

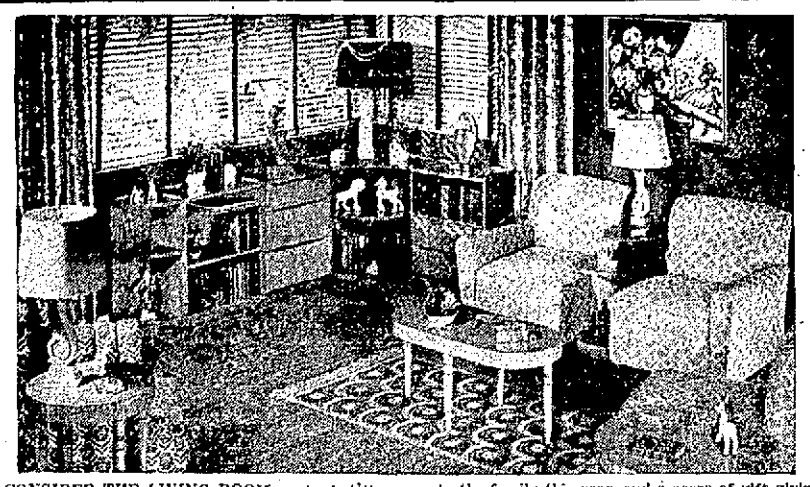

This is where the "lay-away" plan that the stores are making so readily available this year will come to the aid of the Christmas shopper.

The lay-away plan does in fact make possible the more liberal purchase of gifts for use in the home, and also home gifts of the best quality, because it serves to lengthen the time in which the shopper has to pay for what is chosen.

Liberal government approved credit terms are available to furniture gift buyers this Christmas.

Furniture stores are cooperating whole-heartedly in the government's Price Ceilings programs and furniture stores also urging you to "take your change in war savings stamps."

CONSIDER THE LIVING ROOM, and what it means to the family this year, and a score of gift giving ideas will come to mind. Convenience and variety are possible with flexible, modern section bookcases, and sectional sofa chairs. Extra tables, pictures, draperies and bric-a-brac are gifts that dress up a room to perfection. Buy a War Bond for Christmas.

IF IT'S A TOSSUP between a gift table or lamp why not compromise and give both! This Sheraton table is of shining mahogany with a convenient shelf for incidentals; the lovely lamp of gleaming white onyx.

Make a Christmas Gift for Someone

Or Give the Makings to Someone Who is Handy

Hands that get busy quickly, making art needlework gifts, still have time to turn out original, attractive, useful things—inexpensively—in time for Christmas giving.

And those who just "aren't handy" with knitting or crochet needle, embroidery floss, fabric and shears, can at least give the makings of many wearable and home-decorative things to more industrious friends.

With a new crop of bouncing babies to remember this Christmas, gingham bibs appliqued; tiny sacques, gertrudes, bonnets and dresses embroidered in fine stitchery; cross stitch pictures, patchwork crib sets and hooked rugs are just a few useful suggestions.

For older children, pinafores, smocks, stuffed dolls fully dressed, and cute caps made from easy-to-follow patterns are sure to earn hand clasps of thanks. Tots of any age can use sweaters, mittens, snow suits and helmets, knitted or crocheted, to stave off the cold.

The home gets its fair share of things to make—from speedily embroidered, humorosuly patterned guest towels and appliqued luncheon sets to crocheted and starched baskets to ho' bon bons or flower ers.

While the male of the species will be pleased as punch with lined crocheted string gloves, knitted wool hose, muffler or sweater to help him laugh off lowered room temperature this winter

The feminine angle points to quilted velvet berets, bags and mittens easily made according to pattern. Rug yarn, crocheted into jumbo necklace, belt and bracelet is really gay; and every girl wants a box full of crocheted headgear betasseled, pompon, or pigtail trimmed.

Aside from saving money, and in many instances utilizing leftover fabrics and yarns, the gift that's made with the giver's own hands says in the most personal way, "I think enough of you to have devoted precious time to making this gift—which comes to say, "Merry Christmas!"

JUST MADE TO GIVE! To crochet—the fez with tassel trim; or a bon bon dish. To embroider—the baby sacque or Latin Quarter guest towels made from Paragon Patterns. And to sew, with the aid of a Simplicity Pattern, the quilted cotton velvet bag and mittens.

TOPS IN TABLES

There's no more functional gift than that of a table—and the gift giver can do a three-fold turnover by presenting a nest of three tables that fit into one another in a space-saving way. They're excellent for the friend who specializes in supper parties or gin-rummy games.

Here Are a Score and More Clever Christmas Gift Giving Ideas to Help You Fill the Yuletide Season With Cheer for Everyone

Gifts this year are easy to choose because this year more than ever the keynote is "make it something useful." The days of giving useless luxuries are over for the duration and in their place we have a Christmas season that features scores of gifts that are beautiful, useful and just as acceptable as any you have ever chosen.

For men and women at home and for men and women in service you are sure to please when you choose from the "Gifts to use" that are being featured by your merchants this year. They have chosen their stocks with an eye to the usefulness of each and every gift and they have priced them so that you may get something suitable for everyone on your list and still have money left to add a few war stamps to your gift package.

CHILL KILLER SWEATER in wonderfully soft Mirapaca, light as a feather and in smart coat style, for leisure work, to please the most discriminating man. It's a Brentwood.

POWDER PUFF GUARD

A lovely crystal powder jar to grace her dressing table stands out in the ranks of welcome Christmas gifts. One shows a plastic guard in the cover which protects the puff by keeping it out of the powder, to make it last longer and keep fresh and clean.

Do Your Christmas Shopping and Mailing Early.

COLORFUL PAJAMAS in Rayon or Cotton will always be welcomed by the man whose supply is invariably below par, and is replenished by thoughtful givers.

Colorful Things on Clothing Racks Making Santa Claus Pull the Strings for a "Wearable" Children's Christmas

By BETTY GREEN
Fashion Editor, Parents' Magazine

When you see racks and racks of such Christmas confections as crisp organdie pinafores, colorful taffeta party frocks, dainty lingerie, flower strewn quilted cotton robes, you can practically hear the jingle bells, Santa is pulling the strings for a wearable Christmas this year especially where little children are concerned.

Betty Green

You have probably just started to think seriously about your Christmas lists. "Better shop early," you have been warned. "The supply will not meet the demand." Sound advice, we call it, especially if you have some children on that list of yours for whom you are planning to buy Gifts-to-Wear.

The earlier you do your shipping in the infant's and children's department, the fresher and more varied you will find the stocks.

Looking ahead for you we list some of the exciting Christmas wearables that will reward the early shopper.

BABY'S FIRST CHRISTMAS

When you see the assortments of baby dresses you will find the new styles more enchanting than ever. Now that we cannot get all the hand work that used to some from the Philippines, our very own American manufacturers are turning out machine made baby frocks that are as highly styled as your own.

We warn you, don't go near them unless you mean to buy some. They are irresistible.

OF THEE WE SING

Nothing like a pinafore under the tree to brighten a child's Christmas morning especially this year when the designers of toddlers and older girls dresses have done some of their best work with pinafores.

You will find it hard to choose between the sheer ruffly organdies and the saucy glazed chintz's.

COTTON KNITS FOR BOTH

This is the year to be practical in your selection of children's Christmas gifts. That's why we include cotton knit brother and sister suits in our list of recommended gifts.

The children will enjoy wearing them and their mothers will bless you for your good sense, as well as for your good wishes.

And if you ever find yourself really up a tree about what to give little Tommy or Mary, a separate cotton-knit pull-over is a wonderful solution, either in pastels or in Christmas Ball colored stripings.

MILK'S WONDERFUL—INSIDE AND OUT! Sister's robe of rayon satin is quilted over Aralac . . . baby's cotton snow suit (in insert) is interlined with Aralac—the "milk-made" fibre that's so warm indoors and out! Parents Magazine photo.

BEDTIME STORIES

Of course, robes are a natural" for Christmas. Little babies (and their mothers, too) gurgle over warm blanket cloth robes with cuddly appliques; over corduroys and quilts. The sturdy toddler will like a tailored cotton fleece, styled for either a boy or girl. Grown-up and growing-up girls swoon over flowerpatterned cotton quilt robes, either in floor length or the new "shortie" length that helps to conserve fabrics.

This year the newcomer to the robe collections is a flowered challis fabric that contains Aralac, the magical new protein fibre derived from milk casein which has the warmth of wool. Lots of your quilted robes will be quilted over Aralac instead of cotton and that's important in a year when fuel is a questionable commodity.

"Cold hearths, warm hands" is a good adage to remember when you're Christmas shopping. Then you won't forget to gift your favorite child with a cozy robe or cute cotton flannel pajamas.

QUILTING B-EAUTIES

Is there a growing girl or a teen ager on your list? Then make up your mind now to buy her one of the new quilted accessories—such as a waistcoat or hug-me-tight jacket that she will wear instead of sweater or over her skating skirt.

Quilted bonnets, mittens—even quilted skirts are among your best Christmas "finds" for '42. You will particularly like the calico ones.

SCHOOL GIRLS SKIRTS

And they like particularly the skirts that have a novelty appeal such as appliqued felt-flowers or perfectly HUGE pockets that will accommodate their knitting. Many girls have been longing for patch pocket skirts "like all the girls are wearing to school."

Well, what better time for making wishes come true than Christmas. The dirndlish skirts are rated "hep," "smooth," and "super" by the knowing younger crowd.

TEDDY BEAR TEMPTERS

Any girl who hasn't yet received one the new Teddy Bear coats will simply s-woon when she finds one under the tree. To a teen ager this cozy pile fabric is more precious than mink or sable and twice as smart. The shorter jackets are very inexpensive.

P.S. They're cuddly warm, too. And, while we're on the subject of Teddy Bear fashions, what about the shaggy Teddy Bear sweaters that are creating such a campus furore.

HEARTFELT GOOD WISHES

Look for the colorful felt gadgets in the girls' department for an inexpensive gift that will bring a gleam to any child's eyes. For instance, felt mittens and caps, felt shoulder strap bags, felt suspenders, felt beanies and felt flower jewelry, too.

Incidentally, all school girls are mad about any type of gadget jewelry and this year there's plenty of it, styled just for them. If you don't find it in the girls' department, look for it in the main floor jewelry departments.

SNOWSUITS FOR WARMTH

If you are really going to plunge on a Gift-to-Wear for a child, consider the worthy snowsuit a good investment in Christmas cheer, a good protection against Christmas chill. We like the new cotton gabardine or poplin suits, lined with wool or Aralac. Be sure the cotton is processed for water repellency and spot resistance.

This year most of the suits for smaller children are one-piece styles—easy to get into and out of. In all but the tiny sizes you will buy the matching cap separately. Yes, even Santa is subject to government regulations.

Merry Christmas shopping to all. When Santa pulls the strings for a Wearable Christmas, the Children will dance with delight.

Christmas May Not Be Same This Year But Can Be Better

By CLARA S. LITTLEDALE
Editor of Parents' Magazine

This will be a different Christmas. No matter how many of us may wish for Christmas as usual, it can not be the same as in the days before this country had been at war for over a year. Many families will miss sons who are in the armed forces many families will have met bereavement.

Mrs. Littledale

What effect will this changed atmosphere have upon our children? Must world conflict and individual anxiety darken their Christmas day? Or is it possible to insist on "childhood as usual" and to make good such a promise?

The answer must be both yes and no. We can not pretend that all is as it used to be and expect our children to believe it. Though to all outward appearance they are the same happy carefree, noisy youngsters. Those who are closest to them realize that they are affected by the atmosphere about them, that they sense even that which is unspoken.

But this does not mean that girls and boys must be weighed down with the cares and worries of an adult. And it does not mean that the word "merry" can not apply to this Christmas as it has to all the other Christmases that we and our children have celebrated. Soldiers and sailors and airmen of all nations will remember Christmas this year. Wherever they are, the old, old greeting, "Merry Christmas" will be found on their lips.

This year families will feel more deeply than ever before that Christmas is a home day, and that the giving of gifts symbolizes the love which they feel toward each other and toward friends. Presents may be simpler and more practical and that is desirable. In many a stocking and on many a tree war bonds and war savings stamps will be valued gifts. Christmas dinner may be less elaborate than it was in other years, but it will be festive. In many homes it will be necessary for every one to lend a helping hand with the work involved.

Because people are seeking entertainment at home this year, new games and pastimes are appearing on the market and these will help make Christmas merry with children and grown-ups playing together.

There will be toys this year in abundance, but different toys made of different materials, a tribute to the American toymaker's ingenuity and his understanding of what delights children. And there will be music to help make Christmas merry.

We are fast becoming a musical nation and victrola and radio are bringing the best of music into our homes and helping to create musicians. Happy the family who has always had the custom or who starts the custom this year of singing together on Christmas Day—and other days.

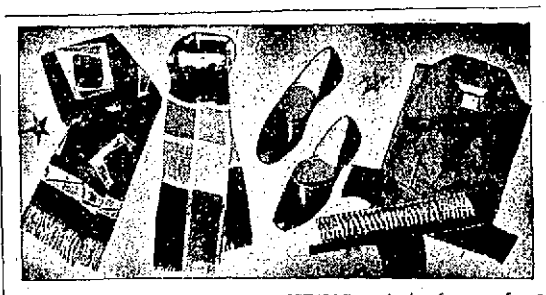

Yes, Christmas will be a different Christmas this year, but there's every reason to believe that it can be a better Christmas for all of us.

Use 'Service-Ability' as Yardstick in Choosing Gifts To Give Male This Year.....

HOW TO GIVE an overcoat? It's simple. So long as you know his size. Choose for warmth and quality, and have it packed in a gift box, tied with ribbon.

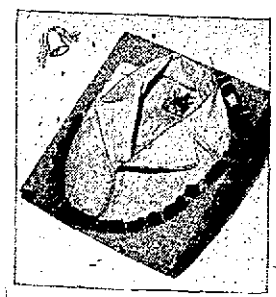

TOILETRY KIT for men who get about—including the boys in the service—has shaving cream, talc and lotion, all in a waterproof case that becomes a utility bag. Designed by Coty.

GIVE HIM RELAXATION this Christmas by choosing the wearables that will make him comfortable at home. A trim fitting flannel robe of napthalated wool, or a dressier one of rayon, and add a pair of comfortable shoes, warmly lined. Carry your share this Christmas.

PIPE AND POUCH should be combined as one gift for a He man and should be accompanied by a pound of his favorite blend. The tobacconist will help you select the right combination.

LIGHT WEIGHT JACKET of weatherproof fabric and zippered to fit tight in the storm—here's a gift every man wants for sports or work. It's appropriately called Bantamac.

SPORTSMEN'S DELIGHT—a Decoy set of masculine bath soap, perched on a bath brush and smartly boxed Gift for that outdoor man who "has everything."

"IN THE ARMY" NOW!

BRING YOUR OWN

Invitations to "at homes" will be carrying the above message, so something has to be done about the sugar problem. An attractive saddle leather case in any one of many colors, contains a small jar which holds anywhere from a three to six-teaspoon "ration" capacity, and is appropriately named the "Sugar Toter."

GLASS BLOCKS

Glass block vases are just "ultra" for that smart additional touch to a room. They can be used as aquaria, flower-holders and bookends—look simply beautiful when filled with a harmonious assortment of flowers, and are very practical because their weight makes them hard to tip over.

Make a Christmas Gift for Someone

Or Give the Makings to Someone Who is Handy

Hands that get busy quickly, making art needlework gifts, still have time to turn out original, attractive, useful things—inexpensively—in time for Christmas giving.

And those who just "aren't handy" with knitting or crochet needle, embroidery floss, fabric and shears, can at least give the makings of many wearable and home-decorative things to more industrious friends.

With a new crop of bouncing babies to remember this Christmas, gingham bibs appliqued; tiny sacques, gertrudes, bonnets and dresses embroidered in fine stitchery; cross stitch pictures, patchwork crib sets and hooked rugs are just a few useful suggestions.

For older children, pinafores, smocks, stuffed dolls fully dressed, and cute caps made from easy-to-follow patterns are sure to earn hand clasps of thanks. Tots of any age can use sweaters, mittens, snow suits and helmets, knitted or crocheted, to stave off the cold.

The home gets its fair share of things to make—from speedily embroidered, humorously patterned guest towels and appliqued luncheon sets to crocheted and starched baskets to hold bon bons or flowers.

While the male of the species will be pleased as punch with lined crocheted string gloves, knitted wool hose, muffler or sweater to help him laugh off lowered room temperature this winter

The feminine angle points to quilted velvet berets, bags and mittens easily made according to pattern. Rug yarn, crocheted into jumbo necklace, belt and bracelet is really gay; and every girl wants a box full of crocheted headgear betasseled, pompon, or pigtail trimmed.

Aside from saving money, and in many instances utilizing leftover fabrics and yarns, the gift that's made with the giver's own hands says in the most personal way, "I think enough of you to have devoted precious time to making this gift—which comes to say, "Merry Christmas!"

JUST MADE TO GIVE! To crochet—the fez with tassel trim; or a bon bon dish. To embroider—the baby sacque or Latin Quarter guest towels made from Futagon Patterns. And to sew, with the aid of a Simplicity Pattern, the quilted cotton velvet bag and mittens.

TOPS IN TABLES

There's no more functional gift than that of a table—and the gift giver can do a three-fold turnover by presenting a nest of three tables that fit into one another in a space-saving way. They're excellent for the friend who specializes in supper parties or gin-rummy games.
